Chuck Bates

Chuck, I just met you this year and I think you're great. You've got a real cool personality.
You're cute, too. Best of luck always,
Paul

Chuck, I've had a kid who has had his times with some not too pleasing girls deep playing the penis who knows maybe your lubb will change

Chuck,
Good luck to you always, man.
You're a good kid and an intramural basketball star. Better luck at the races.

Silhouetted against the sky is an edifice of steel and brick and glass.
 Walls hidden by shelves
 enclose within the library volumes of knowledge.
 Halls stand ready to guide the seeker
 to the doors of wisdom.
 This building was constructed for the education of youth.

Silent halls echo footsteps, conversation, and laughter as students flood the building. Teachers and pupils bring life to the classrooms with lectures and questions. Pages rustle quietly as students study for academic classes. Bouncing basketballs and clanging weights add to the familiar clamor of the gym. Another day brings another lunch period with the smell of food and students hurriedly eating and talking.

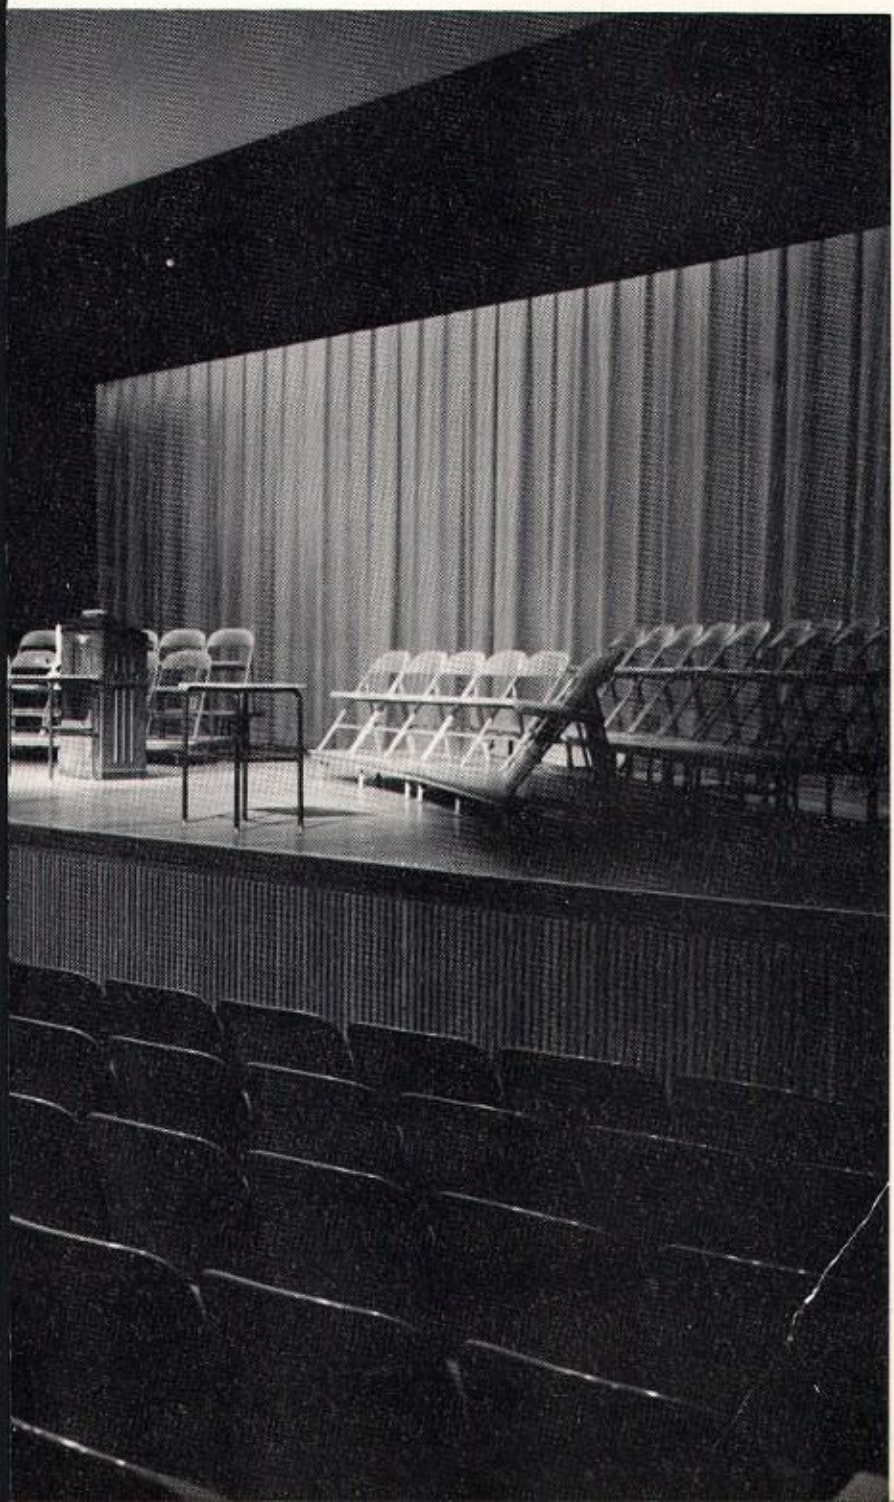

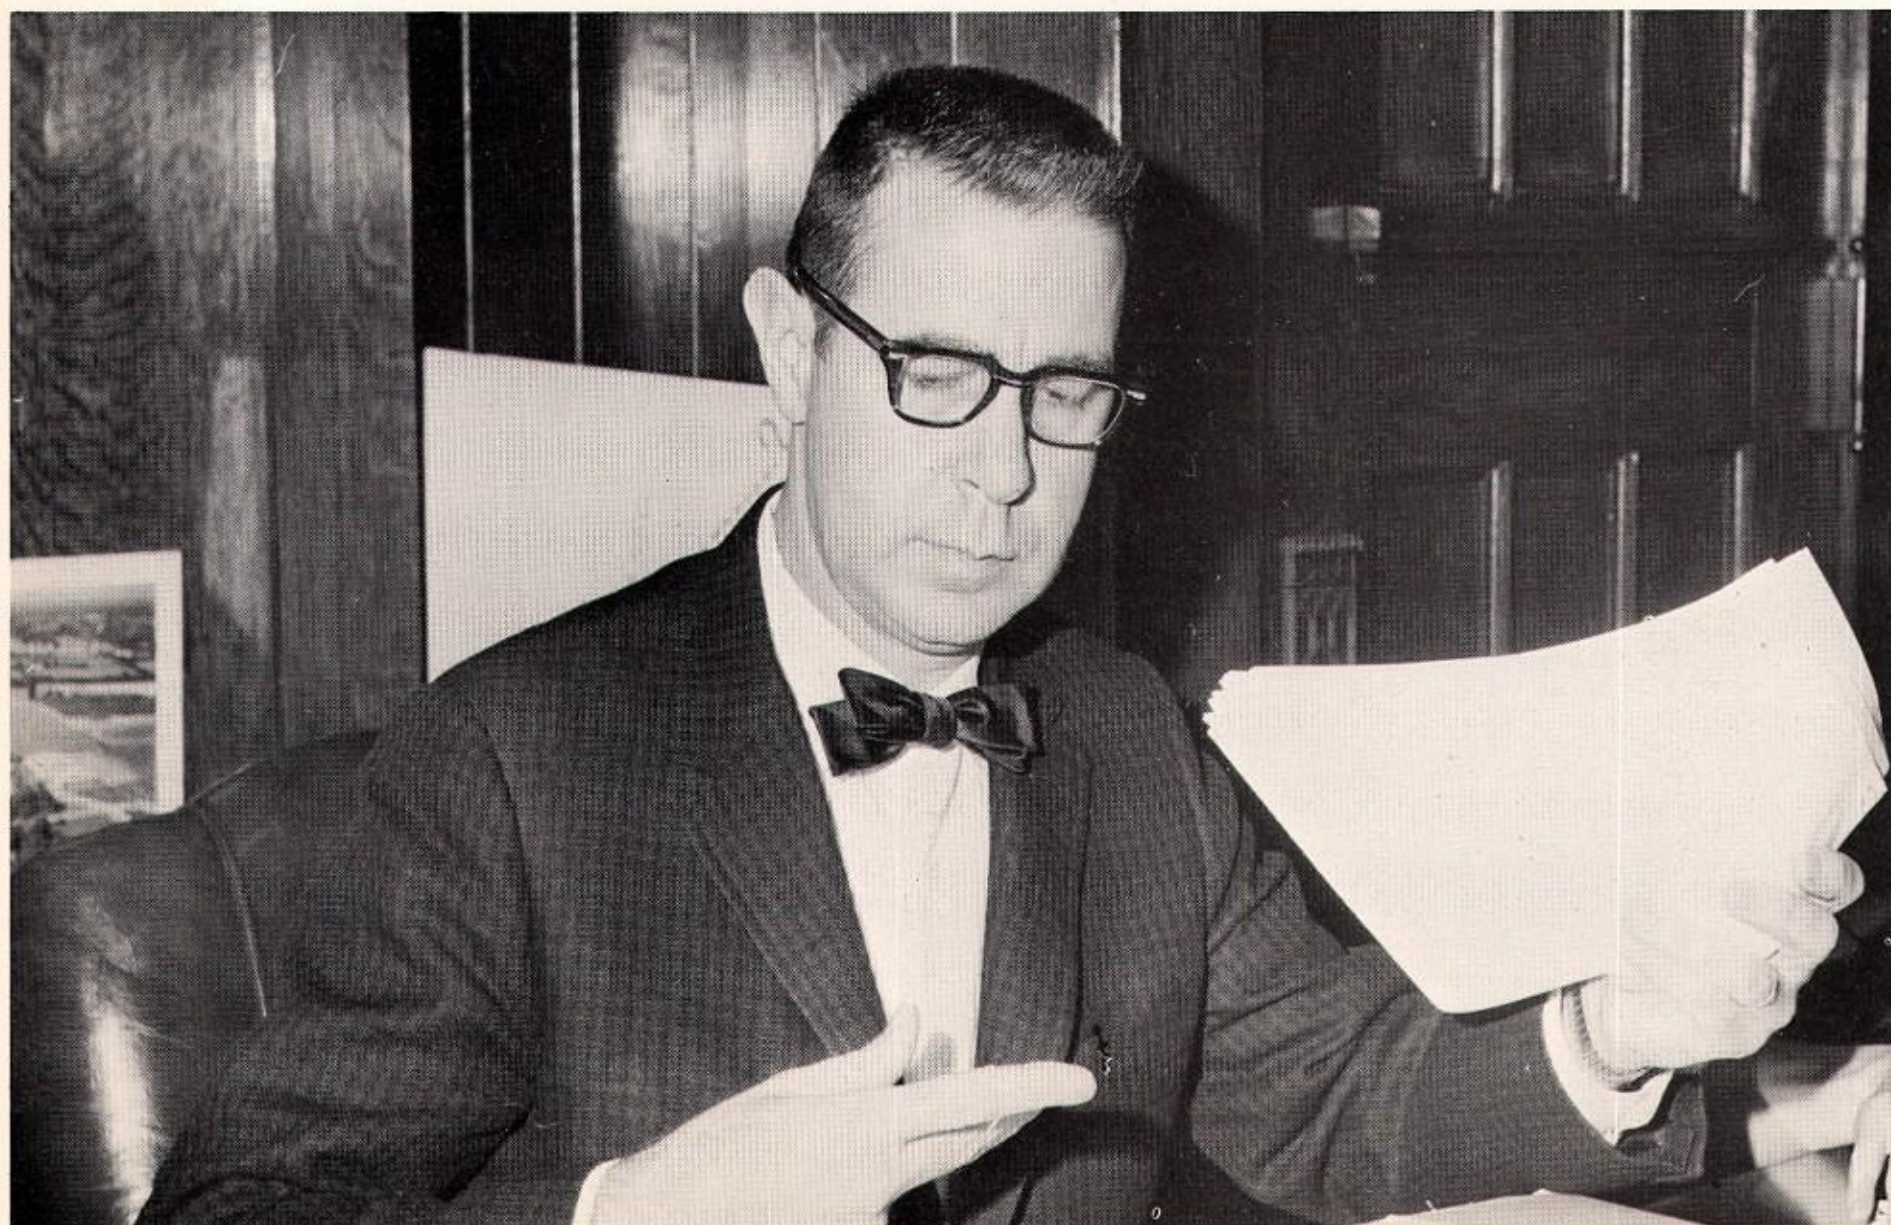

Responsibility is the corner stone of the school system. In a cooperative effort, Joliet West helps to build the community while the community supports the school. Joliet West prepares students in mind and body for citizenship in this growing world. Standard academic courses offered at West plus programs of a vocational nature contribute to this preparation. Every phase of education is designed to prepare adults for industry, agriculture, and business.

Saint Joseph's Hospital represents the advanced technology and facilities available to the community. Many girls gained valuable knowledge as candy strippers assisting the medical work. Marble columns of the Rialto Theatre symbolize in splendor the dramatic arts in Joliet. West's contest play, Cyrano de Bergerac, provided students with opportunities to appreciate and participate in drama. "Music for Modern Americans" presented by the Spurrflows, brought to West a wide variety of superior musical talent. Student musicians profited while under the leadership of music directors in rehearsals and concerts.

Curtailment of many after school activities became a part of student life as the school year began. After three previous defeats, the voters approved an educational tax rate increase on December 10. Dr. DeWitt, speaking for the board, expressed their desire to begin reinstating activities as soon as feasible. Two events occurred in January to add to the history of District 204. Never before had the teachers been on strike, nor had the school doors been closed because of snow. 1966-67 was a unique year.

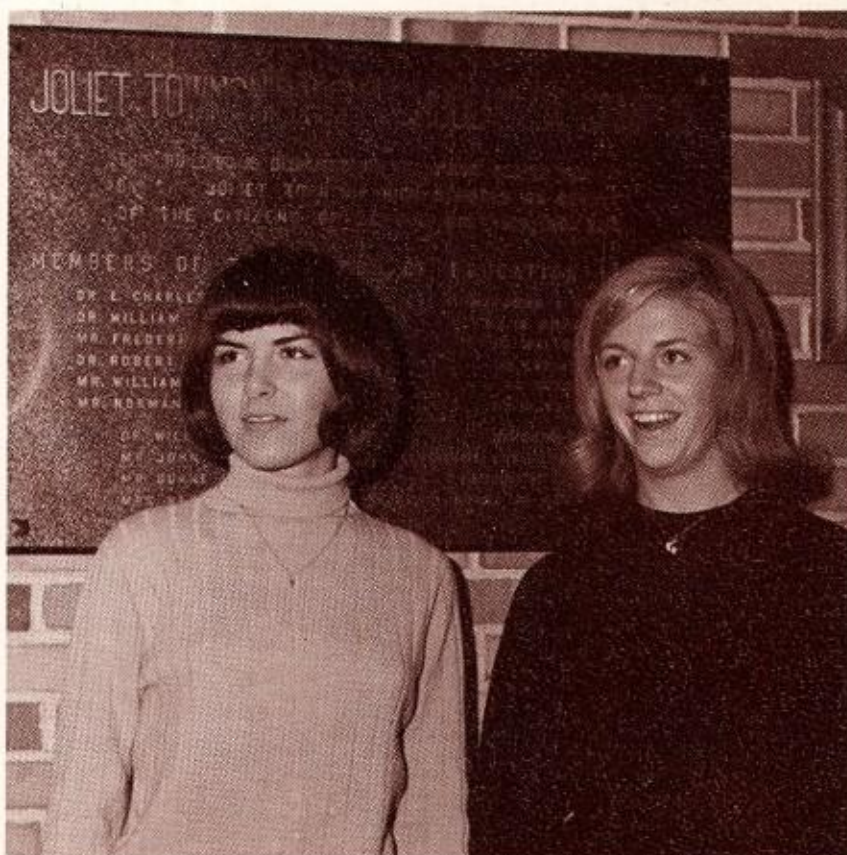

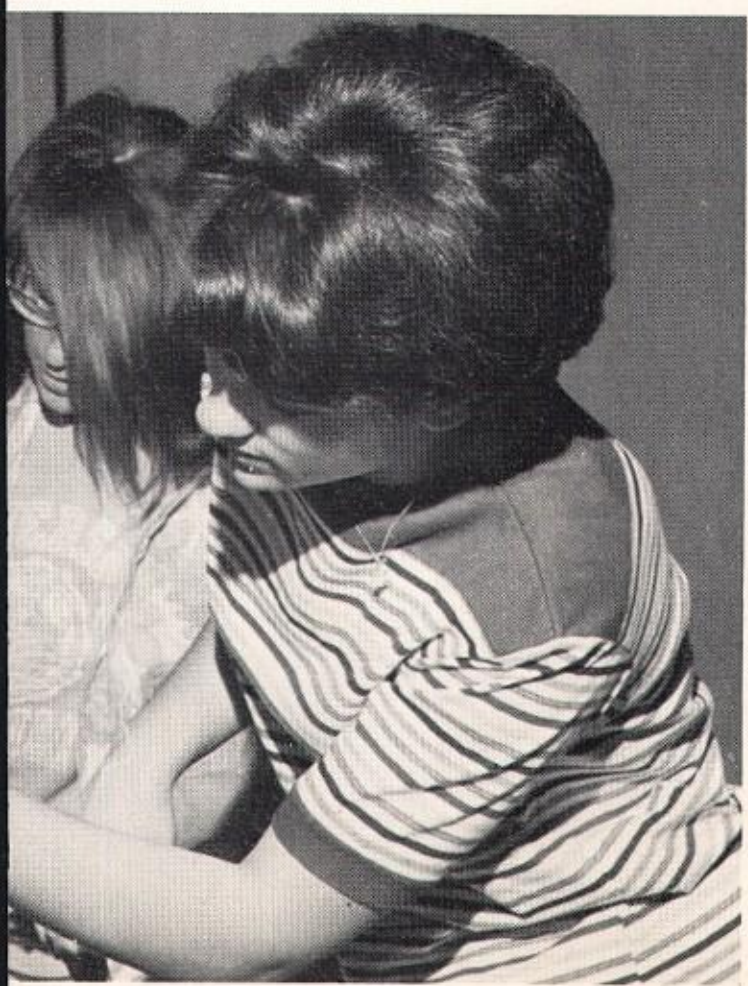

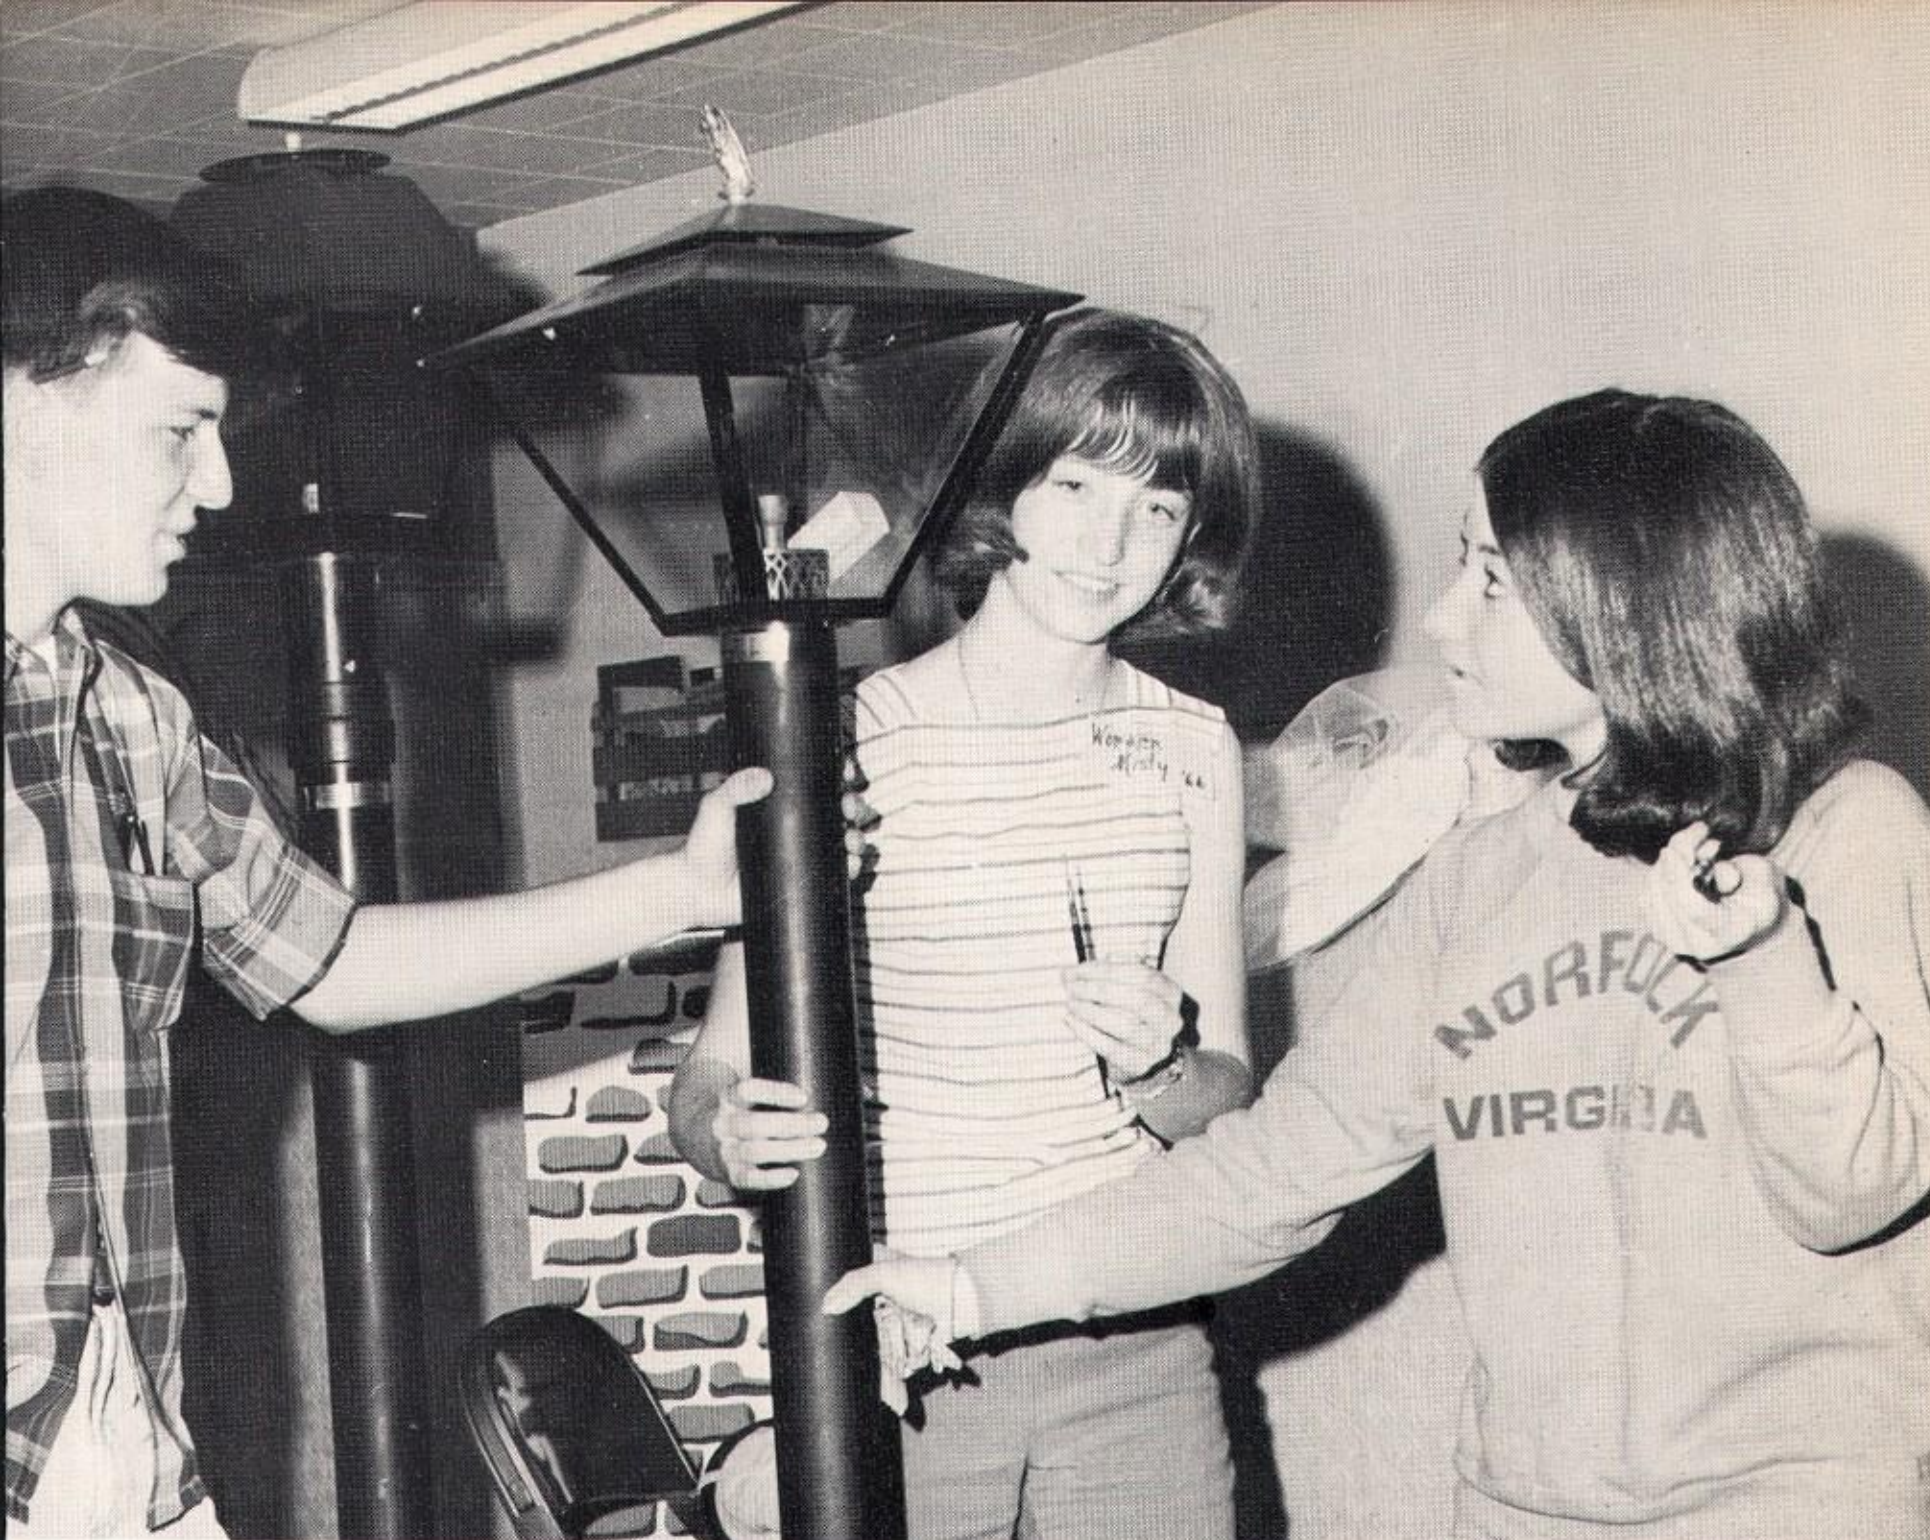

St. Raymond's Cathedral, with its fine architecture and towering steeple, exemplifies the religious life of the Joliet area. Stores and offices in the downtown area symbolize the city's business activity. In contrast to the past, the newly constructed Municipal Building represents the planning of today for the city of the future. Joliet's advancement tomorrow rests on the education of the youth of today. This is the responsibility and purpose of Joliet West.

Circus Spotlight Focuses on Personalities

Mike Cookas and Ann Calosio were chosen by the student body to reign as king and queen of "Under the Big Top", homecoming of 1966. Both Mike and Ann were sponsored by the Lettermen's Club. Mike was the first football player ever to be chosen king at West.

Homecoming week found students casting pennies for the Bozo of their choice in the cafeteria during lunch hours. At the end of the week, after pennies had been tallied, Sid Florey was announced Bozo. Riding his tricycle to the center of the gym at the Friday assembly, Sid received a sucker and cape. Profits made by the Bozo election were donated to the Junior Class.

Sid Florey played his role as Bozo adding much to the circus mood.

Against the background of the Rialto theater, the 1966 homecoming royalty are: Sophomore Court, Connie Akin; Senior Court, Tana Petrich;

Circus Mood Unfolds a Week of Activities

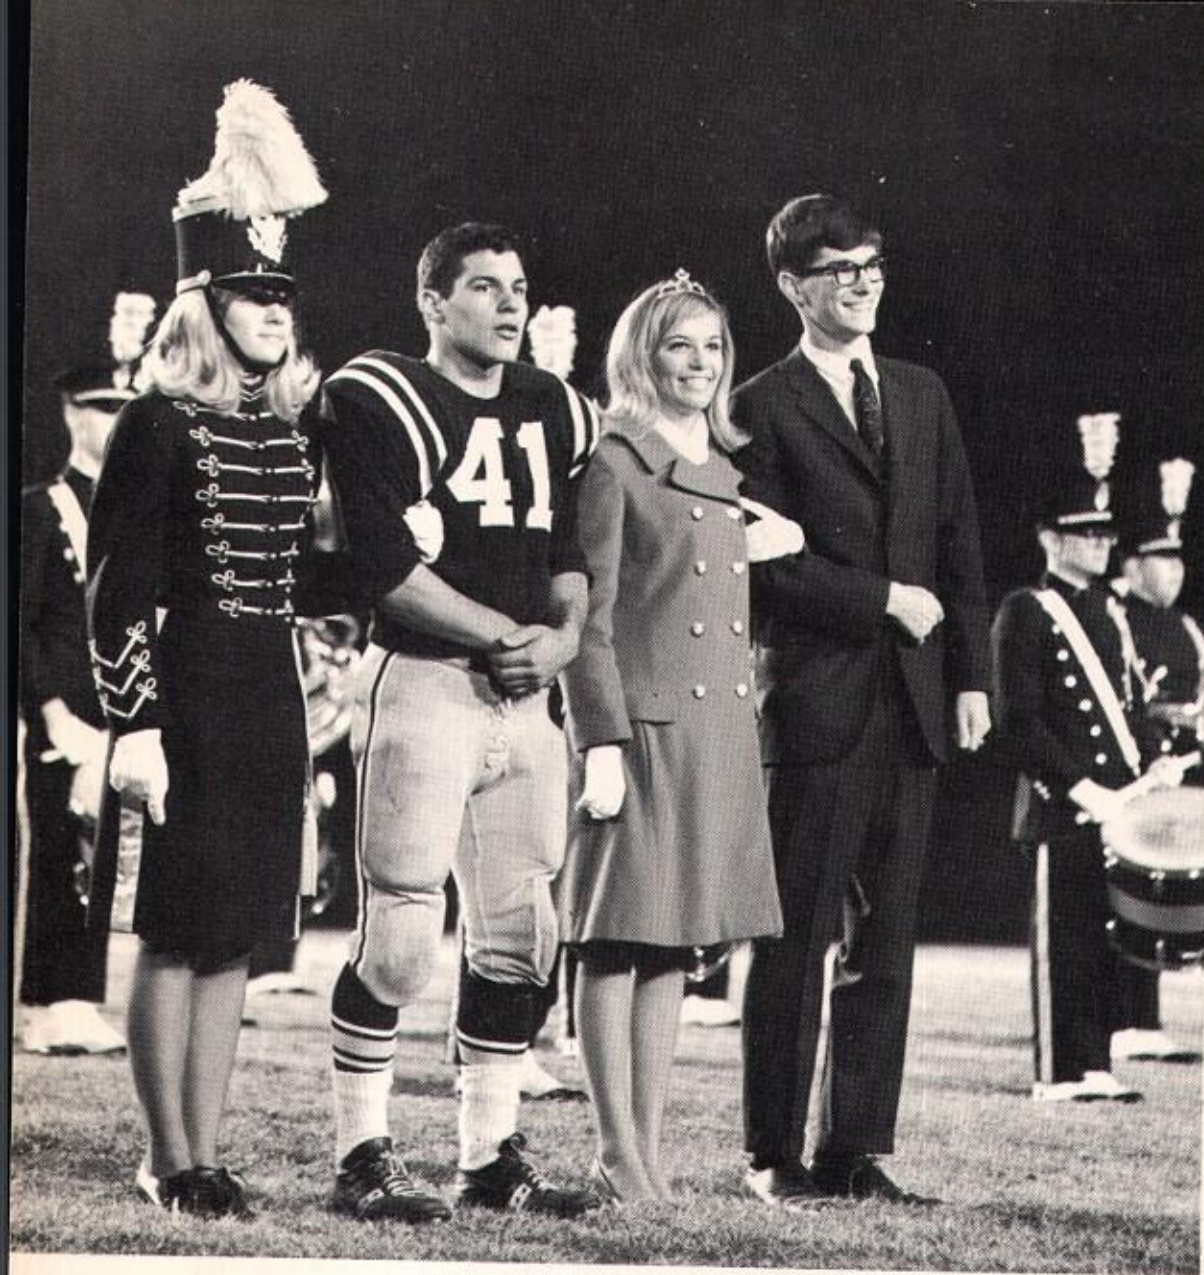

Signaling the start of Homecoming festivities was the pep assembly held Monday in the gym. Candidates for court were announced.

Halls were packed four deep with students watching the pageantry of colored cages and wagons during the parade Tuesday as the procession marched in time to the bands' beating drums.

Students voiced their choices for Homecoming candidates when voting took place Wednesday in homerooms.

Dancing began in the gym as everyone was dismissed from school early on Thursday. Many students attended the after-school homecoming dance from three to five o'clock.

Final activity for the week was the pep assembly on Friday. Skits were given and then, during the final moments, there was an aura of suspense in the gym as the royalty was proclaimed.

King Mike Cookas and Queen Ann Calosio reigned at halftime ceremonies.

Roy Griparis starts a bowling date by giving some tips to his date, Mary Smith.

Students Show Interest in Outside Activities

Many students pondered thoughts of outside activities as they realized that their high school activities would be somewhat curtailed. Basketball and football games still set the scene for many weekend dates, but for after-game activities and nights on which there were no games, students turned to outside sources.

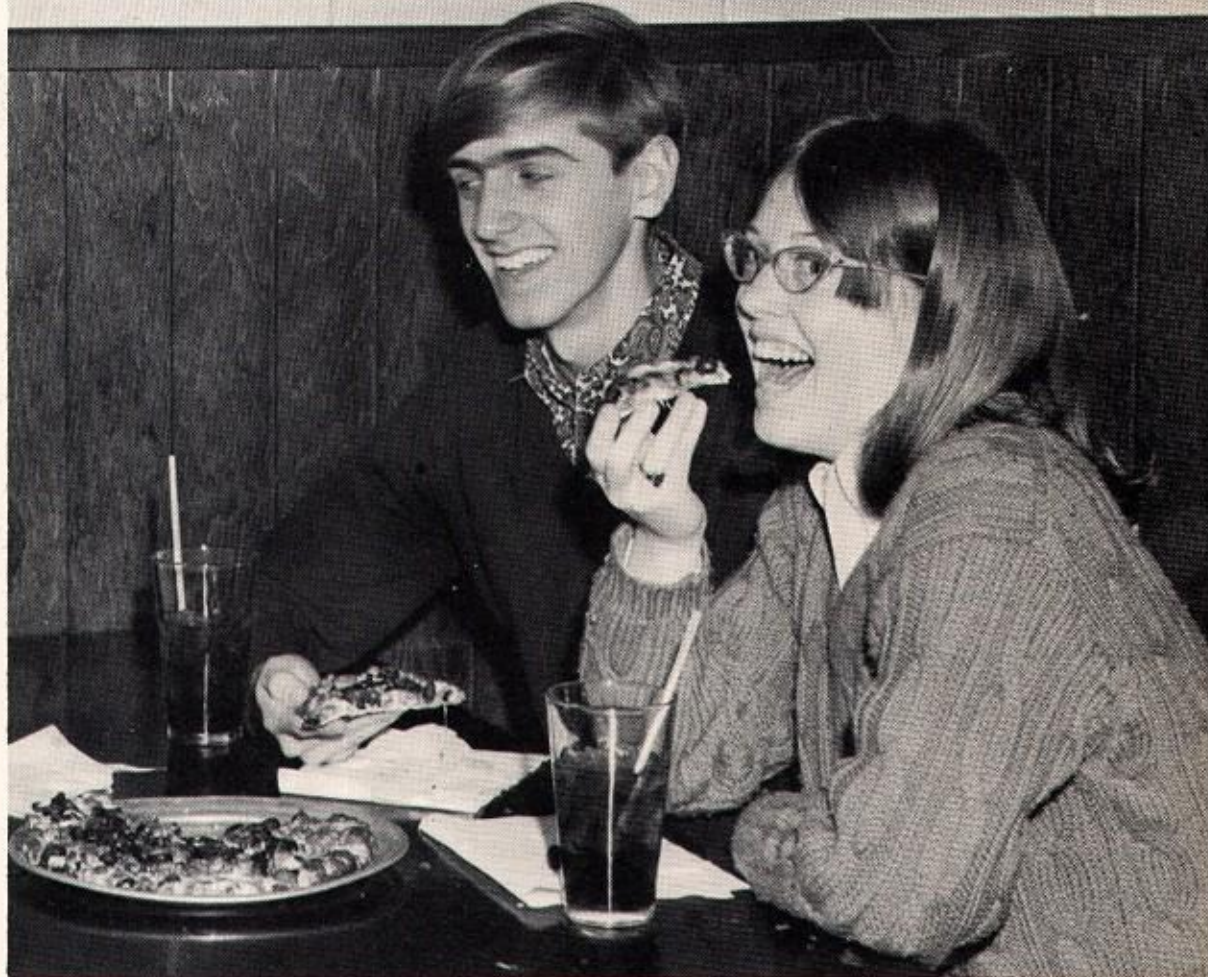

After a date or game, most students frequented one of the popular eating places. Student favorites seemed to triangle around the Whopper, the Red Barn, and the Dog N' Suds.

Pizza lovers often found their way to Shakey's, one of Joliet's west side pizza parlors. Shakey's offered a friendly atmosphere with its lively music and congenial mood.

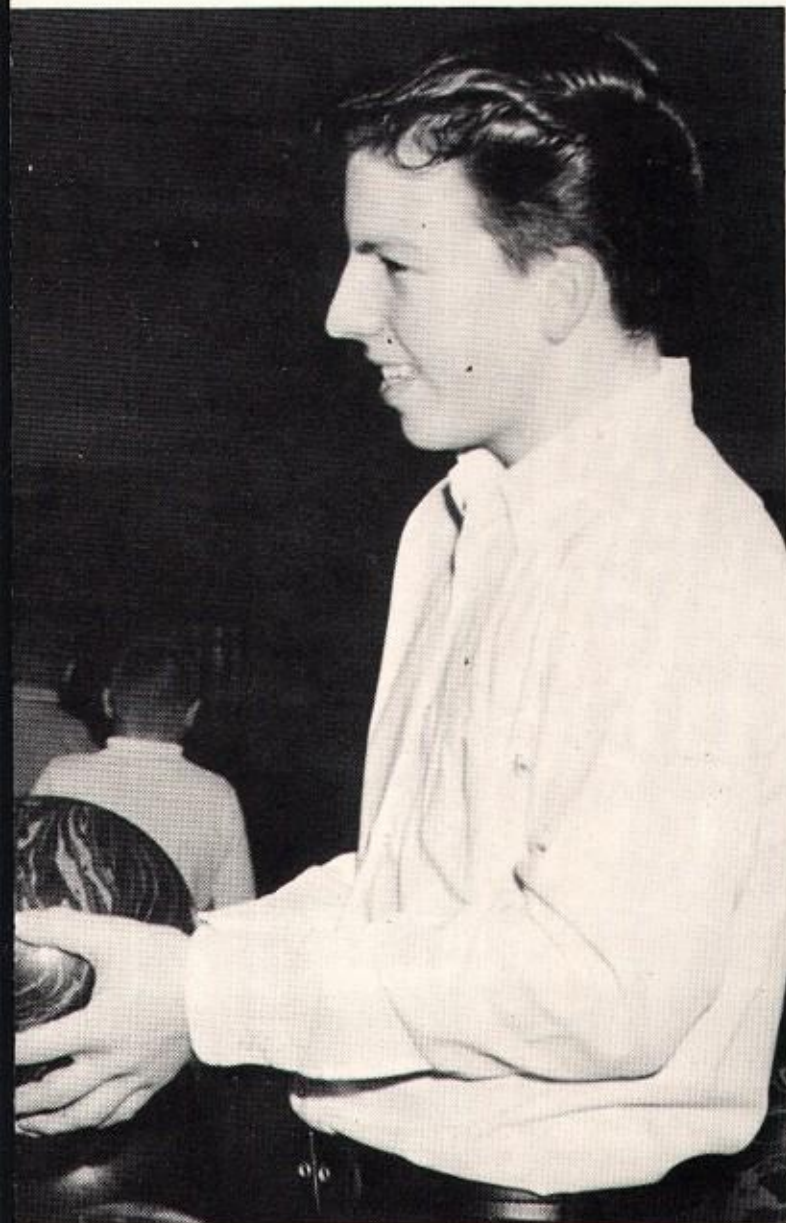

Boys and girls alike found enjoyment in an evening of bowling. Whether on a date or in groups, bowling provided recreation and a chance for competition among the couples.

Popping corn was a way of beginning a quiet evening at home. Later in the evening couples could watch television or listen to albums.

Assemblies Fired Students' Spirit

Spirit soared high in the gymnasium during pep assemblies. Homecoming week brought students together to meet court candidates and later, highlighting the week, to announce king, queen, and court.

Special entertainment assemblies were held in the auditorium. At other assemblies, cheerleaders led students in spirit contests between their own individual classes. Judging the contest was the famous Hopkins Tiger Meter. Afterwards, the Pep Club often entertained the students with a skit. Pep Club members also planned and participated in the Lockport West exchange assembly.

Cyrano de Bergerac Presented as Contest Play

One of the major projects of Speech Activities Club was the contest play, Cyrano de Bergerac. Under the direction of Miss Dryden, rehearsals were held almost every night.

Special attention and extra work were involved on the costuming of that period. Much lace was used in costumes. Also, fencing lessons were needed for Cyrano and his rival.

From all of their work, cast members were somewhat disappointed when they received fifth place at district competition. Taking leading roles were Jim Nichols as Cyrano de Bergerac, Dawn Sherman as Roxanne, and Dave Miller as Christian. After the performance a party was given for cast members and others who worked on the crew.

Before the performance, Miss Dryden puts finishing touches on Holly Canaday's costume.

Roxanne, played by Dawn Sherman, expressed her love for Christian.

Honey Bun Stops Show

Among the highlights of the musical, South Pacific, was the Honey Bun number. Dave Albue, portraying zany Luthur Billis, stole the show with a belly dance which set his tattooed ship in motion. Other features, which set a romantic mood, were the songs Some Enchanted Evening, Bali Ha'i, and Younger Than Springtime.

Backstage on the last night of the performance there was a feeling of satisfaction of a job well done. Cast members with leading roles received bouquets of roses during numerous curtain calls. Signifying the end of hard work but also much enjoyment, the cast members celebrated at their traditional cast party.

As the curtain opened, Emile de Becque's children danced while blue lights softly shone through the scrim, a transparent curtain.

"South Pacific" Presented to SRO Audience

Tension mounted behind the curtain on opening night while the lights were dimmed and the overture began in the orchestra pit. After ten weeks of hard work and practice, the last two nights of South Pacific were played to a full house—standing room only.

Under the direction of Mr. Roy Johnson, A Cappella choir presented Rogers and Hammerstein's successful Broadway musical, South Pacific. Each member of the choir gave an audition consisting of a pantomime, a reading, and a song. Characters were then chosen according to each member's particular talent and personality. Featured in leading roles were Ellen Landman as Ensign Nellie Forbush, and Chuck Marting as the French planter, Emile de Becque.

Sailor Keith Mann enjoys a short dance with Lindsay Powell, the lively Bloody Mary.

Crowd awaits opening of curtain for the modern dance program.

Among solo attractions was Naomi Hershmann of Treble Choir who sang "Sentimental Journey" in the Midwinter Choral Concert.

Final number in the Modern Dance program was "All Movement Initiates From." Costumes were black leotards with black and white mod belts and glasses.

Lights were dimmed as Mr. Roy Johnson directed A Cappella Choir in Haydn's glorious arrangement.

Loine Riggs and Amber Babcock, members of Madrigals, were among soloists.

Winter Entertainment in Fine Arts

During winter months, the Fine Arts Departments worked and practiced for their individual performances.

Under Mr. Roy Johnson's direction, the A Cappella Choir presented Haydn's "Mass in Time of War," a forty-five minute oratorio. Full orchestra accompanied the choir, besides presenting portions from "Hansel and Gretel."

Later in the winter, Freshman Girls' Chorus, Treble Choir, and Boys' Glee Club presented the Midwinter Choral Concert. Many student soloists were featured.

Other winter entertainment was the Modern Dance program presented by the New Modern Dance Club. Mrs. Atterberry gave much of her time to girls interested in dance and movement.

Barb Myers Crowned Ideal Senior Girl

On December 21, 1966, Barb Myers was bestowed the title of Miss Alpha Omega, the ideal senior girl. She has participated in cheerleading and has been active in A Cappella Choir. Barb was also Senior Editor of the yearbook, a time consuming and important position.

Weeks before the "Christmas Coronation," candidates were judged on poise, personality, appearance, service to school, and academic achievement. Festivities were held in the auditorium after school with entertainment provided by the Stage Band and Madrigals. Bruce Fritz served as Master of Ceremonies and even doubled as prompter when the fanfare was forgotten. Dave Humphreys, Editor-in-Chief, had the honor of crowning the new Miss Alpha Omega.

Speech Club Gives Glimpse of Country Life

After eight weeks of preparation, the cast of the play, The Egg and I, was eager for the first performance. Presented March 18 and 19, the play went smoothly with the exception of a few unexpected incidents.

At the first dress rehearsal, the cast anxiously put on the finishing touches in the absence of the director, Mr. Burke, who was ill. Nevertheless, life went on as usual on the McDonald chicken farm. Kathy Bailies added an extra bit of humor when she accidentally fell while going to answer the door. These incidents were only a part of the rural visits to the McDonald farm.

With the Fulfillment of Junior Planning Comes Misty

One could almost hear the chimes of Big Ben as the wharves of Old London set the scene for Misty. Announcements of couples arriving at the dance were formally made and colored pictures were taken under street lamps. Roy Gordan's orchestra played the theme song Misty signifying the beginning of prom festivities.

Although complications with the fog machine which was rushed in from Chicago arose, glowing lights and a lively English atmosphere created a friendly mood in "Ye Old Pub."

Romantic mood of Misty captures Bob Johnson and Nancy Meyer.

Tom Temple and Paula Burget were formally announced by Bob Boettcher.

West's Tigers Reign Over Sister Schools

"A team with character comes back after losing a game and wins the next one," Coach Klootwyk said at Monday's practice after West's first conference loss against Argo. West came back to shut out two teams in a row, beating Kankakee East twenty-five to nothing and Lockport West twenty to nothing. Then the Tigers went on to post a four-five season and four-three conference record.

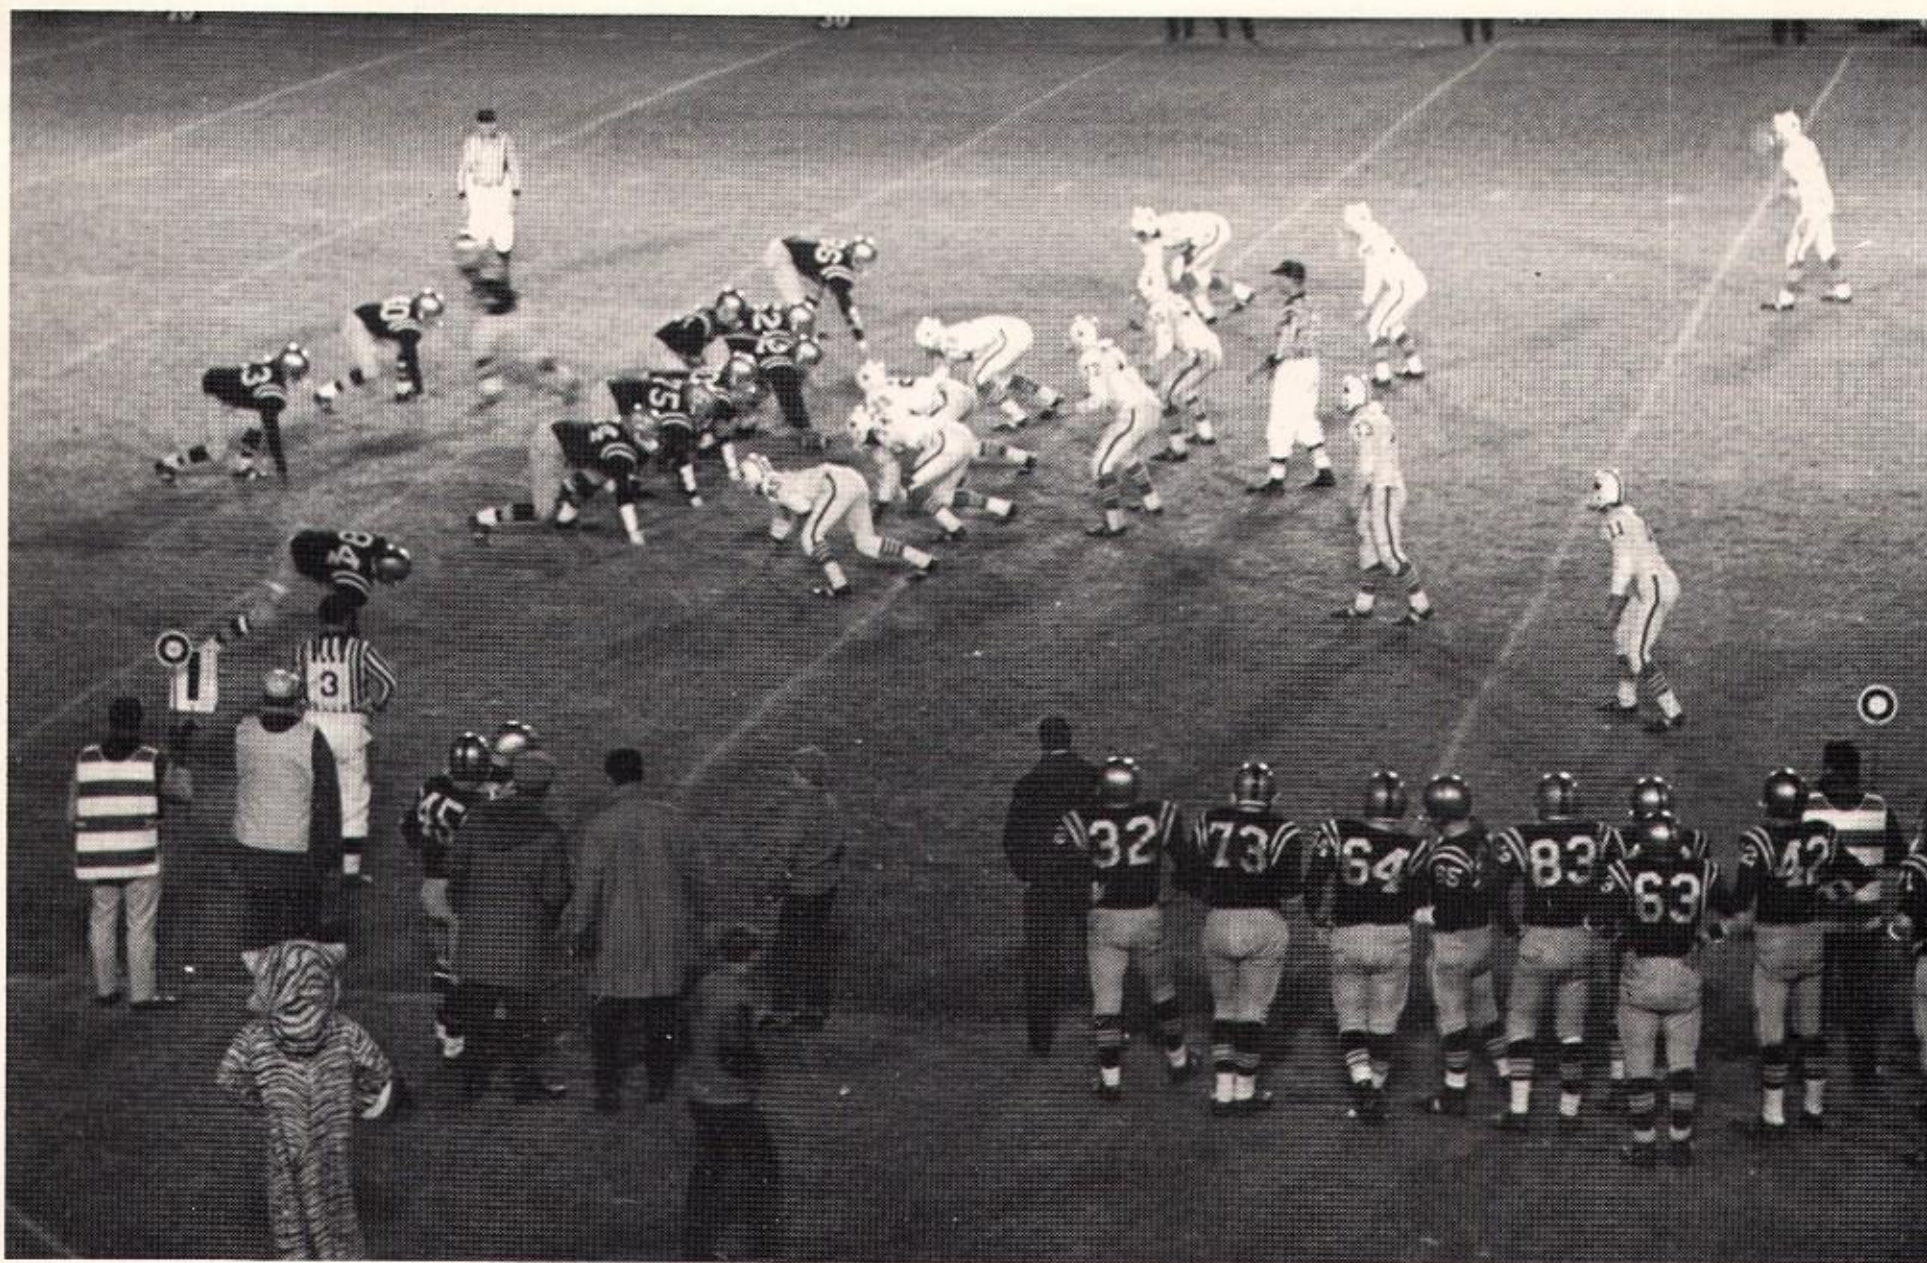

West's season was highlighted by the trouncing the Tigers gave Joliet East and Joliet Central in two successive weeks, forty-five to thirteen and thirty-three to thirteen.

Title Hopes Still Burn At West's Homecoming

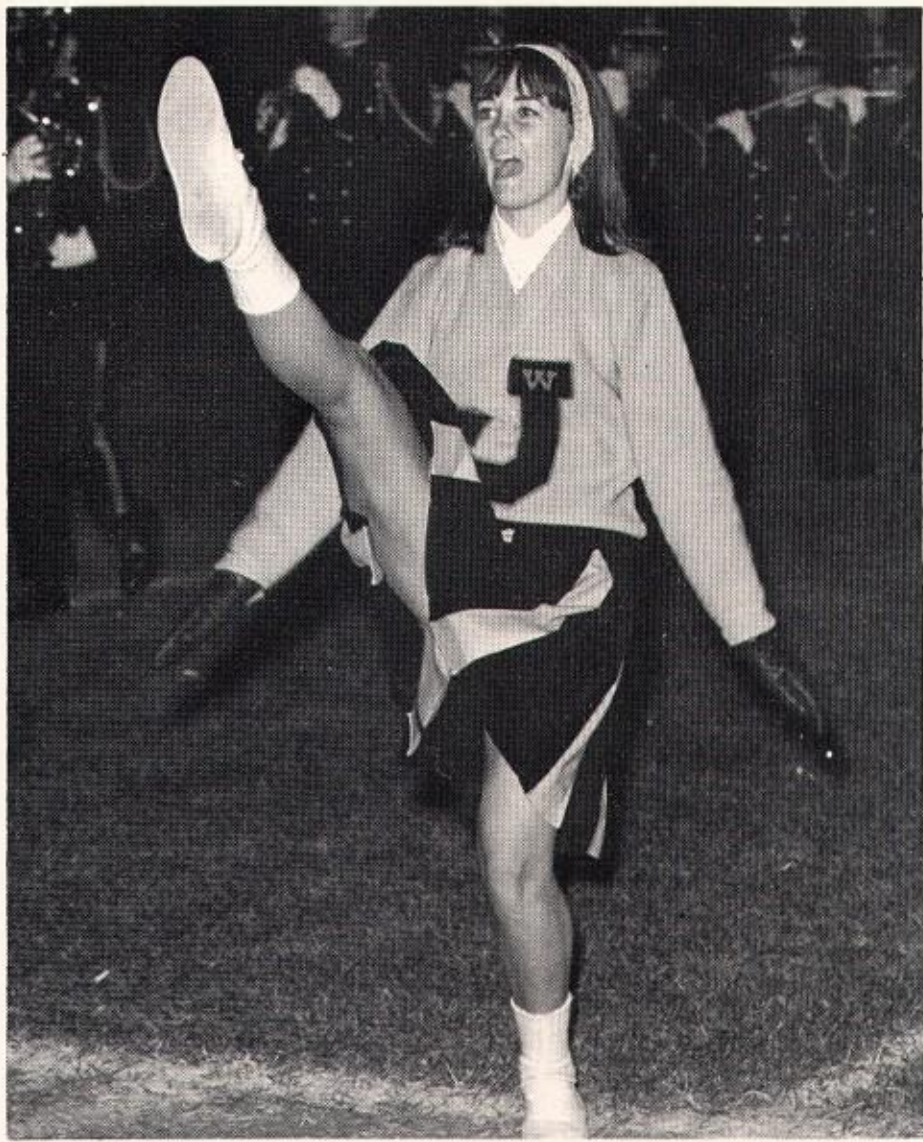

"Title Hopes Still Burn", read the Joliet Herald-News. Wins in four of West's last five games was the reason behind the headlines. With homecoming week at West the football team was tied for second and had a chance for the first place trophy. Only two games to win, and West could capture the first Illini 8 championship.

Despite a cold wind, West's student body came out in mass to see the first varsity football team with a winning conference record. Finding a seat at the homecoming game was hard because the capacity crowd didn't leave an empty seat in the stands.

In two hours of tough crunching football the Kankakee Kayhawks defeated the Tigers nineteen to thirteen, disappointing the homecoming crowd. Nevertheless, the team finished with its first winning conference season with a four-three slate.

Sophs Have Balance

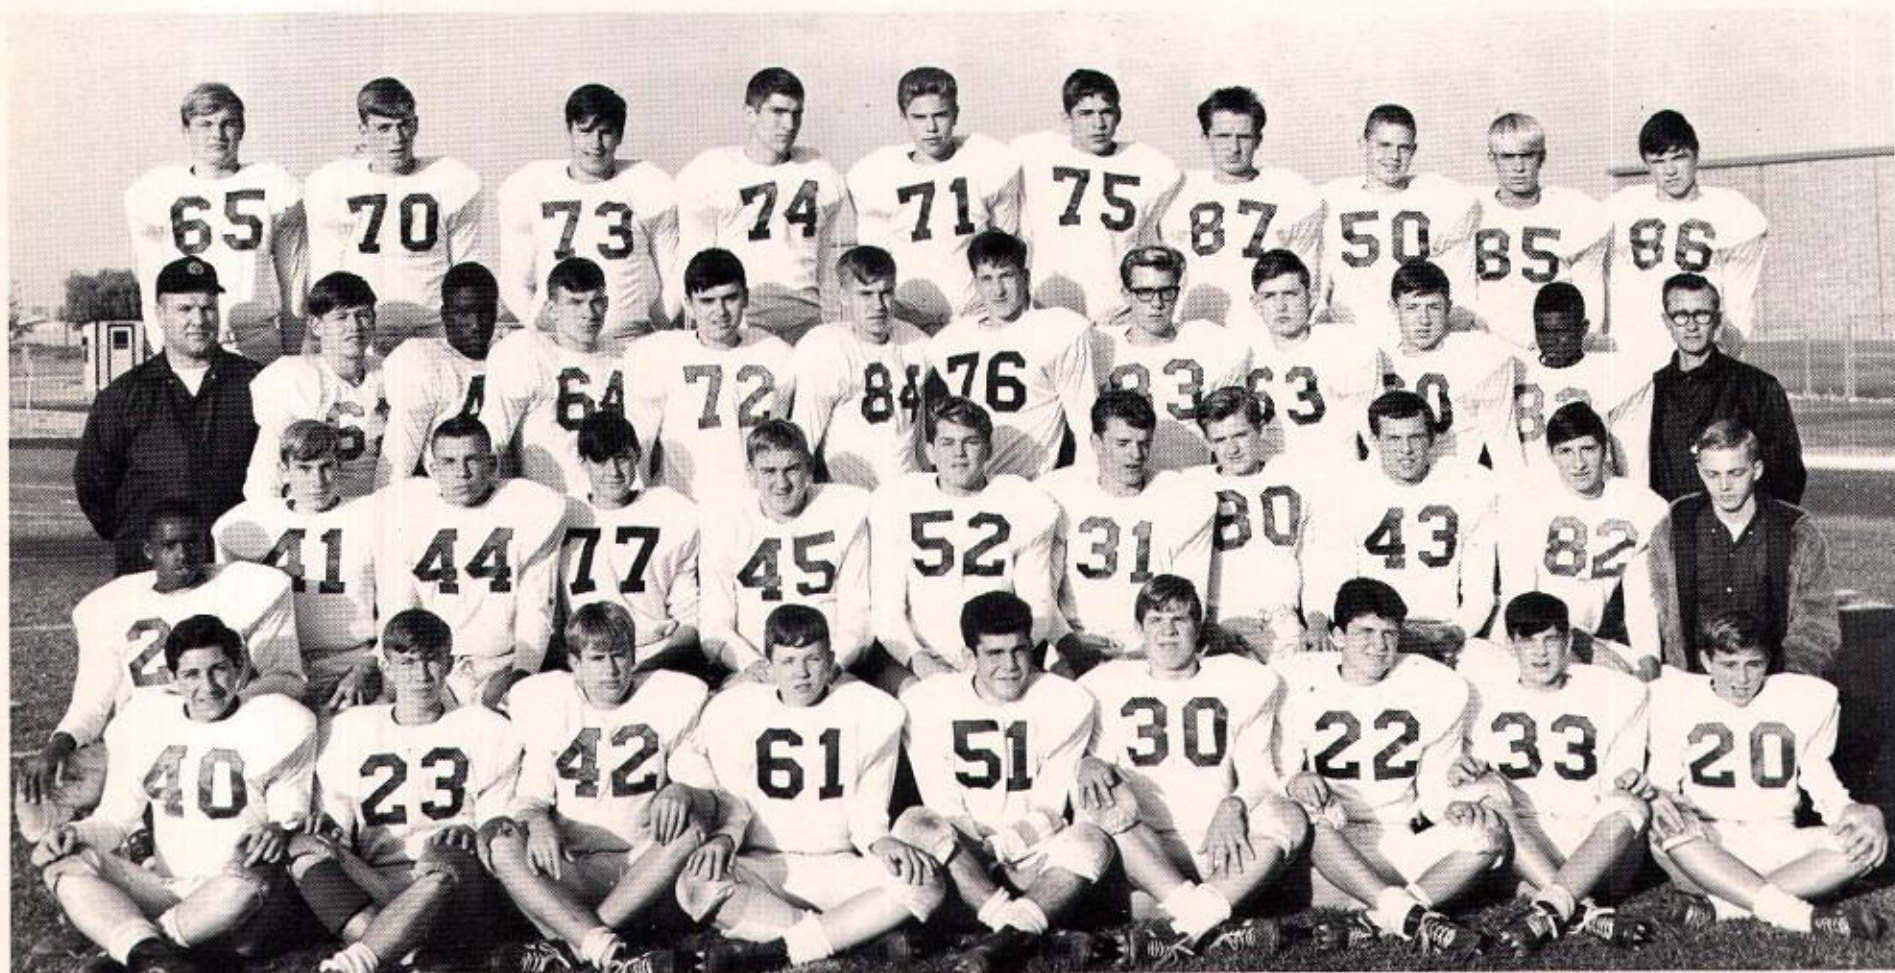

Speed, power, and the ability to strike through the air comprised the three threats of Mel May's sophomore Tigers. Their seven-two record showed all three threats were used in West's bid for Illini 8 conference championship. Versatile Rick Chizmark's option around end was balanced by Brent Gunier's and Randy Casserilla's steady and productive running. West's co-ordinated aggressive line controlled by a responsible quarterback were strong factors in sophomore wins.

Hard Work and Dedication Gives Cross Country a Winning Season

Following a summer of hard work and dedicated practice, which included no less than two 10 mile marathons per week, the Cross Country Tigers launched themselves into the 1966-67 season. Under the watchful eye of Coach Swank, the Frosh-Soph and Varsity squads emerged from a stage of relative uncertainty into teams of unusually good balance. Mr. Swank remarked that the squads had fine depth, and as a result the thinclads weren't dependent upon any one man.

Needless to say, the Tiger harriers produced some fine talent. Thinclads Rich Skoff and Chip Smith logged some of the best varsity times ever recorded on West's two mile course at Inwood Park. Tigers Steve Palmer and Mike Roath placed consistently in the top five out of an average sophomore field of twenty men.

Records of eight-two for varsity, nine-two for sophs, plus the crown of Conference champs and Joliet Area Meet championship proved the fine ability of the cross country team.

Strenuous practice takes its toll as Greg Riffel completes his quota of paced laps for the day. As practice draws to a close, the agony of the last lap is climaxed only by the satisfaction of the finish.

Cheerleaders Radiate, Reflect School Spirit

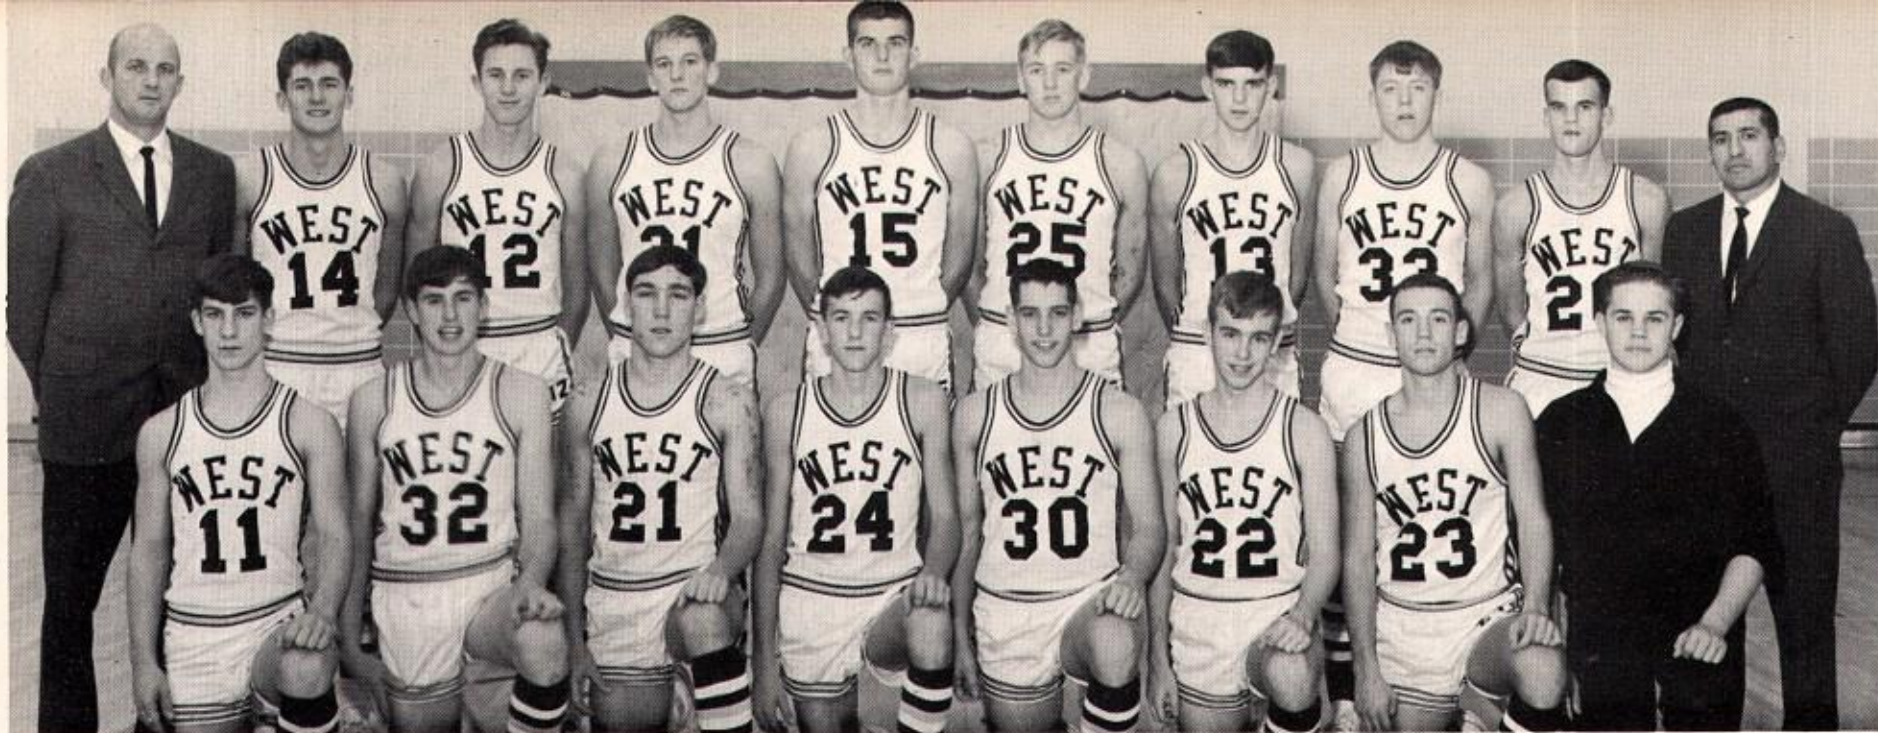

Shelley's famous words, "Hail to thee blithe spirit," might well be adjusted to read hail to thee blithe spirits, if he were to describe the vivacious cheerleaders of Joliet West.

Indeed, it was said no other group did so much to bolster morale of both students and teams as did the girls in black and gold.

Agility and skill, the results of many long hours of practice under the guidance of Mrs. Fritz, were evident throughout the year as the perk teens provided the catalyst that fanned the spark of school spirit into a fire of enthusiasm.

Time and again the flash of a smile, an excited shout, or the presence of a tear on a cheerleader's cheek reflected the mood of the action of which they were so much a part.

To be sure, cheerleading had its obligations and placed an ample amount of responsibility on the girls, and through it all they remained blithe spirits.

Cagers Win Fourth in Illini 8 Conference

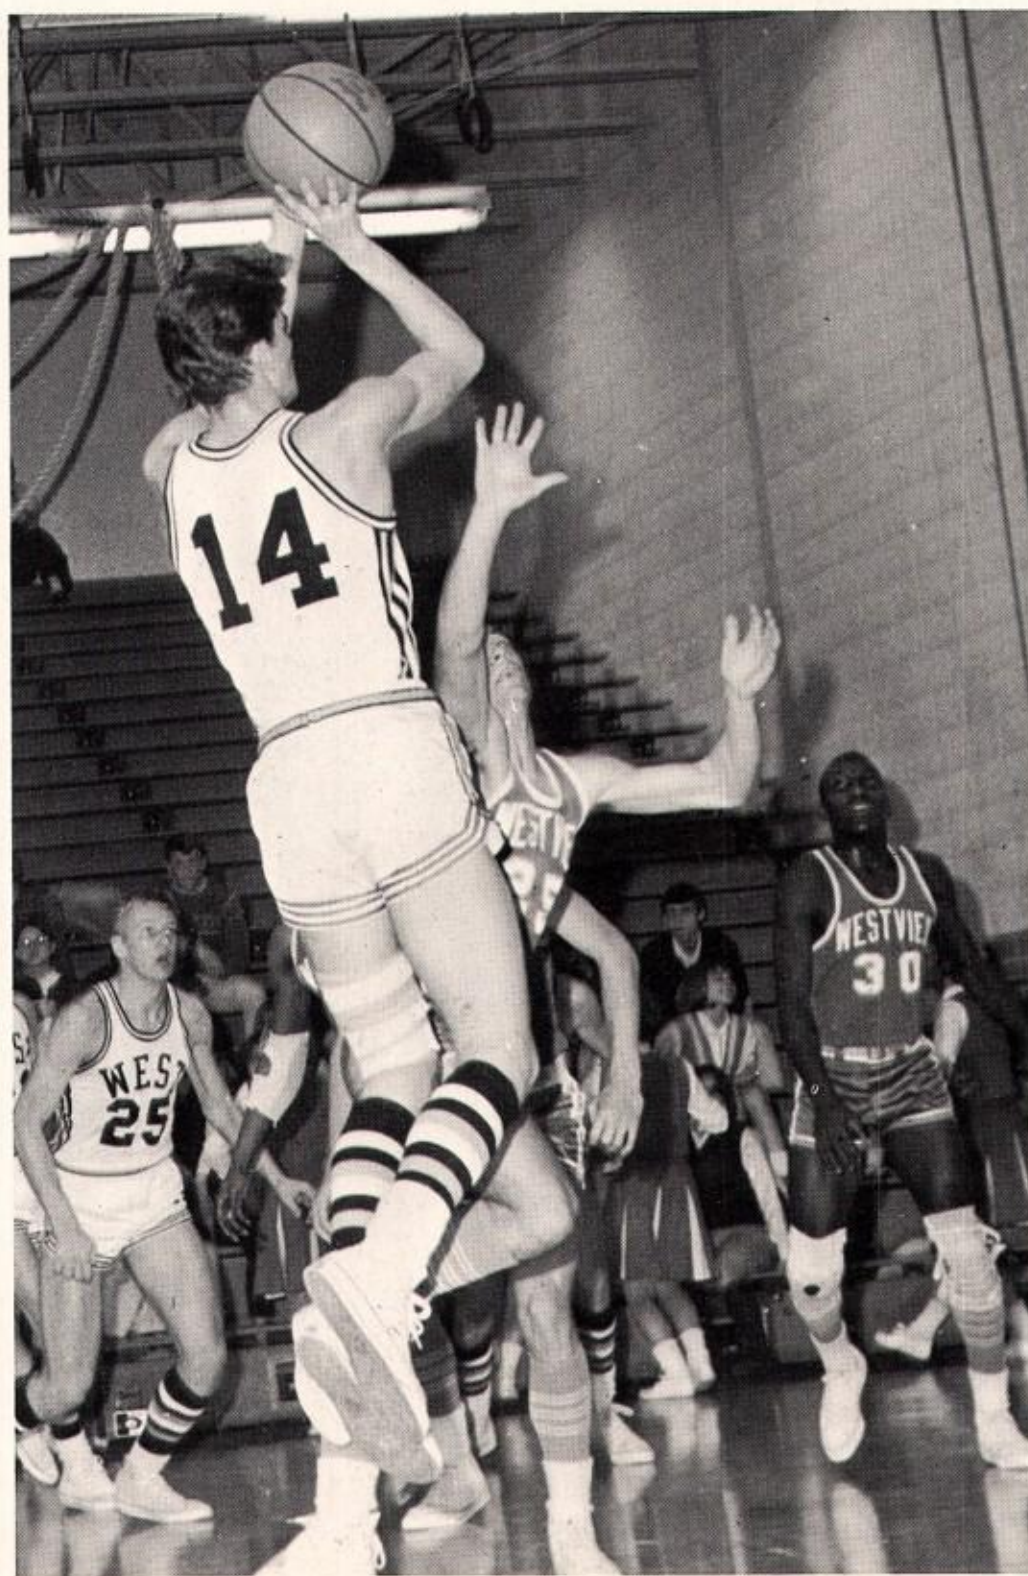

Joliet West basketball rebounded from a shaky start two years ago to a fourteen-nine season record, the sixth best in the suburban area. Another Tiger accomplishment was fourth in the Illini 8 conference with an eight-six record.

Six seniors and a group of underclassmen furnished the raw material. Coaches Leslie and Gutierrez supplied part of the spark which started the fire that engulfed the entire season with dedication.

This dedication won for West the first basketball trophy the varsity had claimed, the Morris Consolation Trophy. West was eliminated from the finals in the Morris tournament by a one point loss to the host team, Morris.

Winning Season Results From Team Experience

It wasn't a major change in style that was responsible for West exchanging its previous five-fifteen record for a record which tripled the successes of the former season. Cager Coach Leslie contended that team experience and balance were the main reasons for the difference. West's quintet had a winning conference record in the new Illini 8 conference which had in it two state ranked teams.

West put to use balance and experience in defeating city rival East High twice. These two games coupled with the Tiger's six point victory over Catholic High were among the highlights of the season. Neither of these schools had previously been beaten by West.

Tied up for a moment by Kayhawk defenders, Nick Logan passes to teammate Rich Chizmark who, with the rest of West's quintet, beat Westview 66-58.

Sophs Take Second

"Speedy defense and team balance were the big keys for us," explained Coach Mel May. There was no doubting the team balance, since the sophomores had a forty-two per cent average for team field goals.

Combining the two assets, the Tiger cubs achieved a fifteen-five season record and an eleven-three conference record. Second place tie in the Illini 8 conference with a second place ribbon in the Glenbrook North were products of the long practice sessions.

Frosh Have 12-4 Season

Mr. Edwards faced a tough assignment in trying to teach his twenty-four Tigers poise, ball handling, and shooting, but he did it. Under his iron discipline the freshmen routed many of their opponents and produced a twelve-four season. Preparing themselves for the future, the freshmen practiced especially hard at teamwork. This work was in a large part responsible for the freshmen winning second place in the Glenbrook North Tournament.

Dedication and Strength Give Matmen a Good Year

"It's been a real fine year," commented the Tigers' mentor, Ray Klotwyk. In the most outstanding season since the opening of the school, West's matmen were undefeated in the Illini 8, captured the conference championship, won 12 of 13 dual matches, and took first in the City Quad Meet, the Plainfield Tournament, and the District, plus fifth in the Sectional. In addition, grapplers Mike Cookas, last year's state runner up, and Ron Brown were advanced to the state competition at Champaign where they both took fourth place.

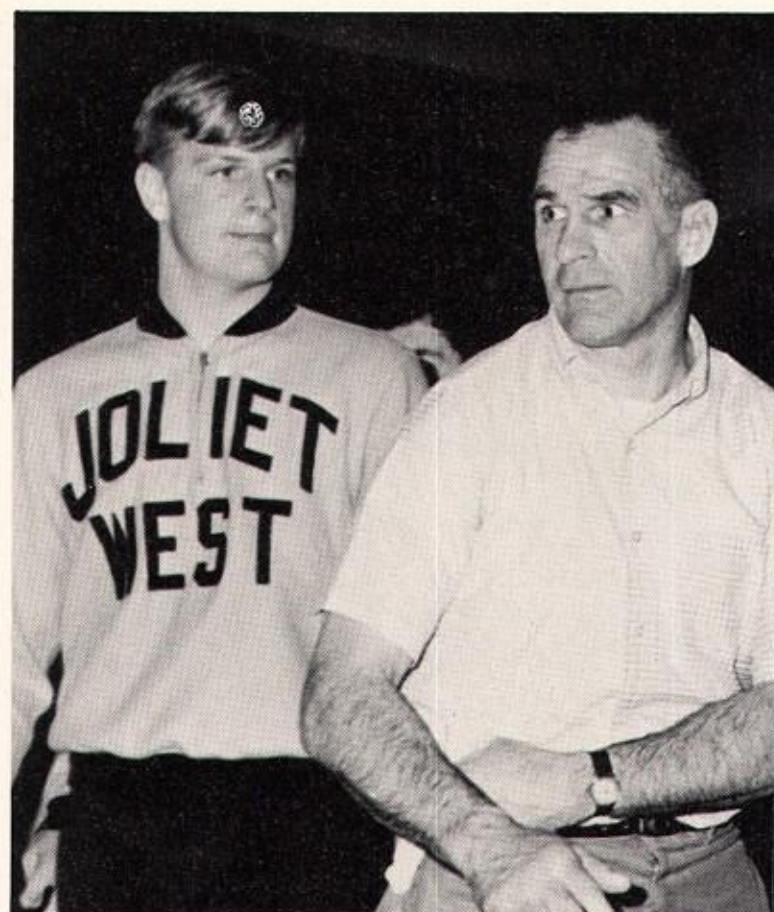

Long hours of practice and efforts to make weight were rewarded as the wrestlers advanced consistently toward a nearly flawless season. Strength, balance, and dedication on the part of the team and the coach were without a doubt integral factors in its overall season.

Freshmen Grapplers Win With Confidence, Poise

Beginning the season with anxiety the freshman grapplers didn't know what to expect. They soon found out what to expect. Their new coach, Mr. Burkhardt, gave them long hours of practice sessions to instill in them confidence. Confidence paid off as the Tigers polished off Alonzo Stag in their first match, 38-16. Burkhardt's charges then went on to place fourth in the Tinley Park Tournament.

West Tankmen Gain Good Reputation at District

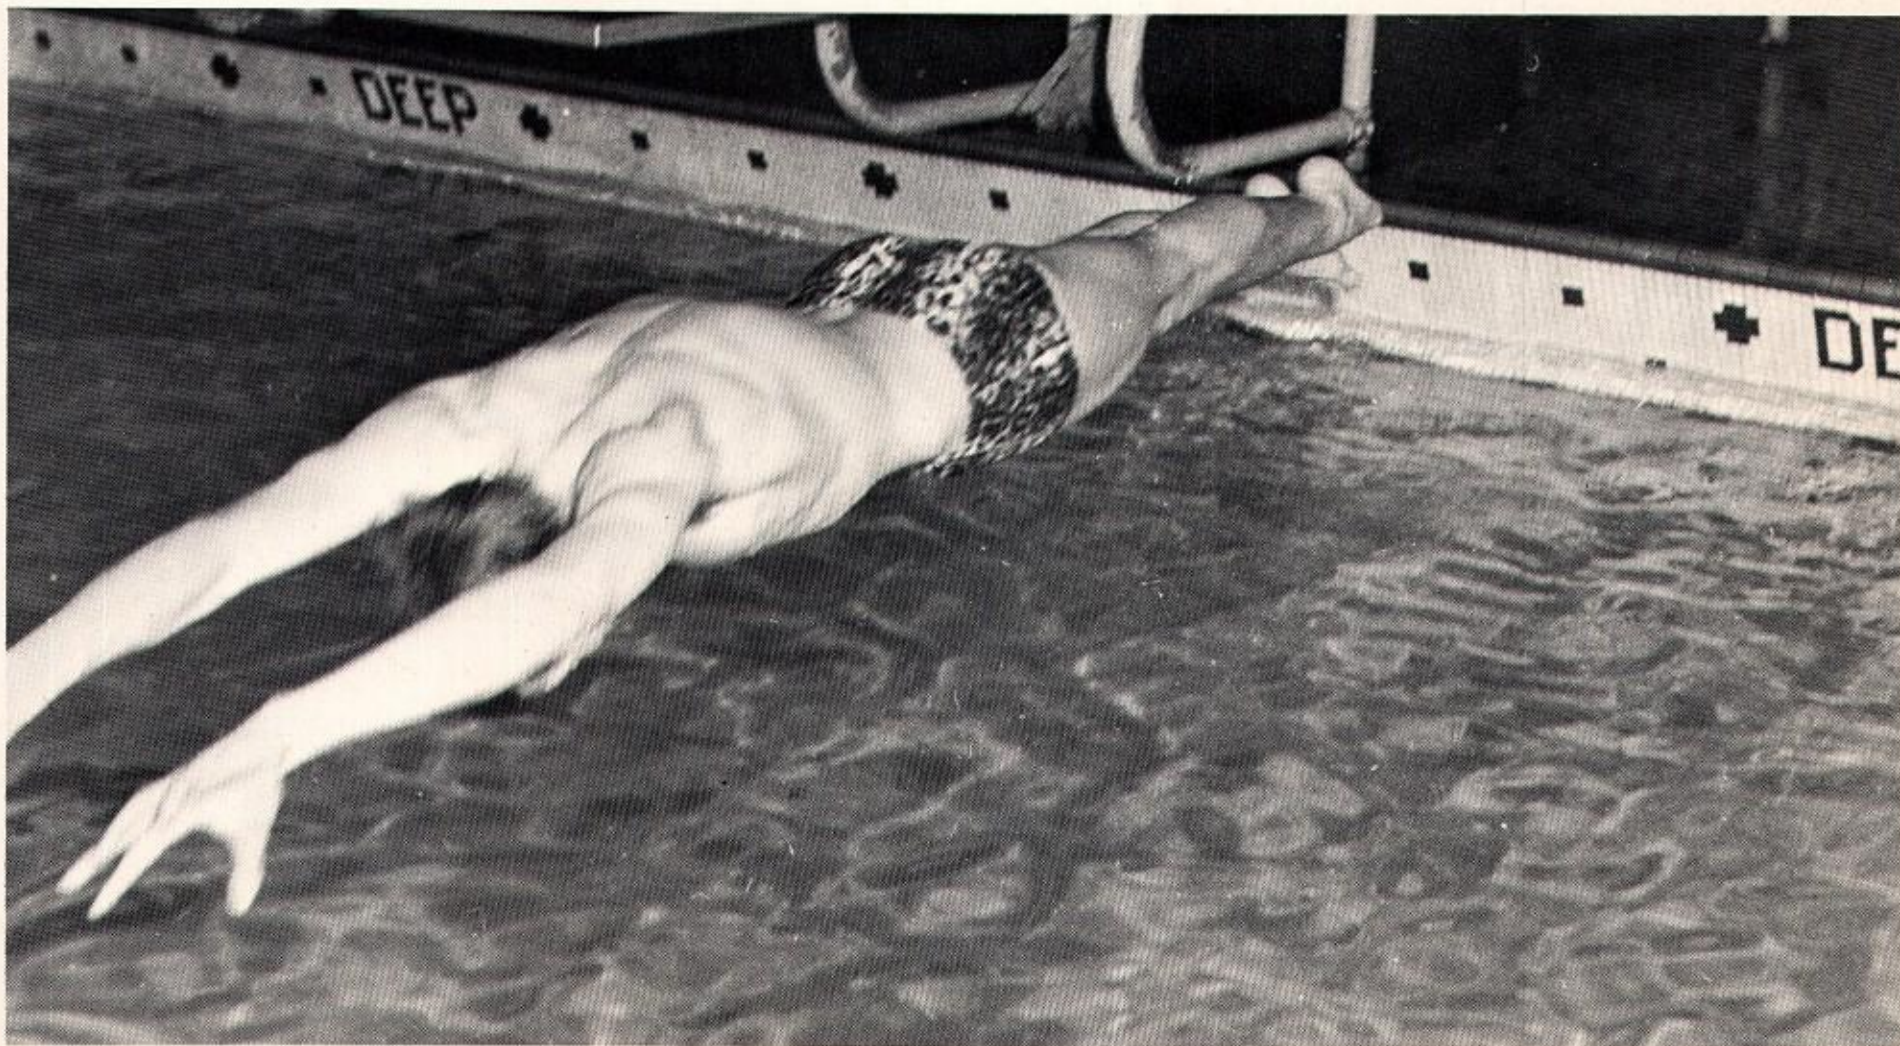

Swimming has been a team sport since the time of the most ancient records of history, but the tankmen of West added a new wrinkle. Without sufficient numbers to produce a full team by conference standards, the Tigers pooled their swimming abilities with sister schools East and Central.

For the swimmers, the arrival of dawn brought the prospect of a morning workout at the Y.M.C.A. and the setting of the sun signaled the start of the evening practice. Coached by Mr. Kienlen of Central, the aquatic youths spent many hours in the water perfecting strokes, times, and endurance.

Individual standouts such as Warren Block, who placed fourth in the 100 yard backstroke and fifth in the 200 yard freestyle at the Hinsdale South District meet, gave testimony to the merit of the squad.

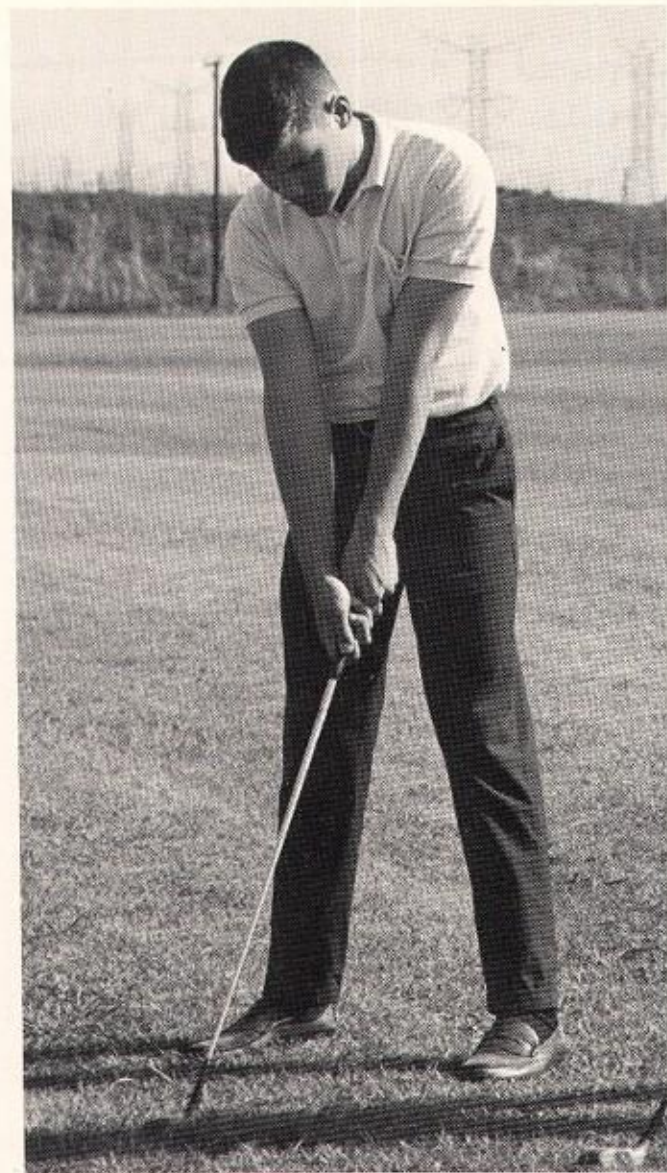

To be sure, the swimmers took to the water willingly and gained themselves a good reputation in the process.

Varsity Golfers Win Two Second Place Titles

Stimulated by its 1965 South Suburban League Championship, West's Varsity Golf team looked with confidence upon the opening of the new Illini 8 season. Coached by Mr. Kistner, the team achieved an eight-five-one record and a second place standing in the Illini 8 conference. Supplementing this feat was the winning of second place in the Grant Park Invitational Tournament by the golfers. Seven strokes barred the way between the Tigers and a first place trophy.

Material for future varsity teams appeared promising as the Sophomore Golf team finished their season with an upset victory over Catholic High. Many hours of hitting shags at the practice range helped make possible the good season of golf teams.

Varsity Tennis Team Keeps Tradition

"Tennis is one of the most demanding sports physically," in the opinion of Bob Richards, Olympic champion. Lead by Randy Pollock and Dale Finkle and coached by Mr. Smunt, the varsity tennis team compiled a ten-four season to win fourth in the conference. With this second straight winning season in a row, the Tigers won a second place in a field of twelve teams at the Ottawa District Tournament.

Not to be outdone by the varsity, the sophomore team was second in the new Illini 8 conference with a twelve-two season record. West's Tiger Cubs achieved this record while learning such tactics as precision hitting of sideline markers, thus forcing the opponent to weave back and forth across the court like a runaway Agena rocket.

West's Nine Exploded to Win District

Carefully studying the situation, Coach Miller ponders whether to change pitchers during the West-Central game.

Getting as many as fourteen runs in a single game, the Tigers are known for their hitting. Rapping out a single in the West-Central game, Frank Panish helps reinforce this reputation.

Mickey Johnson swings a powerful bat to move the Tigers one run closer to victory in their fourteen to three win over East.

Showing good bunting form, Frank Panish sacrifices to get a Tiger in scoring position. West's nine won this game, seven to six, in District competition against Providence.

and Regional Tournaments

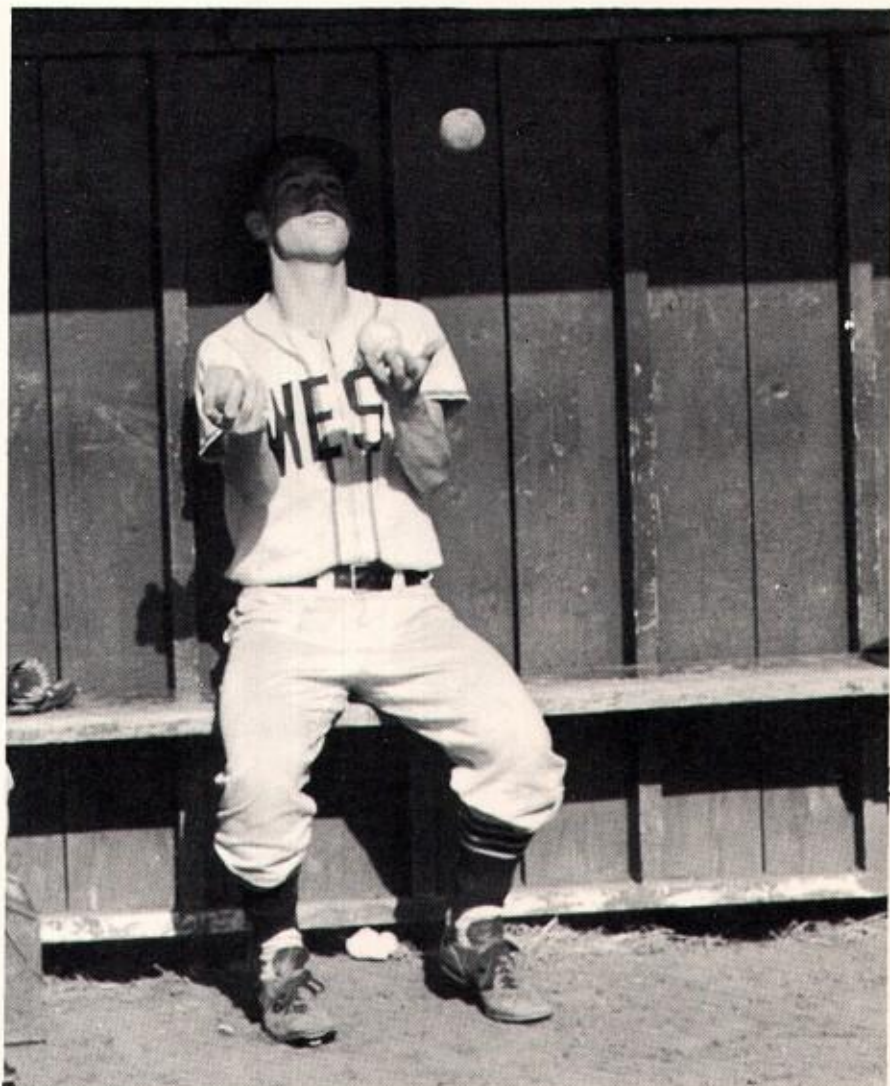

Getting the big run in the big game was the habit of the Tigers in the 1966 baseball season. Capitalizing on this, the team won eight of its last eleven games, boosting its record to eight wins and ten losses. Among those to go down in the Tigers string of victories was the then-league champions Argo. Coach Miller was pleased as his nine played aggressive ball. Led by Jim Brummund and Mike Cookas, the Tigers were a threat to any pitcher.

Effective pitching of Frank Panish and Bob Polancich pushed the team on to win the District and Regional tournaments. One run kept the Tigers from winning the Sectional championship game with Rock Island.

Tiger Cubs Finish Season With 4-8 Record

Starting the season off with a six-three win over Lockport West, the sophomores were off with a bang. By the same tough defense and a spirited offense, the sophomores beat Kankakee, the pacesetters of the league, five to two. Oswego suffered the same fate at the hands of the Tigers with a score of nine to two. Healthy respect for the Illini 8 league developed as the Tiger Cubs finished the season with a four win-eight loss record.

Tim Quinlan anxiously waits for the last pitch in the West-Kankakee game. By defeating Kankakee, West made it possible for Joliet East to win first place.

Freshmen Tigers Capture City Championship

"The boys played as a unit instead of as individuals. This and hard practice were the real factors behind our successful season," was the comment of Coach Edwards when asked what was behind the freshmen's nine-one season. Team work was the basis of the defensive fielding which sent every area team to defeat.

Neither mudding fields or unco-operative spring weather could hold down the freshmen. Tiger batting clobbered East, beating them ten to nothing and eight to five. Central suffered a similar fate losing to West fifteen to two and six to five. These four games won the freshmen the city championship. One game lost to a tough Argo team by a single run was the only mar on the freshmen record.

Tigers Take 5 Titles

When the winter season came to a close, so did the era of the South Suburban League as far as Joliet schools were concerned. Spring of 1966 marked the secession of J. T. H. S. from the South Suburban and the outset of the newly formed Illini 8 Conference.

As the varsity cindermen moved outside, the track team for 1966 began to solidify. Head coach Roger Swank, with the assistance of Coaches Hal Wimberly and Richard Samlin, laid a basis for future victories. Track season progressed and so did the Tigers. Dual meet wins totaled eleven with no losses. Two of the greatest performances in Joliet history—that of Walt Kimble and Stan Mazon—propelled West to the District crown. Mazon with 49.9 seconds for the quarter mile and Kimble with 10.2 seconds for the 100 yard dash set new District records. It was truly a fine season for track.

From this typical stance, Mazon propelled himself to a brilliant series of track records, perhaps the most outstanding being the decathlon championship and his remarkable District record of 49.9 seconds for the quarter mile.

Tiger Cubs Nip at Varsity Heels With 9-2 Record

Spring of 1966 brought an air of excitement with it. This was to be the debut of a new school conference. No one was absolutely sure of what the Illini 8 would be like. Would the competition be tough? Who would emerge as the powerhouse? All this remained to be seen.

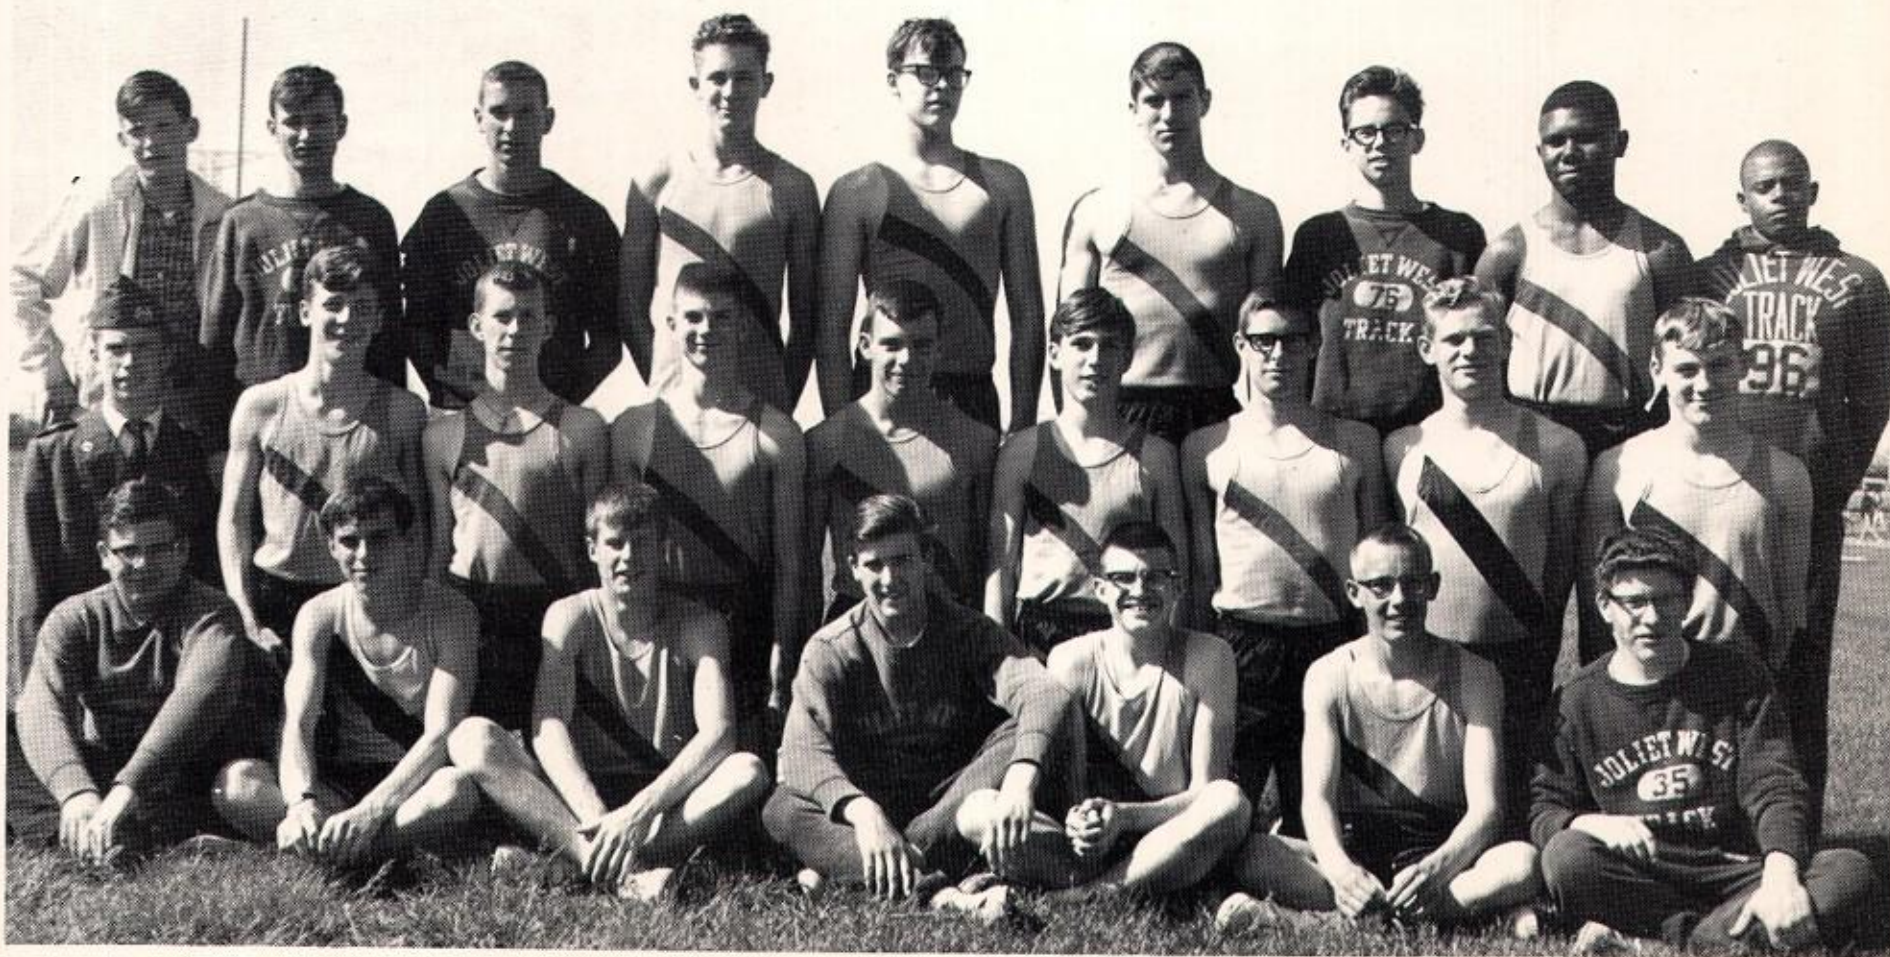

West had a strong varsity team in that it had many returning lettermen. But there were few that were ready to predict the fate of the sophomore squad. More than half the boys had never been in a meet before.

Despite its uncertain beginning, the soph squad made a good showing. Under the competent leadership of Mr. Swank and his assistants, plus the aid of returning lettermen, the Tiger Cubs compiled a record that rivaled that of the varsity. Winning nine of eleven meets in addition to the Conference title, the Cubs did indeed nip closely at the heels of the varsity Tigers.

Bob Cipolle's remarkable ability was visible as he vaulted high hurdles for the Tiger Sophs at Joliet Central. West won the meet 66-52.

Steve Schwartz is enjoying his conversation with sponsor Mr. Dorick following an intramural basketball game. Basketball enrollment showed a great increase in student interest this year.

Softball action is in the offing as the catcher and umpire await the swoosh and slam that signals the arrival of a fast pitch.

Intramurals Flourish

Intramural Athletics at J. T. West had as its founding purpose, according to Mr. Dorick, "to provide boys who do not participate in inter-school athletics with an opportunity to engage in sports and recreational activities with boys of their own age, size, and ability."

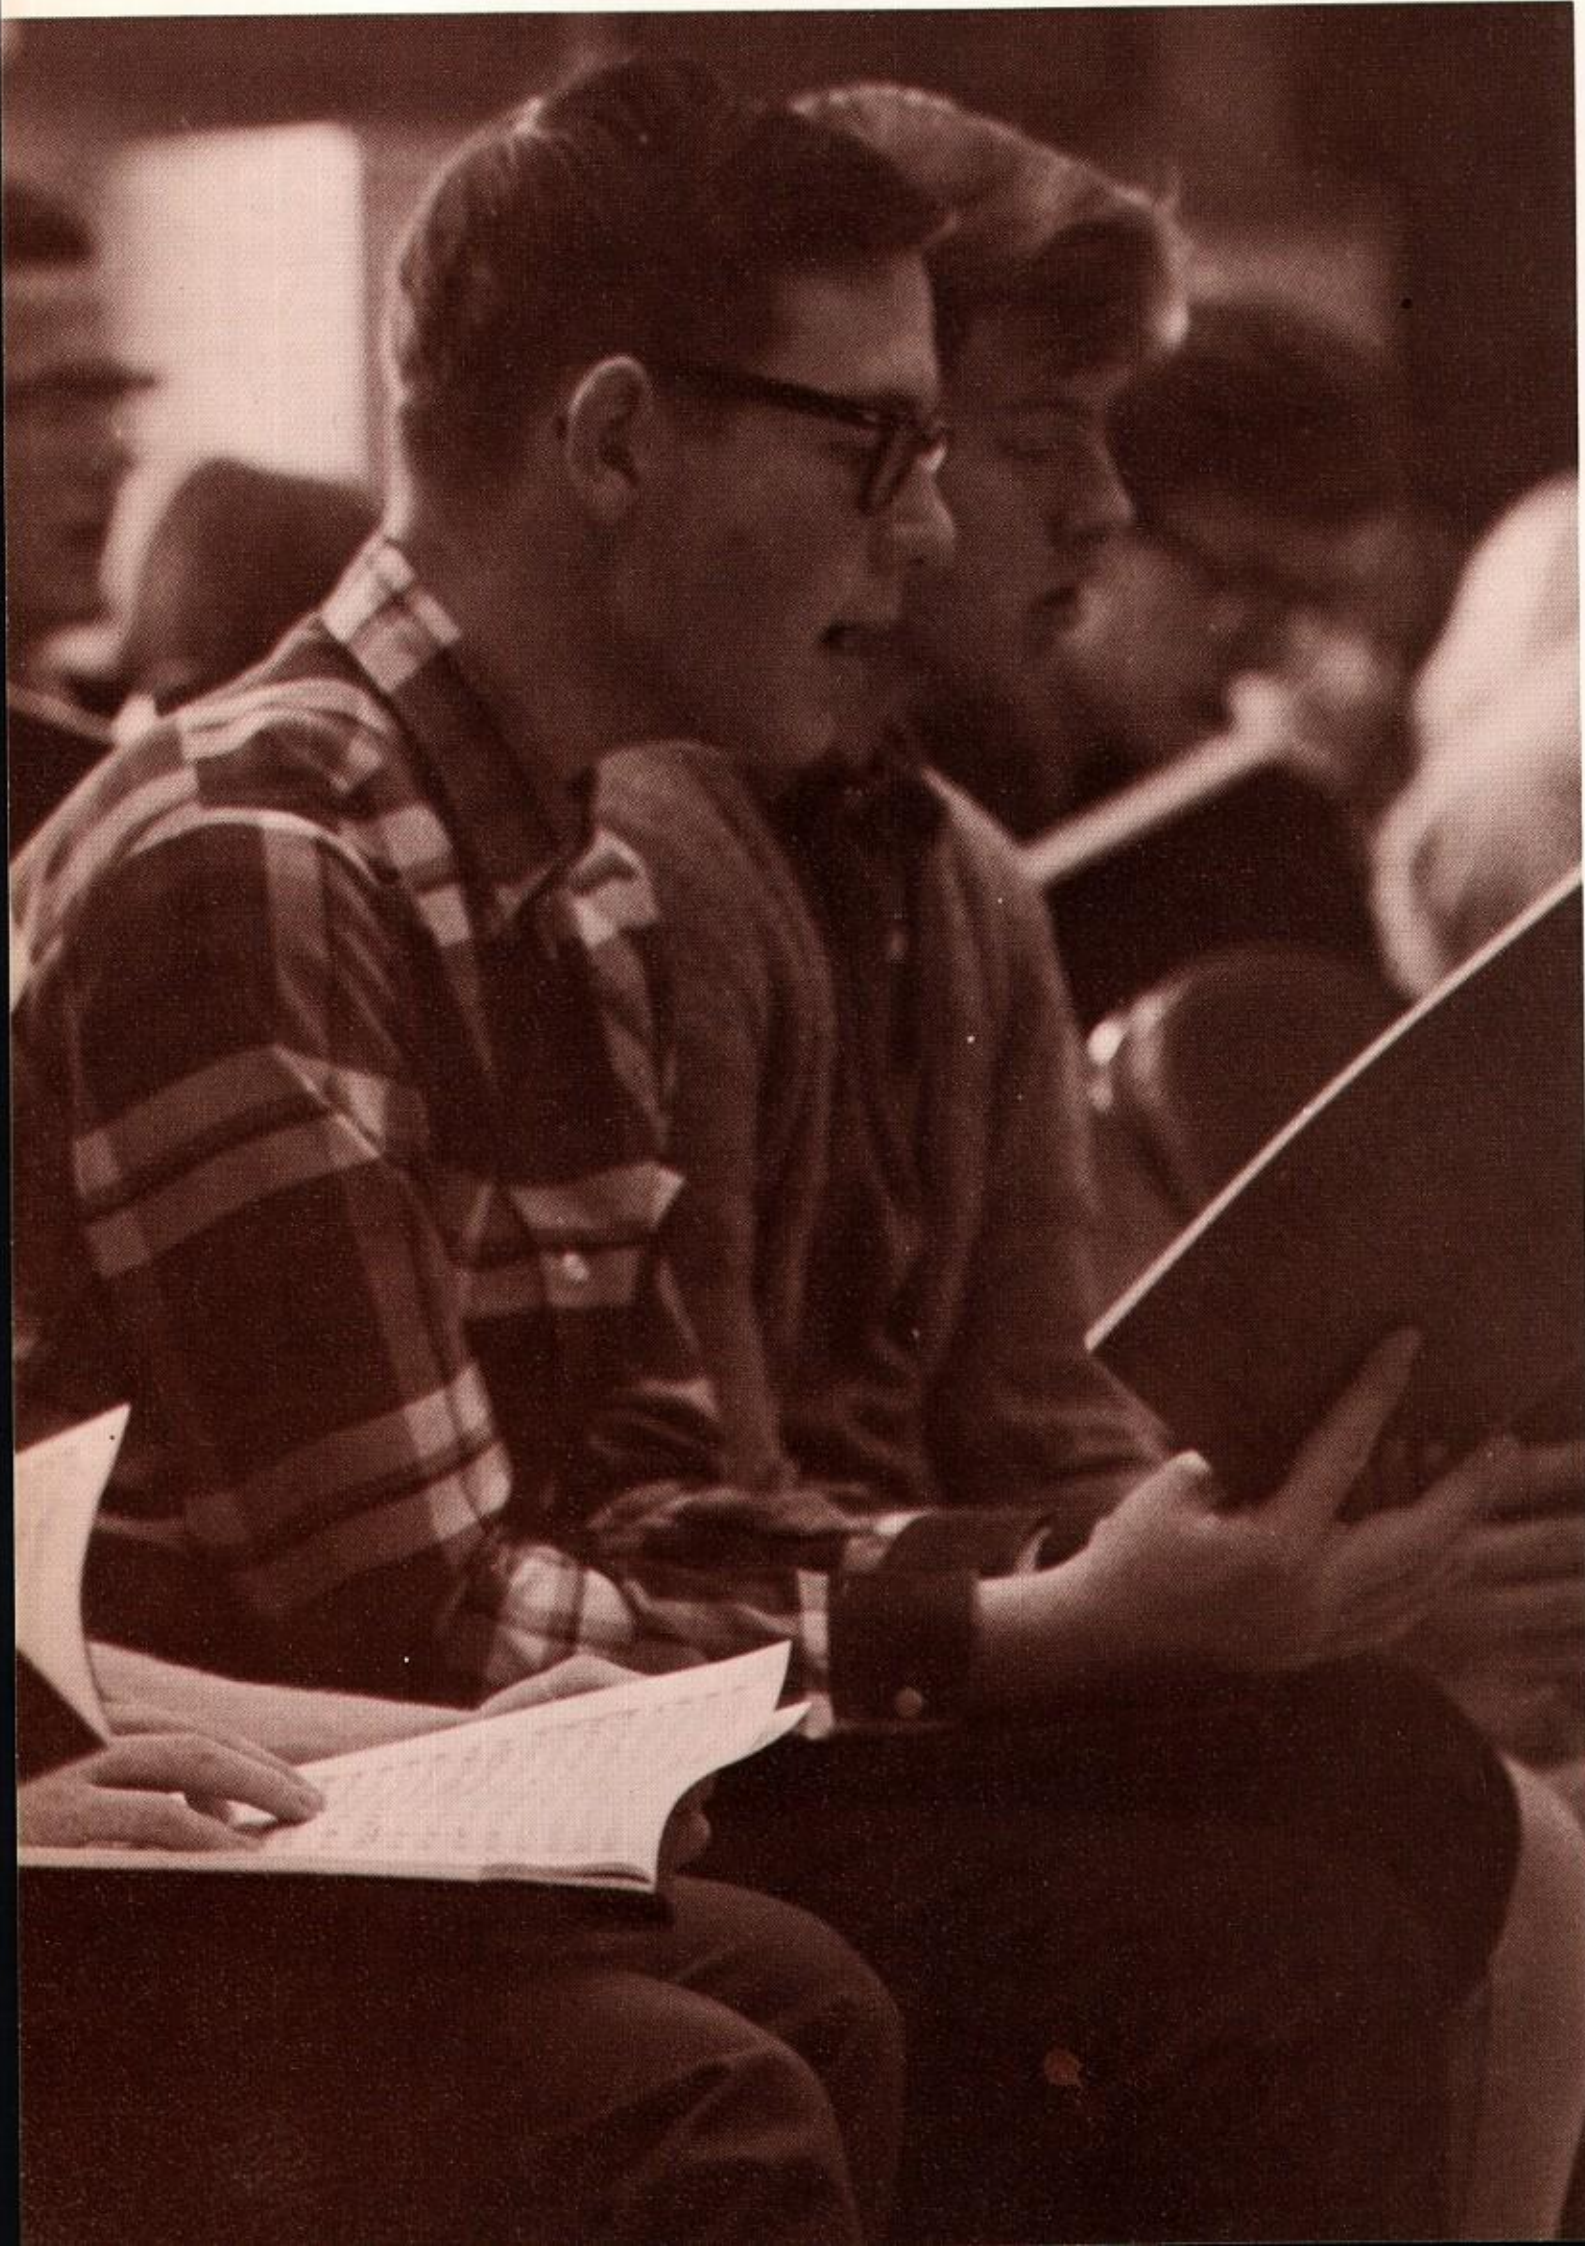

Under the leadership of Mr. Dorick, intramurals was one of West's most popular after dinner activities. Popular team sports such as football, bowling, volleyball, and softball rated high in student participation, but basketball seemed to stand out above them all. In addition, the program offered horseshoes, chess, checkers, ping pong, tennis, and golf. Attesting to the success of this program was the increased enrollment—doubled in basketball and tripled in bowling.

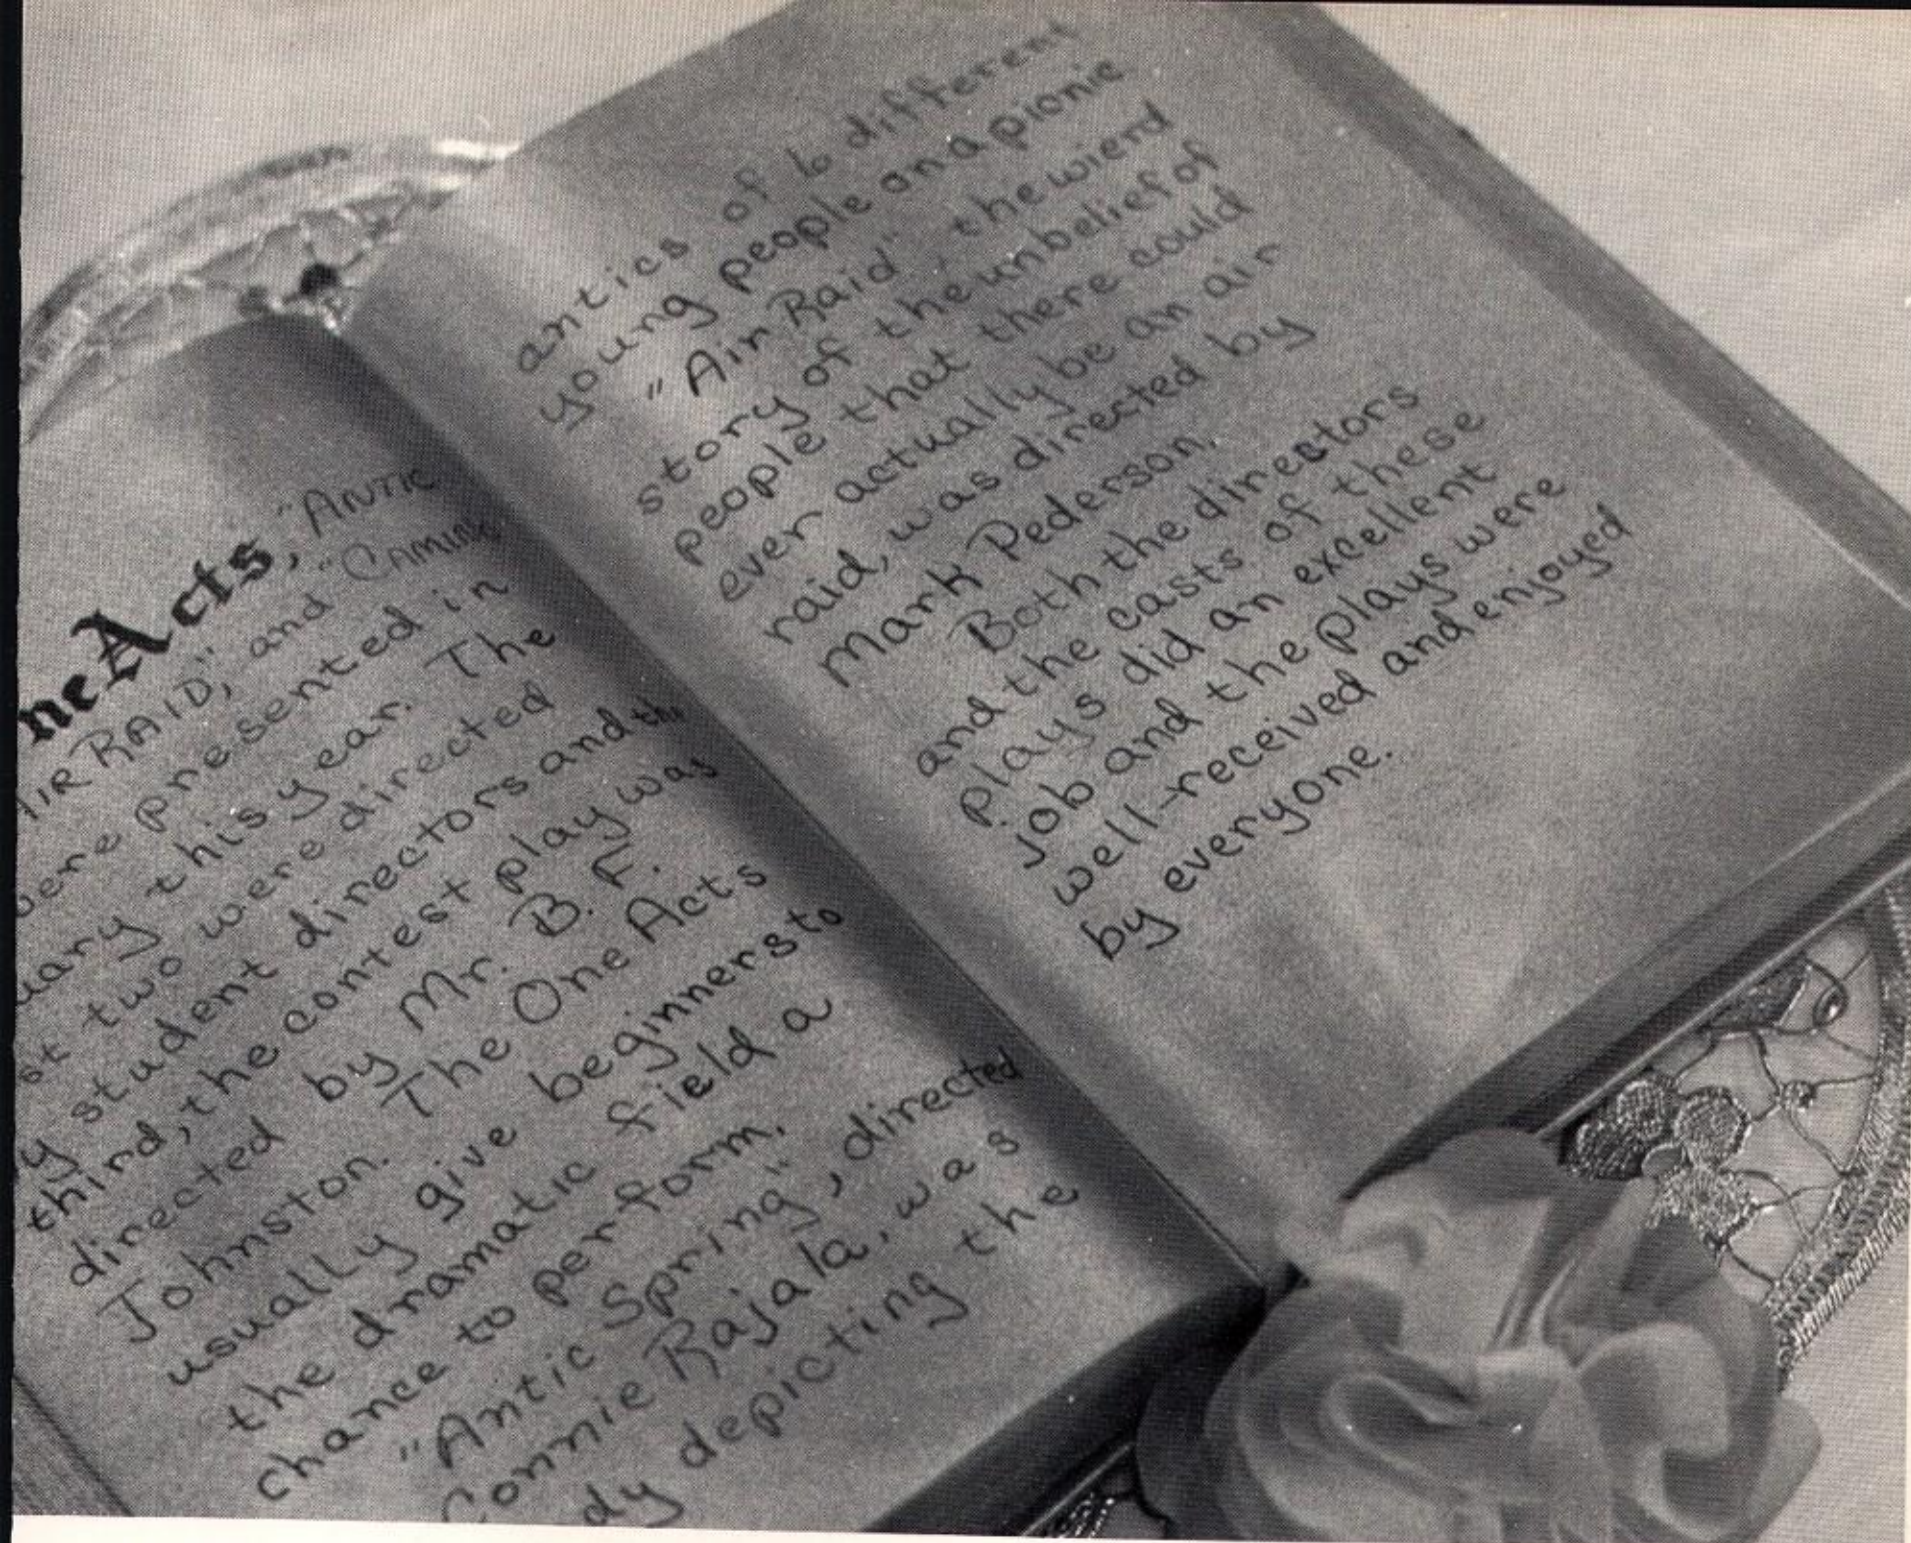

Individuals who were outstanding in specific events received trophies, and letters were awarded to members from each league who scored the greatest number of intramural points. All in all, it was a year of healthy growth for the intramural crew.

Band Enters Contest

Joliet West's Concert Band packed a memorable year full of activities. Fall football games heralded the precision marching of the band during half time pauses. They also marched solemnly at the traditional Veteran's Day parade. Winter concerts were presented, highlighted by a visit from the University of Montana band.

Swinging in with the new year, the band rolled into action with the Illinois State Band Contest. This contest of tough competition proved to be a point of determination and excitement for the band. High spirits also entered into the intra-band rivalry of the Black and Gold contest. Spring arrived and with it the trip to Illinois State University to participate in the Clinic-Festival. Aside from this featured event, the band offered a powerful spring concert. Among the excerpts were some pieces from the Broadway musical hit, Man of La Mancha.

Stage Band Deemed Superior at State Contest

Judged by a veteran group of musicians, the Stage Band captured a superior rating at the Stage Band Contest in Oaklawn. Setting a quick tempo, the swing band played at many concerts. They featured a program of lively jazz at the Christmas Coronation of Miss Alpha Omega. Stage Band proved their merit in performing popular swing music.

Orchestra Merits Superior in IHSA

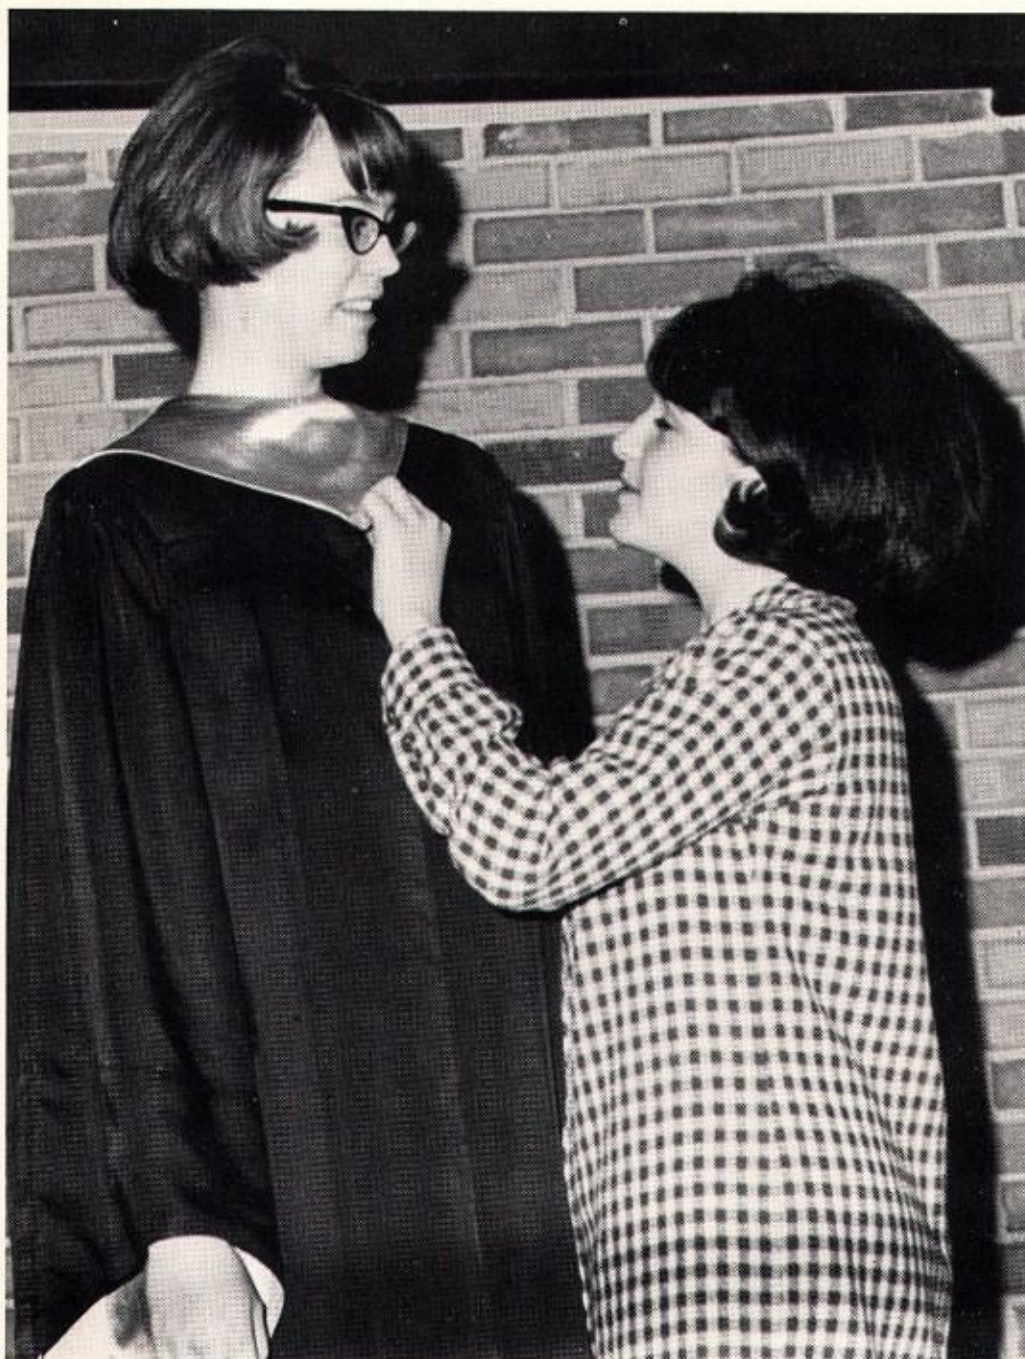

West High's Orchestra stood in the spotlight of musical concerts and assemblies during the '66-'67 school year. Featured at the Armistice Day and Christmas Assemblies, the orchestra provided a reverent mood with music. Haunting background music for the Spring Dinner Dance ushered in the new season.

In the contest of the Illinois High School Association, the orchestra merited a superior rating. This orchestra competed against groups from all over the state.

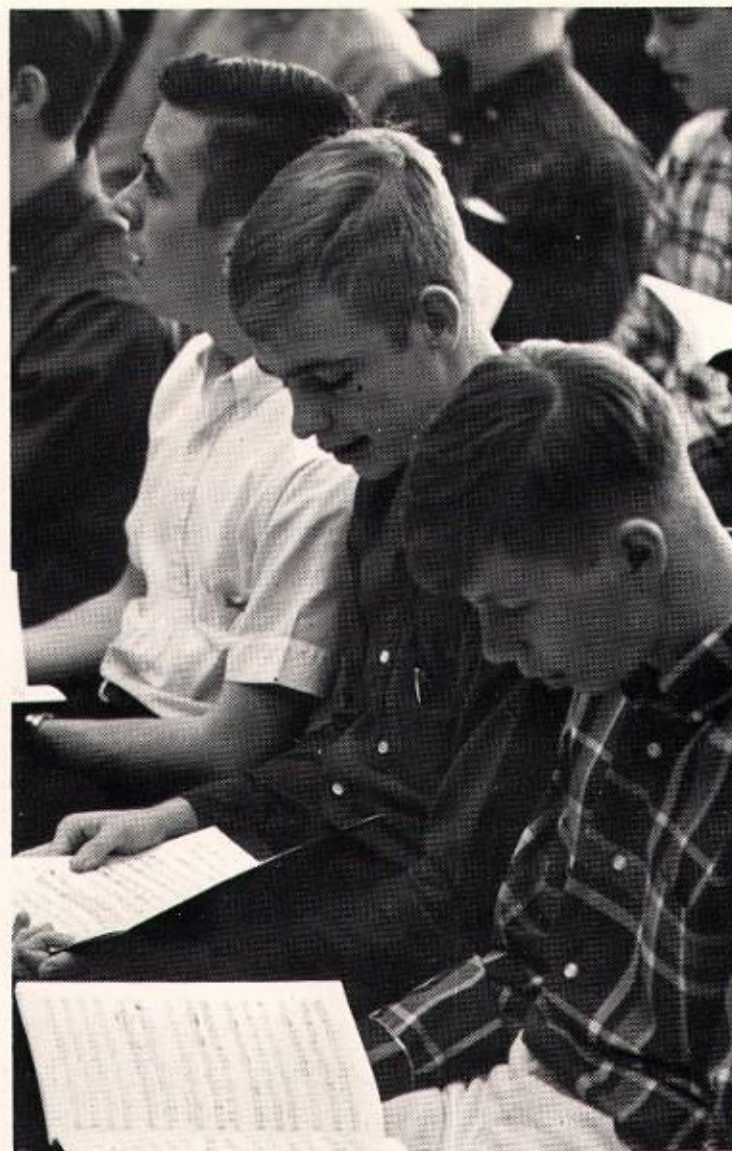

Freshman string orchestra undertook extensive training in preparation for concert performance in the large orchestra. Five girls who have played together for four years make up the First Ensemble. This ensemble offered programs of popular and classical music for schools, organizations, or special groups. This group also united with the orchestra at concerts. One of the unique social events enjoyed by the orchestra was an inter-school party.

A Cappella Echoes a World of Music

Powerful and resounding voices filled the auditorium as the A Cappella Choir presented another concert. At the Armistice Day Assembly the choir offered the moving "Mass In Time Of War" by Joseph Hadyn. This stirring performance was recorded for radio and records were made for purchase. Christmas festivities swept forward with a presentation by the A Cappella choir of traditional carols of the Yuletide.

With Spring came the promise of the annual operetta. West Side Story, the modern version of Romeo and Juliet, was chosen for the special show. Choir members rushed into try-outs, drew up backstage committees, and set the wheels rolling on stage designs.

Madrigals found a busy year and a full agenda ahead of them. These sixteen vocalists sang at private homes, meetings, and church dinners. Madrigals spread Christmas cheer by singing on city corners as well as an appearance at the Christmas Coronation. New madrigals shared the excitement and pride of the group when they were announced at the final potluck dinner for the entire A Cappella.

Choirs Pursue Music

Treble Choir, Freshman Choir, and Boys' Glee Club, followed closely the movements of the A Cappella. As feeder groups for the larger choir, these choirs went through many basic fundamentals of vocal music. Practice took up much time and was an important preparation for the production of their own special concert.

These groups presented the Third Annual Mid-Winter concert in February. Treble Choir sang hymns, spirituals, popular tunes, and classical favorites. Freshman Chorus and Boys' Glee Club featured partiotic melodies as well as songs of foreign lands.

Speech Club Active in Drama and Debate

One of the largest organizations in the school, the Speech Club carried on an eventful schedule. Curtailments did not hinder the club from trying new activities.

Debate held up a winning season with the Varsity Debate Team going undefeated for eight meets. Everyday debate practiced the last two periods to polish their dynamic arguments. This able group set about to sponsor a Forensic Radio Day. They sold advertisements, wrote the scripts, interviewed school faculty members, and had their own talkback program. That day, WJRC turned the station over to the group.

Dramatic arts also flourished within the club. Before the holidays, a Christmas play was enacted for the pleasure of the younger set. Cyrano de Bergerac was produced as the district contest play. Anne Frank entered the lives of many actors and actresses at West. This story of war-stricken Germany was chosen as the Spring production.

SPEECH CLUB OFFICERS—Nancy Ruttle, secretary; Anita Venzara, parliamentarian; Connie Rajala, president; Dave Hamrin, vice-president; Rich Rawlins, treasurer.

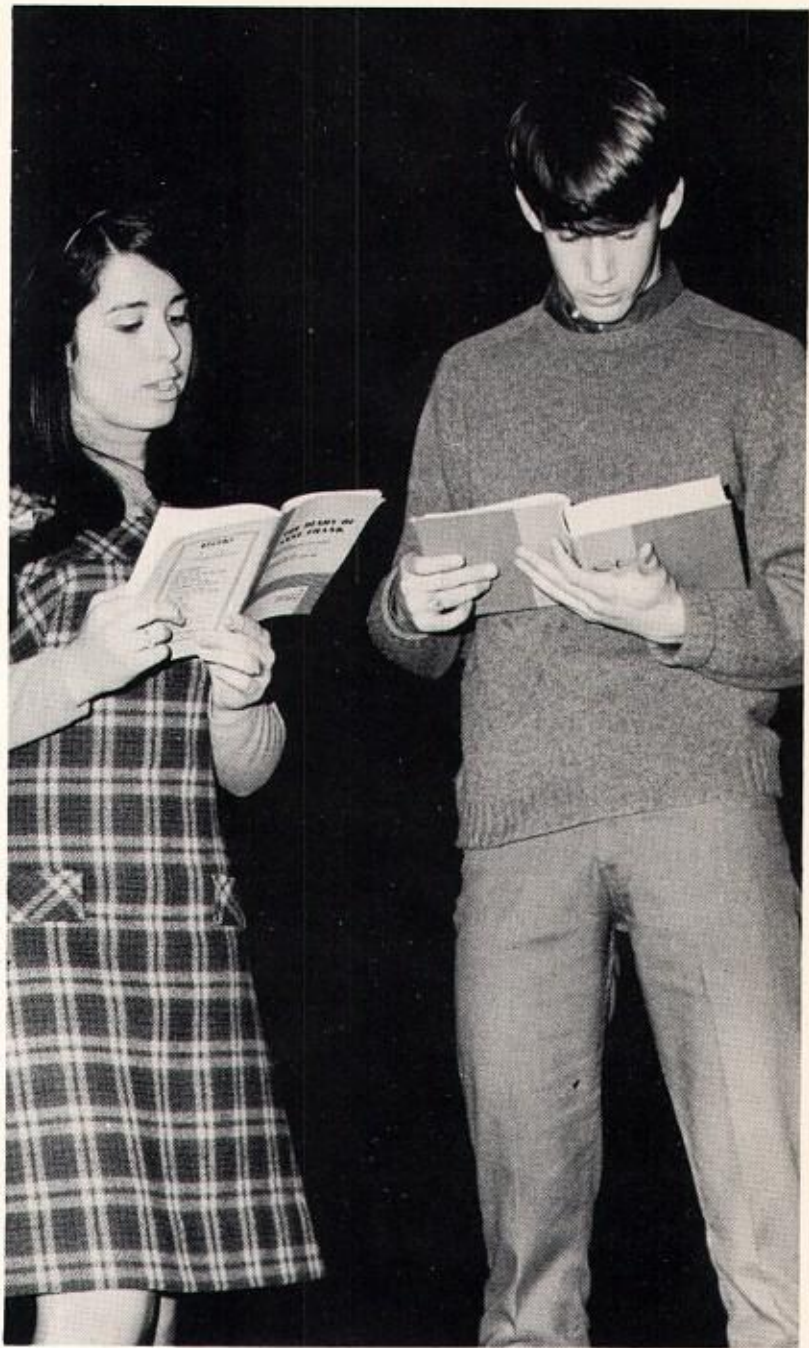

Individual events participants include Steve Plank, original oration; Dawn Sherman, serious speaking; Judy Rodby, prose reading; Larry Maddis, oratorical declamation. Steve Plank, Bob Boettcher, Elaine Fish, and Elaine Grimsel were sent to the sectional contest for individual events in February.

Frenchman Dave Miller grows a fast beard for the contest play.

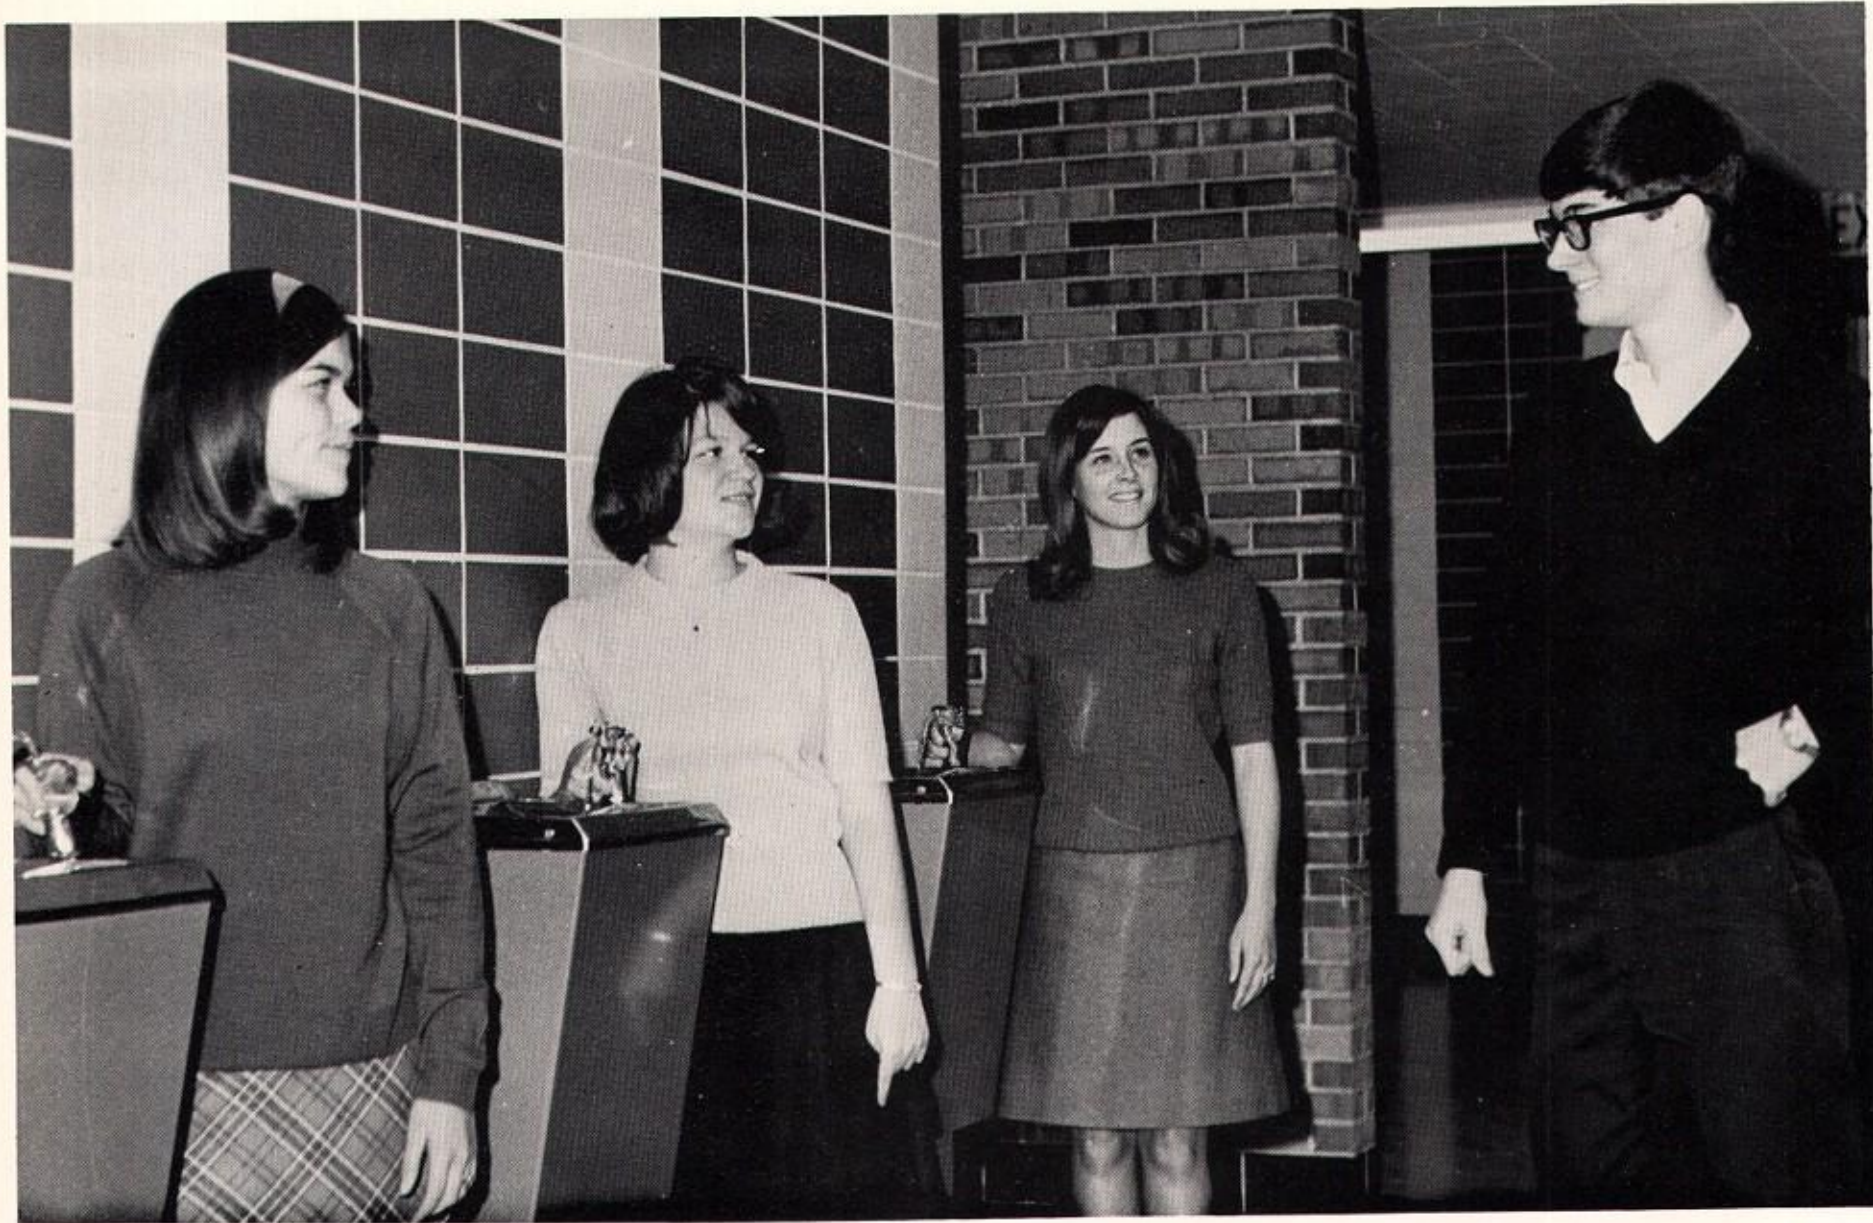

Speech arts proteges Patty Kassis and Bill Shelby give an impromptu reading.

Holding the trophy that they won at Bishop MacNamara High in Kankakee are the varsity debaters Brian Larson, Scott Becker, Joyce Bristow, and Dave McCallister. They won the tournament with a record of eight wins, no losses.

Student Council Acts as Backbone of West

Always on the lookout for a new project beneficial to the school was the Student Council. This student governing body sponsored after-school dances in lieu of after-game dances. They created plans for a Homecoming Week that was filled with fun and enthusiasm.

One novel project started by the Council was that of attaining college catalogs for the library. Another collegiate event occurred when the Student Council hosted a tea for visiting college students, alumnae of West. Also, a semi-formal dance unfolded to benefit the Dollars for Scholars Fund. Money raised at this event was given to a college scholarship program.

In the crucial weeks before the Joliet High School Referendum, Student Council enlisted the aid of runners who handed out flyers. This Council also endorsed the school-wide peanut sale for the March of Dimes. Graduation rolled around and the Council made arrangements for the flower boxes and displays.

JUNIOR BOARD—Ruth Goldhaber, Allan Iberg, Rick Tozzi, Betty Johnson, Sue Schiek, Jerry Kinney, Jayne Robertson.

NHS and AFS Strive to Serve the School

Instilled with a sense of pride and accomplishment, members of the National Honor Society attended the initiation banquet. These outstanding students received membership in the honor society on the merits of scholastic attainment, extra-curricular participation, and good character.

NHS undertook a book sale at the beginning of each semester. Members of the society offered tutoring to students in need of assistance. Fifteen members were chosen to compete for appearance on the educational show, It's Academic. At the preliminary screening they were bombarded with questions on math, history, and English. Rich Rawlins, Connie Rajala, and Scott Baskin were elected to represent West on the program. They won first place by defeating Joliet Central and Oak Park-River Forest.

Dedicated to the cultural exchange of foreign countries, the American Field Service worked diligently to raise funds. In order to earn half the amount it takes to host a foreign student, the club sold donuts, pins, and under-class pictures.

AFS members corresponded with Steve Converse, who was sent to Chile, through the Americans Abroad Program. Steve enjoyed a year of studying and discovering the people and country of Chile.

Yearbook Grows Again

Room 247 harbored the bustling headquarters of the yearbook, Alpha Omega. Armed with fifteen staff members, the yearbook began with an extensive sales campaign. Sales surged to a total of more than 1,520 subscriptions.

Alpha Omega members valued time as an essential factor in creating the 240 page annual. Pictures were scheduled, information was compiled, and deadlines were met. This staff agreed on new designs, changes, and the addition of twenty more pages in the book.

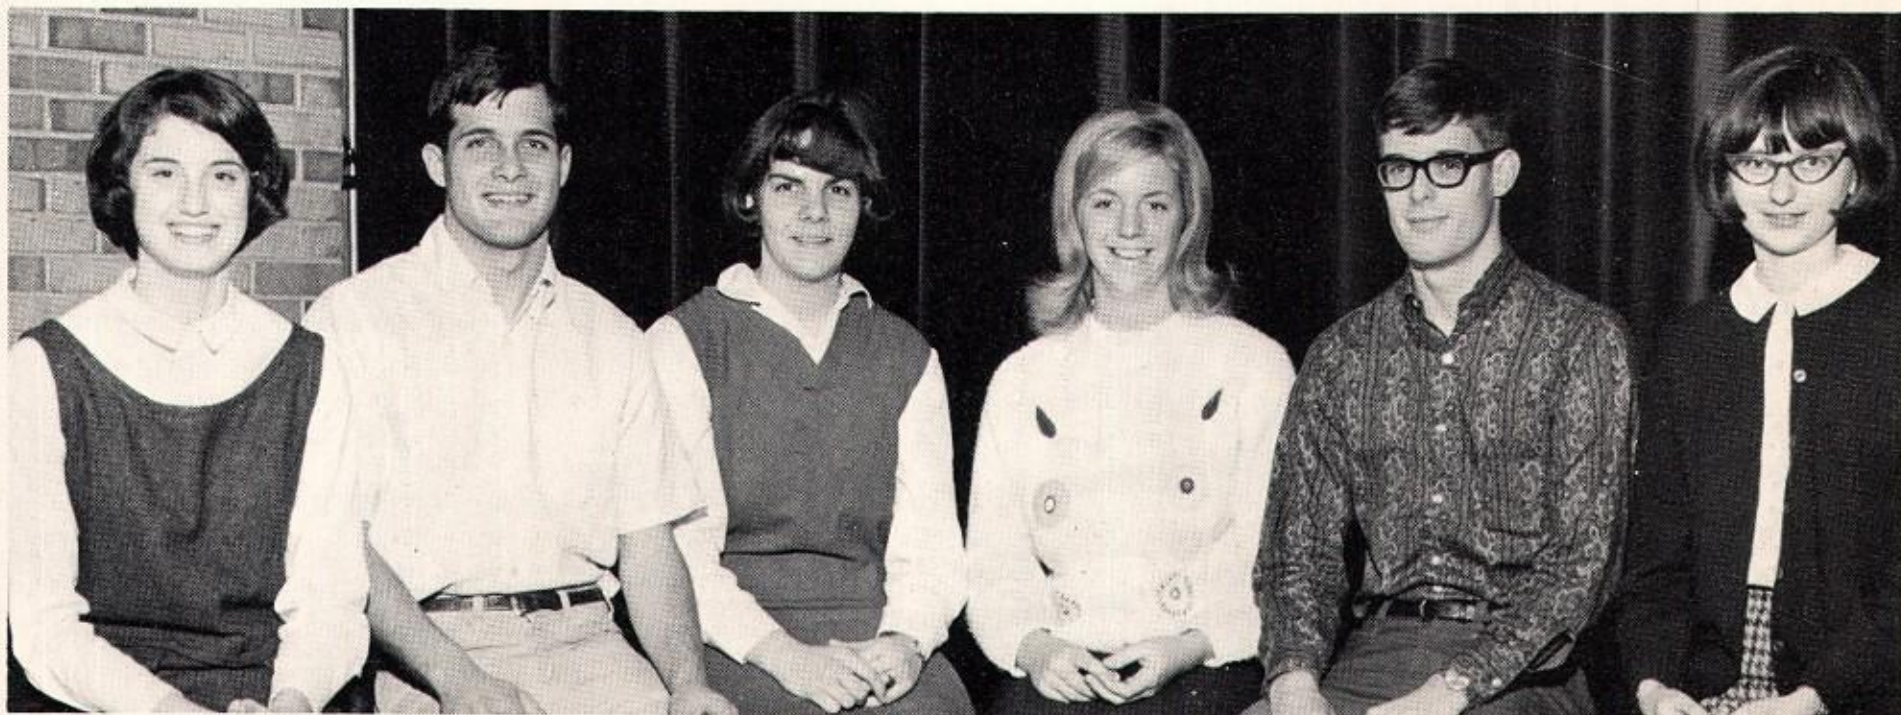

Annually presented by the yearbook staff, the coronation of the ideal senior girl was enacted. This Christmas Coronation of Miss Alpha Omega unfolded with the lively music of the stage band, a fine medley by the Madrigals, and the procession of the candidates. Suspense ran high until commentator, Bruce Fritz, announced Barb Myers, Miss Alpha Omega 1966-67. Staff photographer, Steve Schwartz, captured the happy moment as editor-in-chief, Dave Humphreys, presented Barb with a dozen red roses.

Tiger Tales Circulates to 700 Subscribers

Hot off the press, Tiger Tales, West's bi-weekly newspaper, circulated to seven hundred subscribers. Current social, academic, and athletic events were covered as well as pertinent school issues.

Tiger Tales rolled off the press in the graphic print shop under the watchful eye of editor-in-chief, Linda Lindbloom, and co-editor, Mike McLaren. Issues hit the press on topics like the Junior College Referendum, the Christmas Coronation of Miss Alpha Omega, and the Homecoming Week. Special holiday issues conveyed the festive spirit with cartoons, features, and interviews of the season.

Tiger Tales staff rushed to meet deadlines. Reporters scouted up stories, editors planned pages, and the editor-in-chief pasted down the layouts. Tiger Tales produced eighteen issues for the '66-'67 school year.

FFA Venture to Convention at Kansas City

"Educationally I think it was worth the time I spent away from school," said Gary Woods as he spoke of the FFA trip to Kansas City, Missouri. Kurt Kuster, Dennis McPartlin, Dale Stafes, and Gary Woods represented Joliet at the week long National FFA Convention. These boys attended mock Congress meetings every morning at which two delegates from each state including Alaska and Hawaii were represented. Other FFA travels included a trip to Oregon where a Communication Workshop was held.

FFA members participated in a number of judging contests. Various members entered competition in the Meat and Dairy Judging Contest, while others preferred entry in the Sectional Grain and Poultry Show at Yorkville. During National FFA Week, the club sponsored a family and son potluck supper.

Dave Hillesland, Ron Lingle, and Dan Davis were presented with an award for Land Use.

FHA Learns Art of Interior Decoration

Living in an age of automation, the Future Homemakers of America explored the modern arts of running the home and family. Exchanging of gifts between the members took place during the Christmas festivities. This club was entertained by Rabbi Hershman, who expounded with eye-opening talk on morals and manners. Joliet baker, Mr. Ned Grabavoy, demonstrated the intricate art of professional cake decorating.

"Interior Decoration," a film, was viewed, giving the girls ideas for decorating their own rooms and their homes in the future. Medical Careers, Red Cross Work with Community

Developing a deeper interest in the field of medicine, the Medical Careers Club participated in an informative program. Along with interesting films, the club was entertained by guest speakers. Mrs. Naomi Corsini briefed the club on volunteer service opportunities at Silver Cross. Jerry Lynn Lovati lectured on the work of a lab technician.

Traveling to the Cook County Hospital, the Medical Careers Club toured the School of Nursing. Members packaged cards and stamps for the children in the Guardian Angel Home during the Christmas season. Signaling the end of the year, the club took to the outdoors for a picnic.

Red Cross packed a busy year starting with the Community Drive in which all homerooms took part. For St. Patrick's Day, the club created candy favors for the patients at the St. Joseph's Hospital. Red Cross also distributed the American Red Cross Magazine throughout the school.

Green Thumb Club Emerges from A.A.

Whether conducting a new biology experiment, or watching a movie on space travel, the Alchemists Anonymous explored the world of science. These members traveled to the National Laboratory at Argonne where they toured the immense research center. They were also impressed by the enthusiastic talks on psychology given by Mr. Richard Pryor.

Science Club members sold megaphones for boosting cheers at the games. Concession stands were operated by the science club for game time snacks. Newly drawn up were the blueprints for a subsidiary of the A.A., the Green Thumb Club. This new club would be devoted to the landscaping of certain areas of the school grounds, and the planting of more trees and shrubs.

Library Club Views Modern Techniques

Clustered around tables in the silent library, the Library Club held its meetings. This group of interested students discussed and made suggestions about their responsibilities as school librarians. They learned many new techniques of library work.

Student librarians went to Normal to observe the organization and workings of the University library. They made plans to host the District Conference of the Illinois State Library Association.

West's Library Club presented a senior librarian of good merit with a $300 scholarship toward a college education. On the lighter side of social events, the Library Club decided to make a trip to the Indiana Sand Dunes.

Ski Club Made Excursions to Four Lakes

Racing down snowy slopes was the breathtaking sport enjoyed by West's first Ski Club. With over a hundred members, the club took advantage of the blustering winter.

Members registered and paid a fee to travel to many ski resorts. Three trips were taken to Lyle, Illinois, at the site of Four Lakes. Buffalo Park ski area sixty miles from Joliet was also visited by the Ski Club. Average sized crew of skiers ranged from forty to fifty-five members. Lessons were available for novice skiers, while veterans took off on their own.

Radio Club Builds Skill With Electronics

Tuning in nearby stations, the Radio Club at West initiated its first year. Novices to radio banded together to investigate new innovations in the world of electronics. Members learned a special theory and code. Construction and wiring techniques were practiced on various types of equipment.

Ham operators enjoyed working with their own equipment. They created projects, even to planning the construction of an antenna and radio at West.

Radio Club paused in practice with electronics to participate in a pop bottle drive. Club officers for the year were Paul DeFelice, president; Curt Bowen, vice-president; Jim Moroz, secretary; and Ron Appel, treasurer.

Key Club Puts Emphasis On Service

Involved in community affairs, the Key Club took off on a year of activity. Besides operating refreshment stands at the games, the flutter of black and gold pennants could be seen as Key Club members sold them throughout the grandstands. Soap bars were collected by the dozens to be distributed in the Dixon State School.

Key Club sponsored coat check workers for the annual entertainment of the Kiwanis Show. Members also acted as runners from Pershing School in the high school referendum. Key Club highlighted their social season with a hayrack ride. Participants from West traveled to the National Key Club Convention at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago on April 6 and 7.

Pep Club, Lettermen Ignite School Spirit

Cheering and yelling for victory was only one of the activities of the energetic Pep Club. Drumming up a lively spirit in the school, the Pep Club sold bright black and gold Tiger buttons. Members could be seen putting up game posters and footballs or basketballs on lockers for fans to autograph.

Pep Club enacted four assemblies of humorous skits and pantomimes for West and even traveled to Lockport West in an exchange pep assembly. They sponsored buses taking students to away games. Morning performances were held complete with music entertainment and team appearances. Along with these Tiger-a-go-go shows, the club finished up the season with the talent exhibition of the Tiger Follies.

Lettermen opened a season of social activities and entertainment. Lettermen clowned around in a pep assembly sketch portraying cheerleaders. Plans were formulated for the festivities of the Letterman Carnival. Also plans for the selection of Miss Letterman were drawn up.

Lettermen and their dates enjoyed a play night of games and sports held in the gym. At the close of the year, they sponsored an open house.

DE and O Programs Offer Experience in Business

Creation of the Distributive Education and Office Occupations Programs made it possible for students to gain a useful experience in the business world. Classes in Distributive Education provided its members with practice in jobs such as clerks, cashiers, and salesmen. Participants in this program also had schedules made that synchronized their jobs with their school work.

Office Occupations students were able to operate up-to-date business machines, type business letters, and learn the correct method of telephone conversation. Members were given the opportunity to work together in typical office situations. Eighteen girls participated in the Office Occupations program in preparation for clerical careers.

Future Teachers Learn Modern Education

Achieving a career as a teacher was the common goal of the Future Teachers of America. These hopeful members served as guides for the Regional Teachers Convention at West in the fall. They also made plans to visit a state university in the spring and to tour the campus.

Programs ran high with interest for the FTA. At one meeting the club was exposed to the Modern Method of Teaching, a new development in education. Miss Louck presented a program with an armchair journey of her trip to India and the Far East. Student teachers also gave informative speeches to the club. Historian Linda Morris gave a review of the national, state, and local chapters of the FTA. Bakery sales boosted the club's treasury and strengthened plans for an FTA retreat in the spring.

GAA Tackles a Busy Agenda

GAA started in with activities on the first day of the school year with Freshman Day. Officers visited with each class explaining the organization of the Girls' Athletic Association. Their campaign ran for the first week with registering and paying of fees.

Christmas arrived, and with it came the visit of Santa Claus to the GAA meeting. In February the club held its initiation. Members who had earned twenty-four points or more were presented with a state GAA pin. Spring also brought the annual Mother-Daughter Tea festivities. Plans were drawn up for a swimming party and the selection of two girls to attend a leadership camp in Wisconsin.

GAA initiation, conducted by the officers, was highlighted by the carrying of sports equipment by the new initiates throughout the day.

Taking a break from the dance routine, Missy Bradley conducts the business meeting. Other officers are Dawn Sheridan, vice-president; LeeAnn Carlson, secretary; and Vickie Lowery, treasurer.

Modern Dance Evokes Grace through Expression

Girls with a common interest in dance, broke away from a GAA activity to form a separate club. Originally modern dance was a part of a regular girl's physical education schedule. Girls then wanted additional practice after school, so GAA sponsored them as an eight week activity. But when the eight weeks were up, they wanted to continue to meet so Mrs. Atterberry and Mrs. Ocokoljich took upon themselves the task of forming the new club.

Missy Bradley was elected president to preside at the business meetings.

ROTC Prepares Young Men For Military Service

Profiting in a rigorous education in military subjects, the ROTC gained practical knowledge. This program laid the foundation for leadership, drill command, military courtesy, and other basic subjects in the four branches of the Armed Forces. Members were instructed in map reading, hygiene, sanitation, first aid, weapons, and military leadership.

As the year progressed, the ROTC took on the heavy responsibility of a can drive. These donations were presented to the Salvation Army to be distributed during the Christmas holidays. West's ROTC carried on an extensive door to door campaign. Their efforts showed in the successful collection of over one-third of the cans for the whole city of Joliet.

Honored ROTC Cadets Pass in Review

Many cadets received special honors, reflecting great credit upon themselves and West's unit. This award assembly was the event at which outstanding cadets merited distinct awards. Cadet-Captain Paul Padden received the Chicago Tribune's Silver Tribune Award for military achievement, scholastic attainment, and excellent character. Presented to Cadet Sergeant First Class Lawrence Pollack was the Gold Tribune Award. Other honors were received by the cadets and the sponsors.

Cadets found themselves in full charge on battalion day. Responsibility was delegated to the members of the ROTC. They handled various technical duties and assignments. Heading the ROTC at West were Major Nelson and Master/Sergeant Swinke. West and the other Joliet high schools had the distinction of being the first high schools in the United States to employ retired military commanders.

Board and Administration Faced a Multitude of Problems

Dr. William C. French, Superintendent, Joliet Township High Schools and Junior College.

"It was a great day for education," Dr. French's grateful statement following the passage of the December 10 referendum could well have summarized many days in the lives of the school administrators.

Since the 1961 referendum authorizing the building of two new schools, three attempts to increase the tax rate had been rejected by the voters. With the December success, the administration started the process of restoring activities which had previously been curtailed due to financial difficulties.

Following a week of negotiations, the January teacher strike was finally resolved. History was made for the second time that month as an unexpected blizzard closed the schools for one day. Establishment of a Class I Junior College in February relieved the administration of one big responsibility.

Dr. French's concern for all aspects of school affairs is evident as he watches the homecoming game.

Principal and Deans Linked Students and Officials

Mr. Stallman consults Miss Antoniewicz and Mr. Coleman concerning student programs.

Mr. Stallman and Deans Vanko and Haines provided a coordinating center between students and school system administrators. Policy decisions found a firm foundation under the disciplined action of these three men as they directed internal affairs at West.

Deans Vanko and Haines supervised absences and offered a constant source of advice to students in such diversified subjects as summer jobs and hair cuts. Mr. Stallman oversaw all facets of school policies, ranging from use of classrooms after school hours to provisions for students confined to home study.

Guidance Mapped Present and Future for West Students

Under the leadership of Mr. Charles Woolard, the guidance department led students in planning their academic and vocational lives. Through group and individual conferences with their counselors, students decided what courses to take in anticipating a specific vocation or college education. Counselors and students also worked together in interpreting grades and test scores as a possible means for a more definite formation of future plans.

Two new counselors, Mr. Meredith and Mr. Coleman, were added to West's counseling staff this year. They, along with the other counselors, provided West students with assistance in planning their present and future.

Special Services Add to Complete Educational Program

Marion Gilbertson (Social Worker), Natalie Lewis (Special education), Melva Marshall (Special education), Marjorie Nance (Nurse). Not Pictured: Isabel Lasser (Homebound Study).

Special services added to the comprehensive educational programs at West. Miss Gilbertson worked with counselors in special areas of the guidance program. Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Marshall provided special education geared to the specific level of a student's ability.

Mrs. Nance supervised all aspects of the medical services, ranging from the dispensing of aspirin and band-aids to the administering of athletic examinations. She also kept a medical record of each student in school.

Debby Ziemer assists Mrs. Nance in running an efficient medical service for West students.

English Expanded Horizons of Communication

Florence Hummel strengthens her reading comprehension and improves her speed with the aid of a reading machine.

Under Mr. Bennington's chairmanship, the English department expanded horizons of communication. English I and II offered an introduction to the field of communication as freshmen sought to interpret ideas portrayed through literature and then apply these ideas to their own writing. Sophomore speech taught students the importance of the spoken word. Junior and Senior English courses concentrated upon literature and expository writing as mediums of conveying a purpose, while journalism students found an outlet for their efforts in Tiger Tales and the Alpha Omega.

As the fastest growing area within the department, speech arts gave students additional training beyond the limits of first year speech courses. Aspiring actors were provided with opportunities for dramatic interpretation, culminated in a special Christmas play. Debate was an exercise in logic and reason, as well as a venture into the field of communication through persuasion.

Science Labs Stimulate Curiosity and Discovery

Ron Appel explores the miniature world of the microscope.

Through experimentation, science students strived to gain an understanding of scientific theory. Classroom work gave students a basic knowledge of facts, but in lab work they applied these facts, to form their own ideas.

Physics classes demonstrated the light theories of wave and particle and were encouraged to form their own conclusions based on experimental data. Biology students analyzed different facets of life and then related these to one another in establishing the unity of the living world.

Chemistry students explored the properties of different elements, thus expanding their foundation of scientific understanding, while physiology experiments on the cat aided students in their study of the processes of the human body.

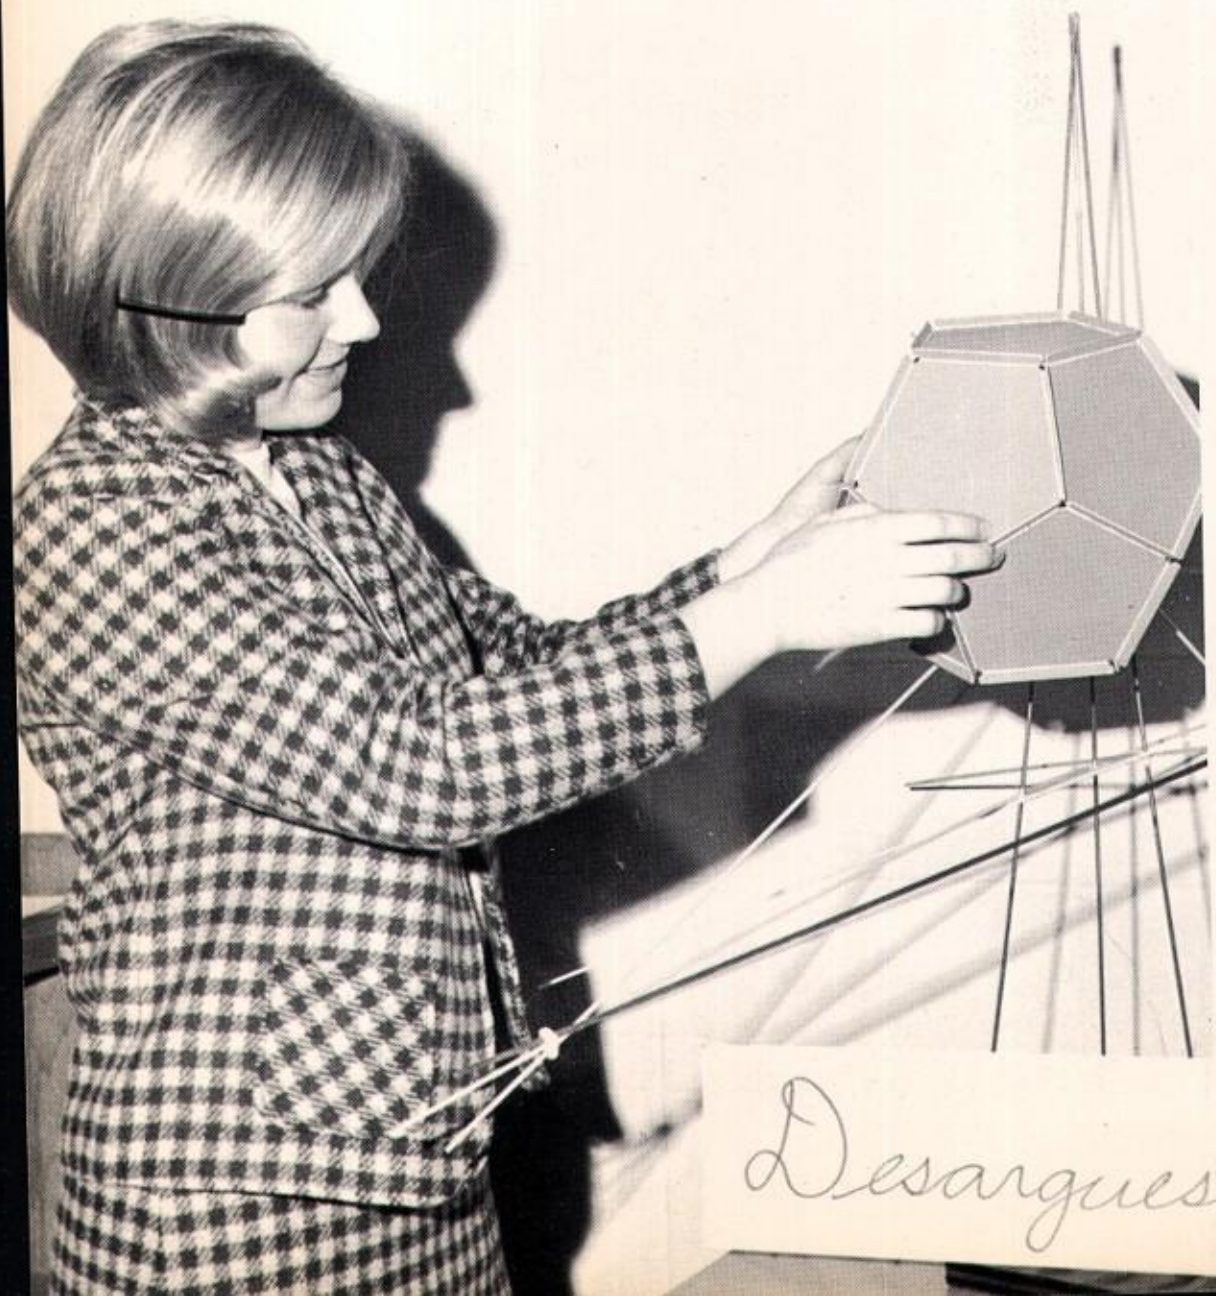

Mr. Hopkins, department chairman, and his staff placed the responsibility of learning with the student himself, as he achieved a greater understanding of science through experimentation.

Students Learned International Language of Mathematics

John Teece acquires a fundamental foundation in mathematics through his general math class.

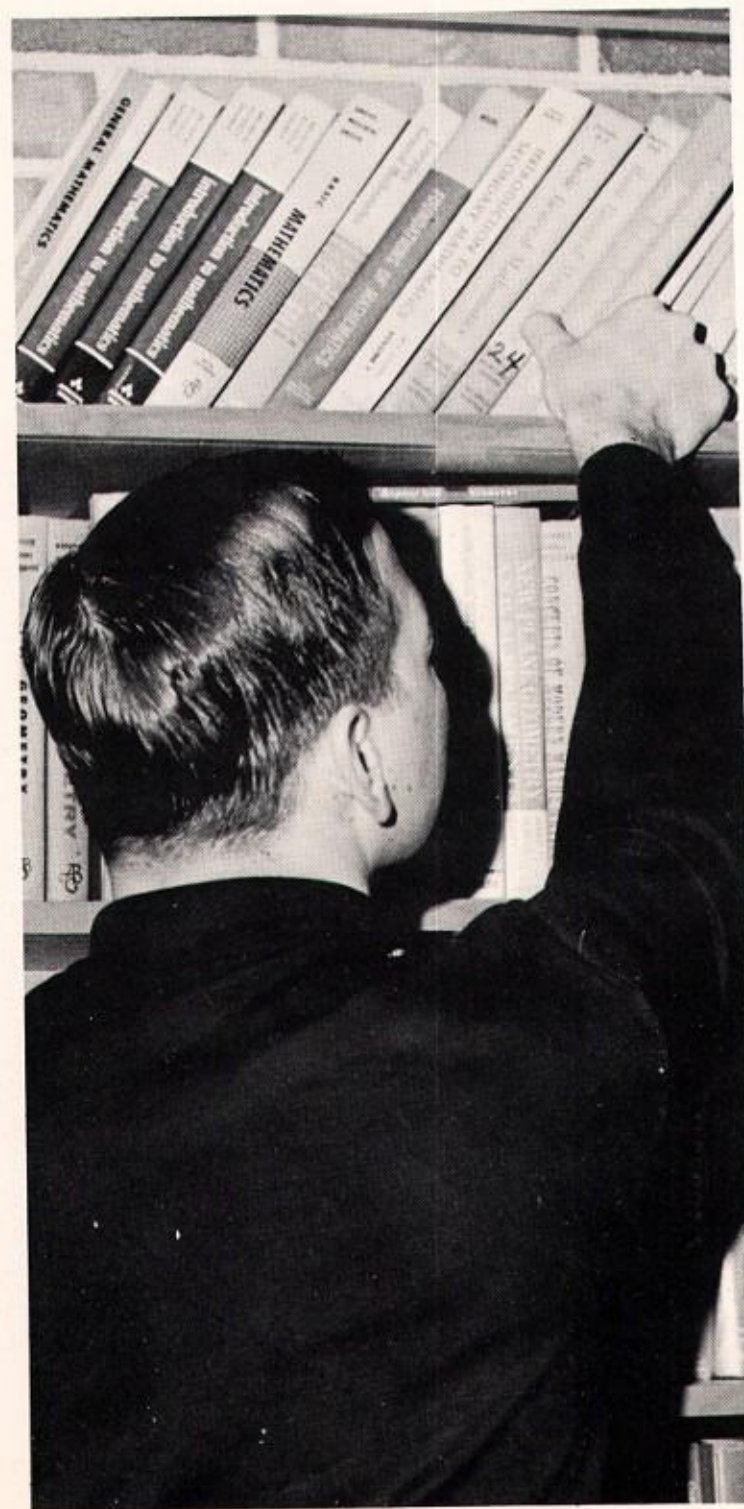

Pat Kosmerl attains greater understanding of mathematical concepts by using a physical model.

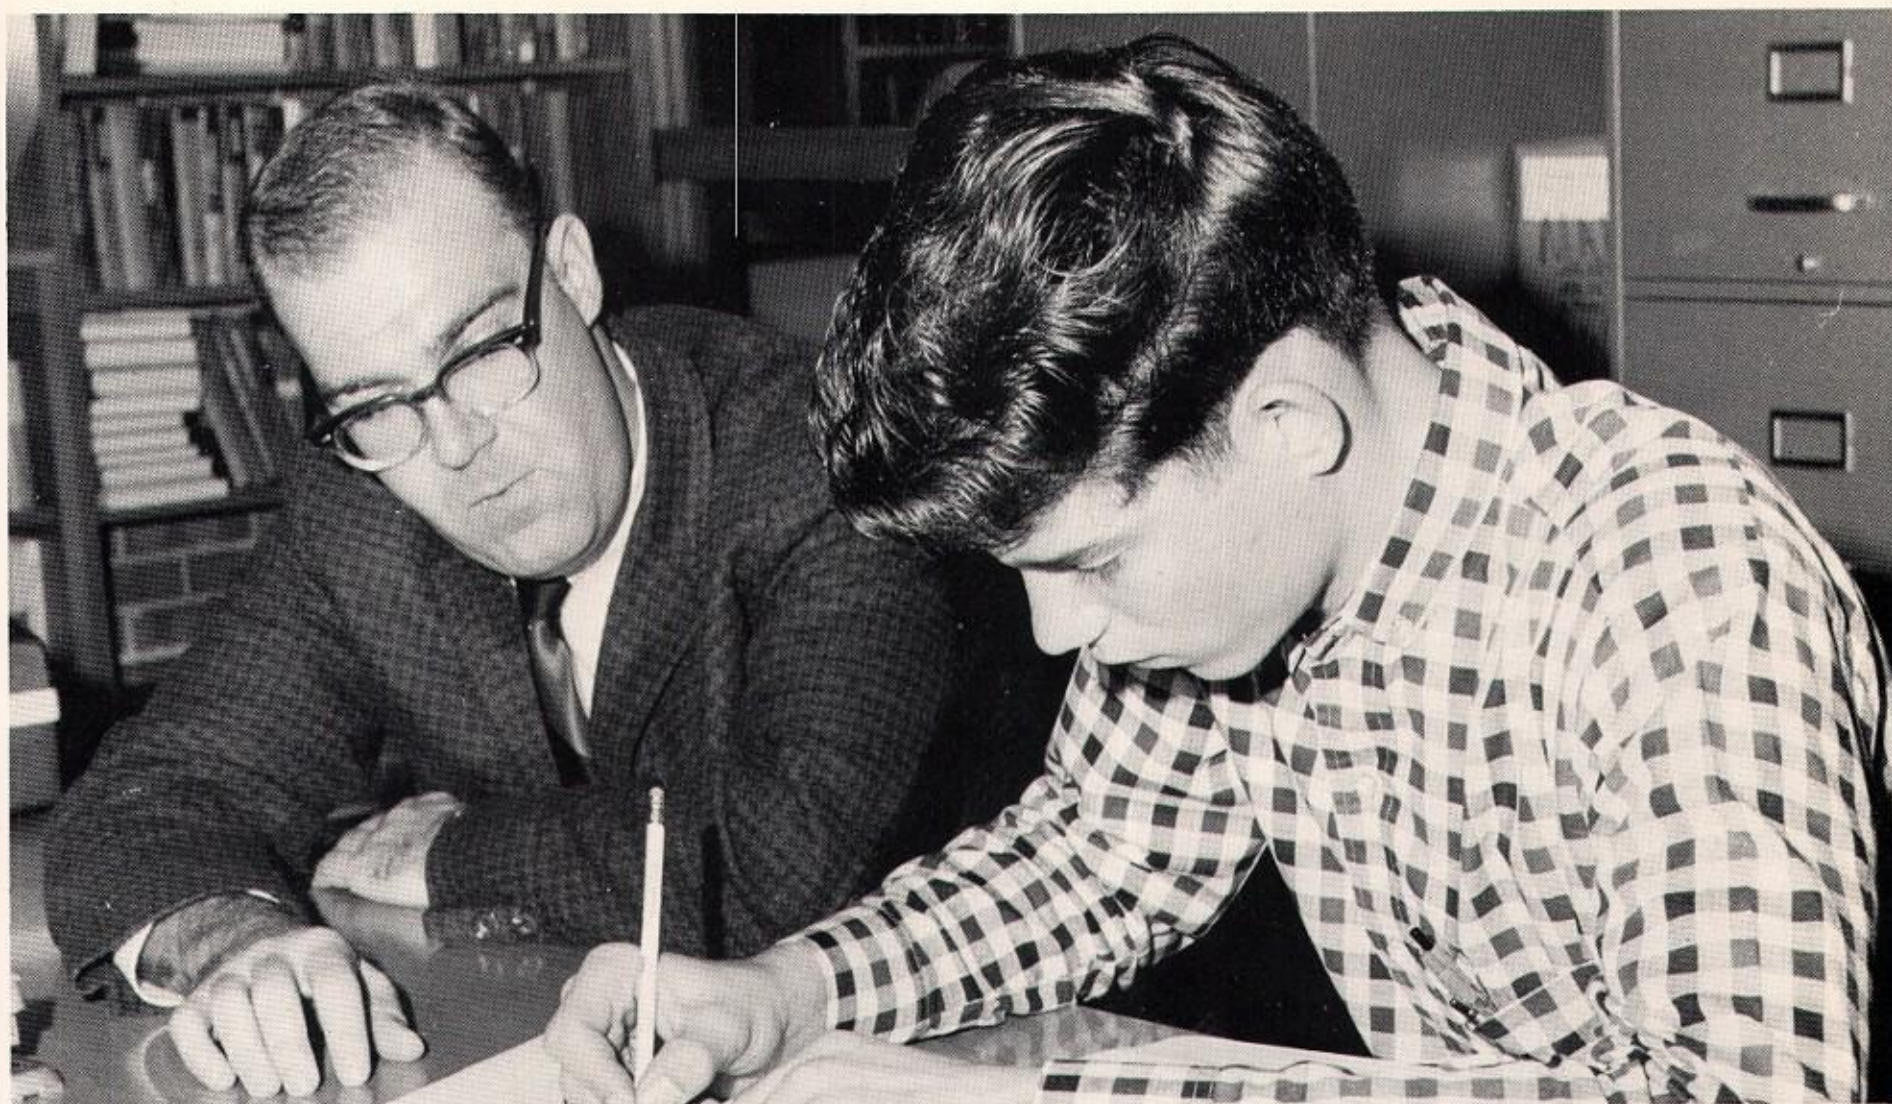

West students gained knowledge of the international language of mathematics through the math department. Participants in the math program furthered their education in general mathematics as well as in the highly technical courses of college algebra and analytical geometry. Miss Fisher, department head, supervised math training which offered students a basis for scientific achievements as well as an insight into possible fields of higher study.

Work in special projects was made possible through the math center. Reference and research books, as well as geometric building materials, activated imaginative thinking in creating pictures of abstract ideas. These resources gave students an opportunity for creativity and the means to support their originality with their own projects. Comprehension in depth of the mathematical language was imparted to West students through the math department.

Languages Revealed Foreign Culture and Customs

Foreign languages became the stepping stones to the knowledge of present and modern nations. Students studying foreign languages not only learned the language of a particular nation, but also they were familiarized with the customs and culture of the nation.

Cicero's orations and speeches became realistic for Latin students when they actually performed exciting scenes from their studies. Slides and films also helped the Latin student to visualize life in ancient Rome more vividly. French students became acquainted with the customs and cultures of France as well as the history of its political and social reforms.

Knowledge of Spain and Germany was introduced to the classroom in the form of audio-visual and audio-lingual aids. By the use of the language laboratory, students devoted time to the skill of speaking as well as hearing their respective languages.

Social Science Offered Course Variety to Students

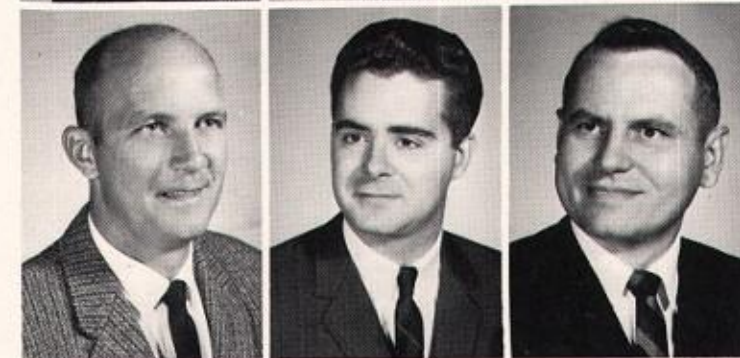

Mr. Settles lends some helpful support to Mike Levin, a student in distress.

Social sciences prepared students for future citizenship responsibilities. American government and problems of democracy gave students an insight into the traditions and processes of our government. Participants in economics classes received a knowledge of business influences on the citizenry of a nation. World affairs inspected various struggles for world power, such as the rivalry between the free and Communist spheres.

Social studies and U.S. History offered a comprehensive review of the American governmental structure on the local, state, and national levels. Studies of constitutions and voting procedures and requirements created an awareness of the disciplines and privileges of citizenship. World History introduced seminar study. Students examined specific problem areas as they traced the history of civilization and formulated their own conclusions about fallacies and virtues of political and social policies.

Art and Home Economics Expanded Frontiers of Creativity

Jeanne Williamson painstakingly discovers the patience required for sewing.

Art and home economics expanded the frontiers of creativity. Art students used media ranging from crayola to oils to express themselves in abstract or realistic terms.

Sewing explored worlds of corduroy and silk as pupils fashioned and made projects. Students in cooking culminated their study with a faculty luncheon.

John Konc assembles a project based on just paper.

Business Education Opened the Door to Future Careers

Judy Baron finds the speed and accuracy of a calculator a great help in building bookkeeping skill.

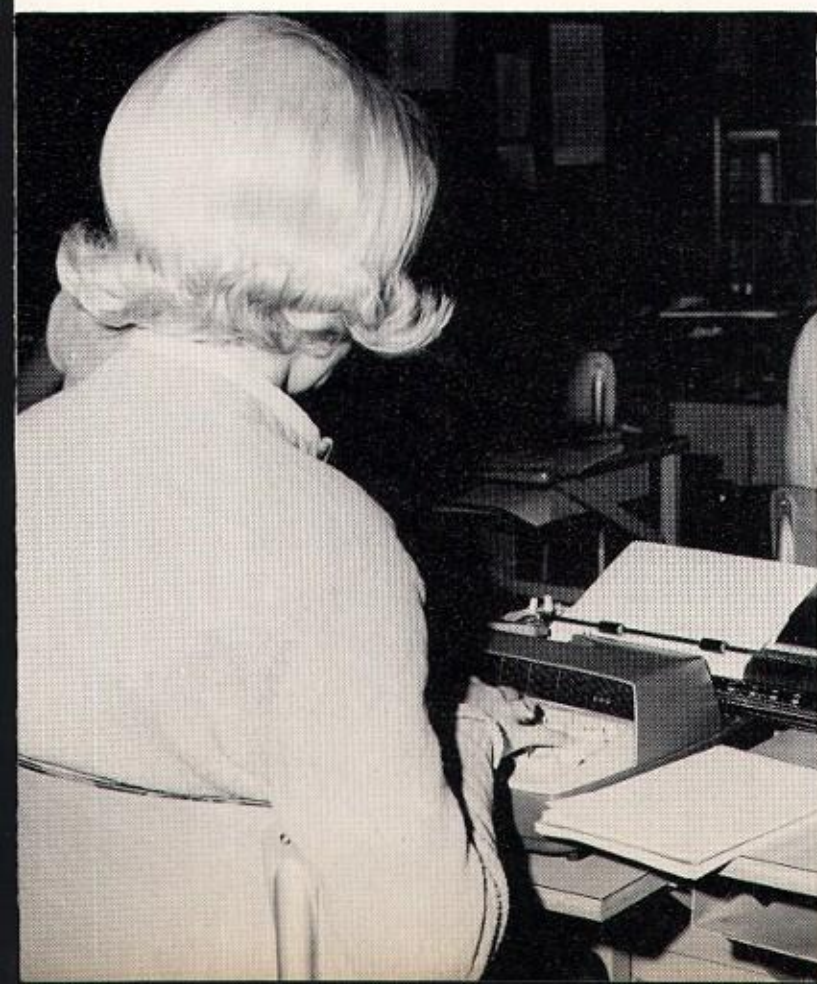

Business education provided an open door to many careers in the business world. Future secretaries, clerks, and stenographers received training in their chosen fields by taking typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. Students interested in office mechanics learned on West's office machinery. Both main typing rooms were busy every period of the day, pointing out the importance of this department, headed by Mr. Jamnik.

Students planning on careers in unrelated fields also found business courses such as typing and shorthand helpful in taking classroom notes or working on term papers.

West's IBM typewriters offered students training for the automated world they will face after graduation.

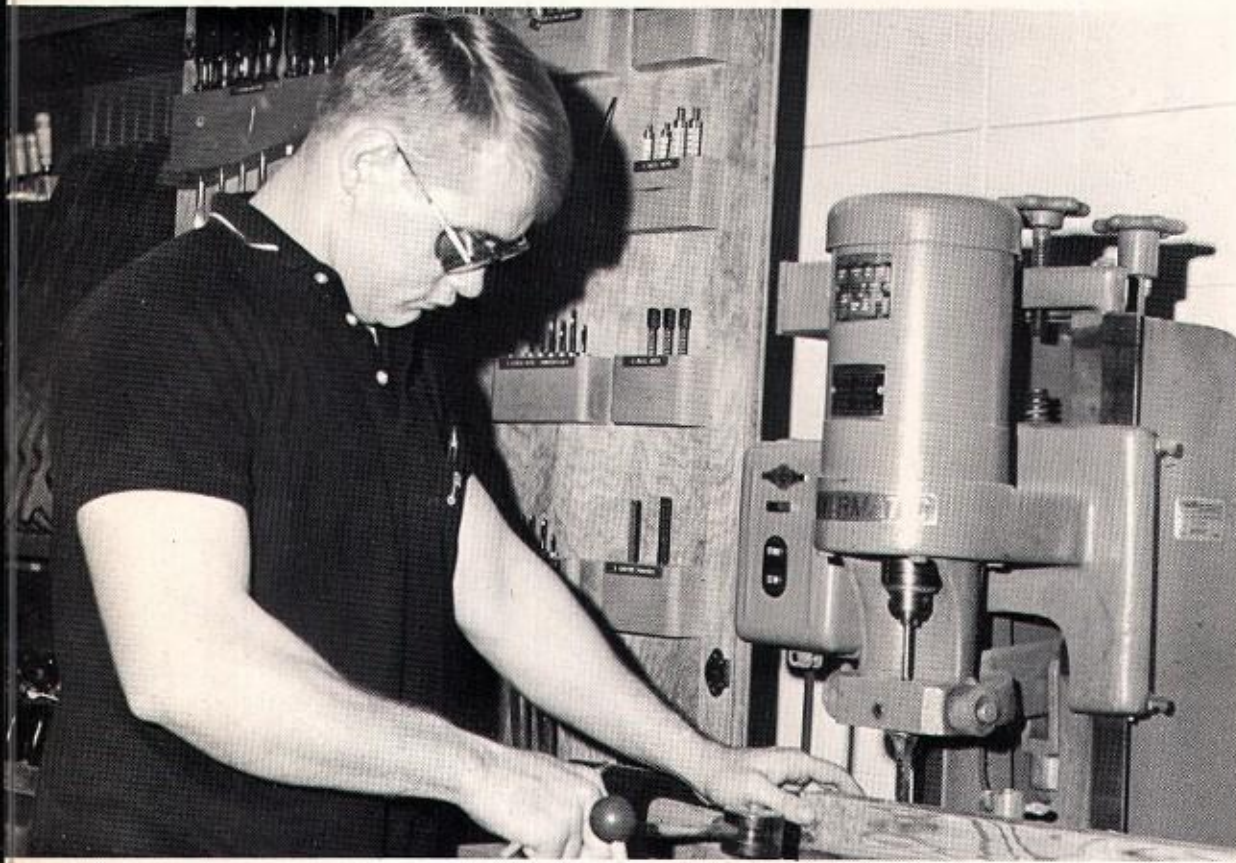

Ruth Wille transfers shorthand to the printed page.

Industrial Arts Students Acquired Technical Training

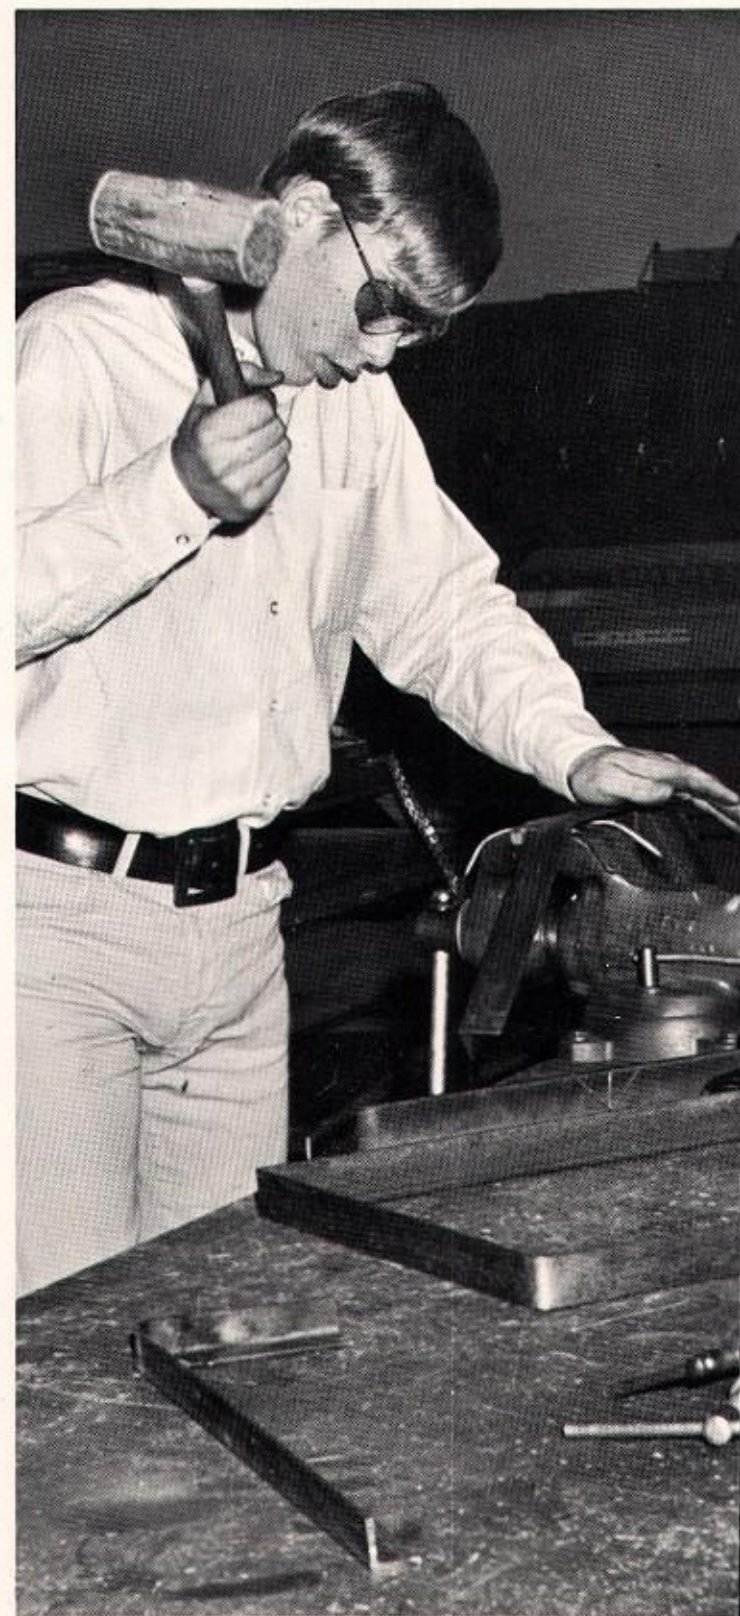

Jim Ward moves wood into position before using the drill.

Industrial arts offered students technical skills so demanded in the complicated world of today. Under the leadership of Mr. Kichefski, the department emphasized precision and manual dexterity as the guidelines for future vocations. New innovations, such as drafting machines, replacing T-squares and drawing boards, gave students a greater awareness of the growing importance of automation.

Boys in auto shop worked on car repairs, thus gaining practice in solving actual mechanical problems. Graphic arts students put their knowledge to work by printing the school newspaper. Agriculture department taught the theories and techniques of using natural resources as a preparation for the production class of future generations.

Music Offered Students Opportunity for Artistic Expression

A Cappella Choir harmonizes under the direction of Mr. Johnson.

Students at West were offered an opportunity for cultural growth through the musical organizations. Band, orchestra, and the choral groups challenged participating students to develop their artistic abilities through music.

Other groups, such as Madrigals and Stage Band, offered interested students training in additional forms of musical expression.

Mr. Labella, department chairman, Mr. Katterjohn, and Mr. Johnson provided the necessary experience for accomplishing this musical training.

Library Was Focus for Academic Achievement

Dave Nelson and Paula Lorey discover communication is important in study hall.

Located in the hub of the school, the library was the focus for academic achievement. Whether working on English term papers or history seminars, students expanded their nucleus of classroom knowledge through the library's resources. Records, tape recorders, and filmstrips comprised just part of the teaching devices available to both students and teachers.

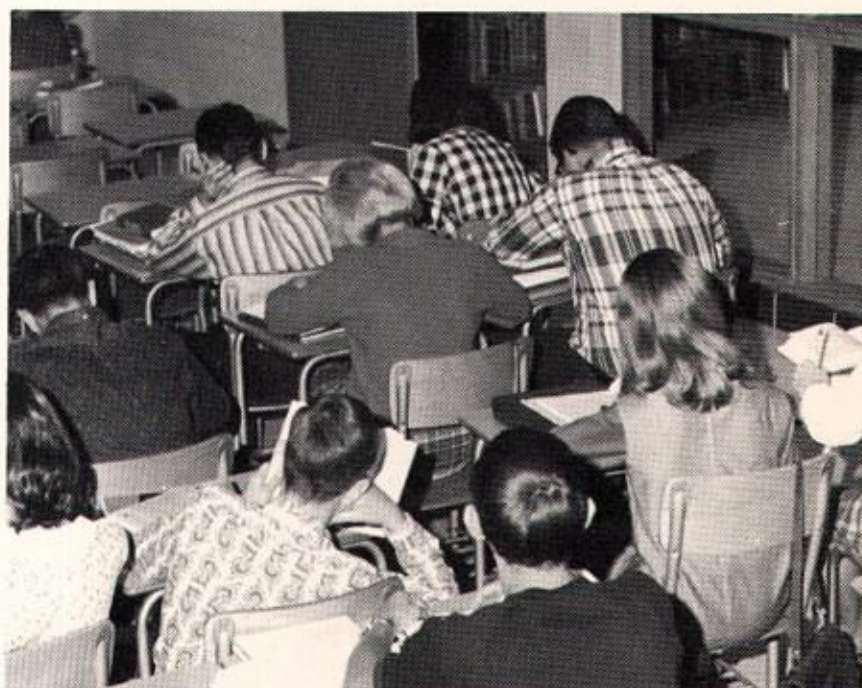

Conference rooms, study carrels, and study halls made it possible for extra studying or for group work.

Physical Education Balanced Dexterity, Sportsmanship

Apprehension mounts as the ball soars toward the basket.

Leaping in the air saves the rebound for the home team.

Physical education strived for a balance between physical dexterity and sportsmanship. Gym classes taught students the value of a physically developed body, which complemented the academic achievements of a strong mind in building a well-developed person.

Variety of individual activities provided a chance for the cultivation of specific skills. Group sports gave students a coordination of physical proficiency and the qualities of working together in harmony and courtesy. Girls gained grace and poise through courses of basic movement and modern dance. Safety consciousness was imparted to all gym students by means of the required first aid course.

Boys choosing to join R.O.T.C. also learned the controls of working together under specific commands.

Private secretaries coordinated inter-departmental supplies and mimeographed material for student and faculty use within that department. Office secretaries handled absences, scheduled conferences, and, in the main office, kept books and presided over the switchboard.

Providing nutritious and well-balanced meals for twenty-two hundred students was the daily responsibility of the cafeteria staff. Maintenance crewmen kept classrooms clean and nightly put the school in order for the resumption of activity the following morning.

Senior Class Officers

Elected after a rigorous campaign, highlighted by a student filled Volkswagen and colorful balloons, president Mark Furlane led the senior class in organizing activities.

Ready to govern class affairs in Mark's absence was Nancy Mullen (right), vice-president of the senior class. Funds for class activities were responsibly accounted for by Jane Fricke, treasurer. Not pictured: Cheryl Palmer, secretary.

Seniors participated in everything from car washes to hayrack rides under the supervision of Mary Ann Wharton, girls' social chairman, and Chuck Morrow, boys' social chairman.

Market places such as this, bustling with activity, were familiar sights for Steve. This market was only blocks away from Steve's home.

Steve Goes to Chile

On March 2, 1966, Steve Converse left for a year that was to bring him unforgettable experiences and long lasting friendships. After a series of AFS interviews, Steve was chosen to represent the United States and Joliet West in Chillan, Chile.

Steve attended the Seminary of Chillan where he studied twelve courses. Steve felt school was more difficult in Chile. Class participation was at a minimum; lectures were often lengthy.

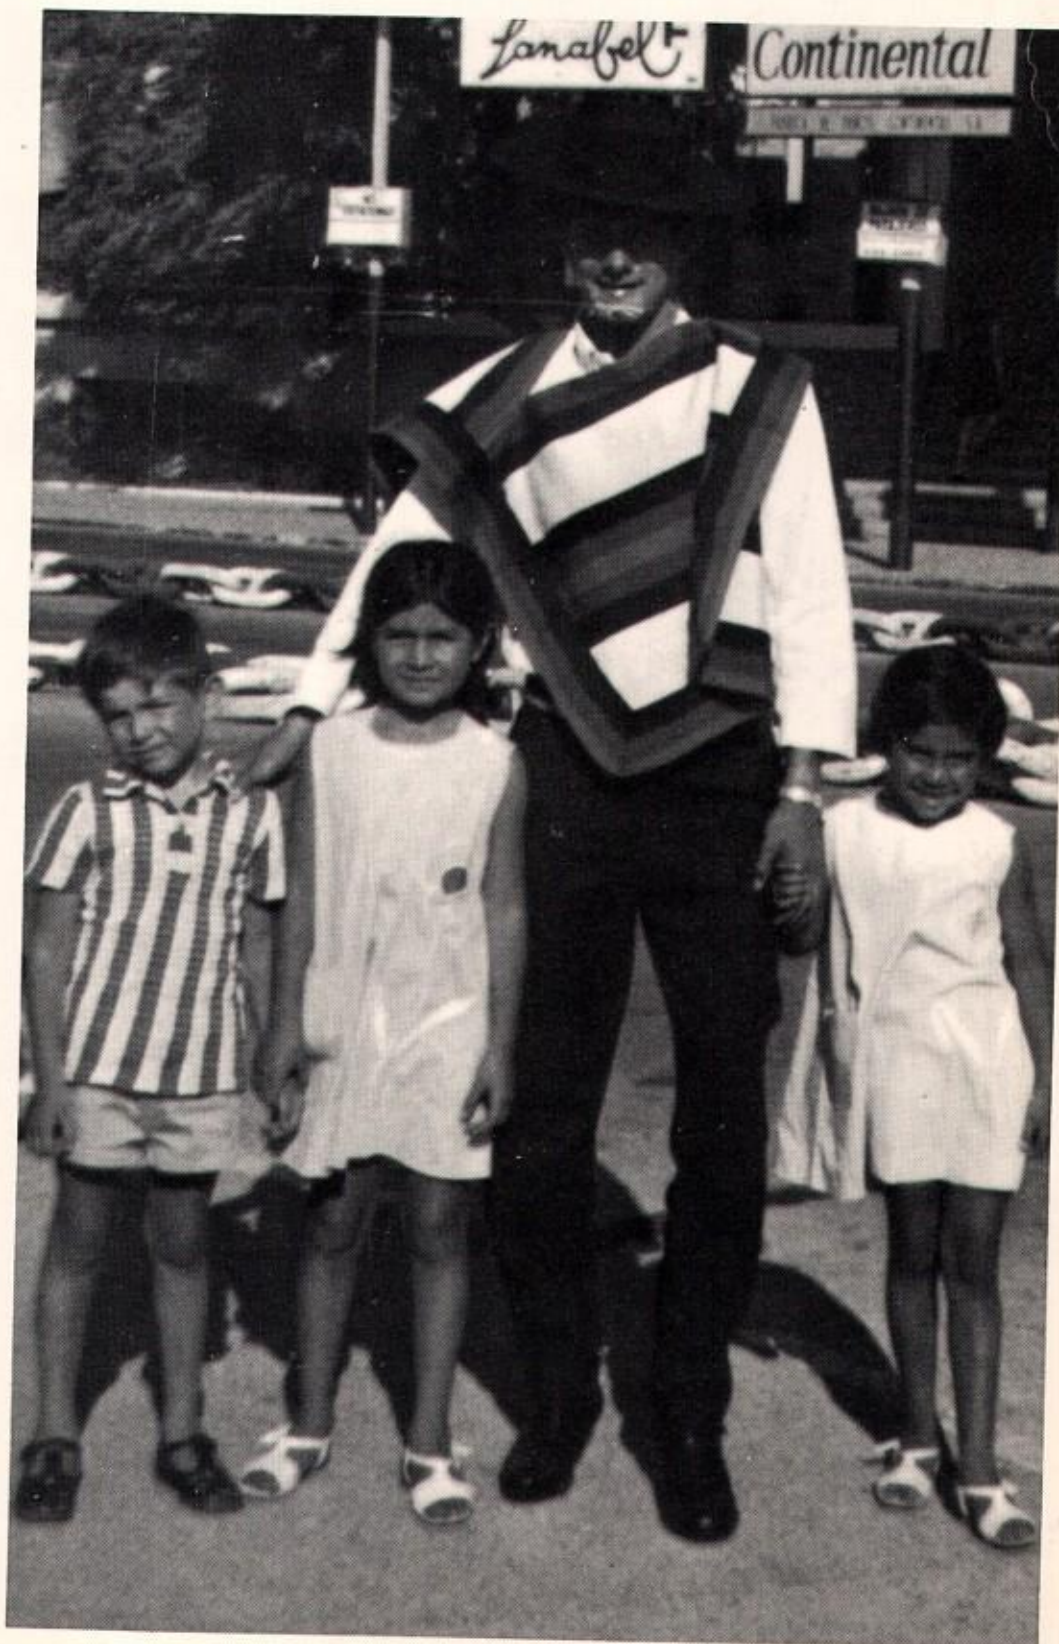

Chilean teens were the same, however, for fun and parties were much a part of Steve's life.

Family life was more formal for Steve, but he became very attached to his family and his "home away from home."

Steve made many friends during his year in Chile. At the town plaza, Steve poses with his two best friends.

On his last day in South America, Steve waits at Santiago airport with his little sisters and brother to say some last good-byes.

Seniors Set Fine Examples

During the past four years, there have been students who, through various efforts, have merited recognition.

Dave Humphreys, editor-in-chief of the yearbook, was also a member of NHS. Dave was treasurer of A Cappella Choir and a Madrigal.

West's outstanding basketball player, John Geist, added NHS to his list of contributions.

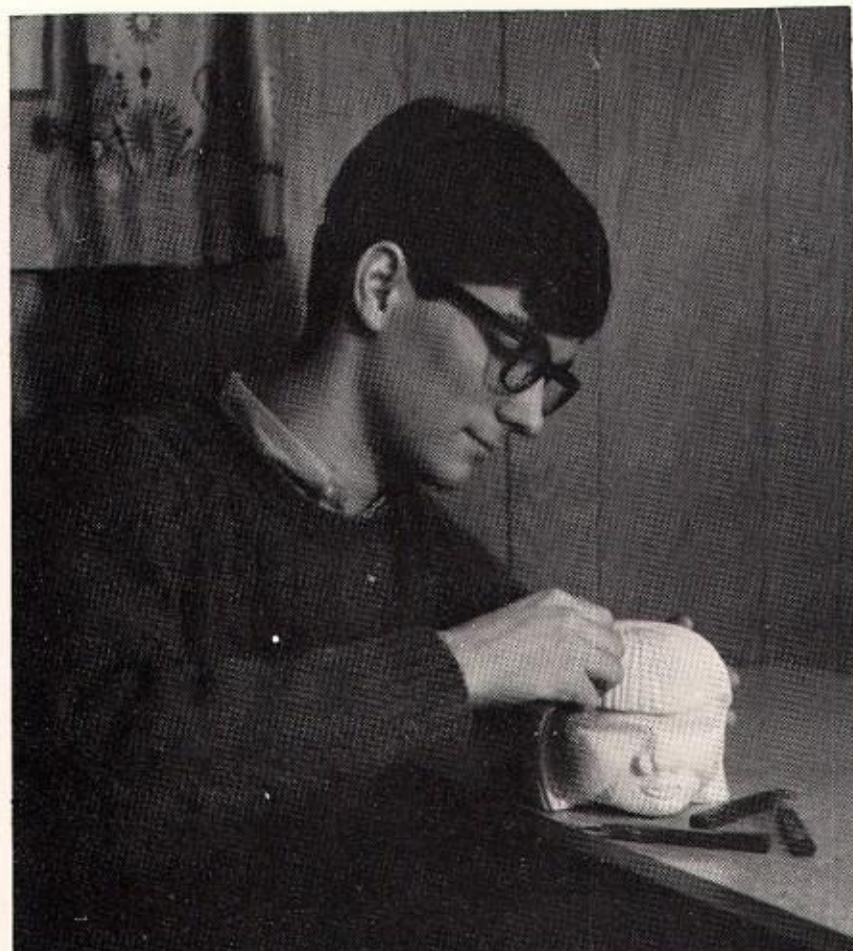

President of A Cappella Choir, Madrigals, and leading roles in speech presentations as well as operettas were among Dave Miller's activities at West.

AFS exchange student, Steve Converse, has also appeared in several plays at West. Steve was a member of West's winning cross country and track teams.

GAA president, Eileen Farrell, was junior class girls' social chairman and a member of NHS.

Mark Pederson, president of Student Council, also appeared in several school plays.

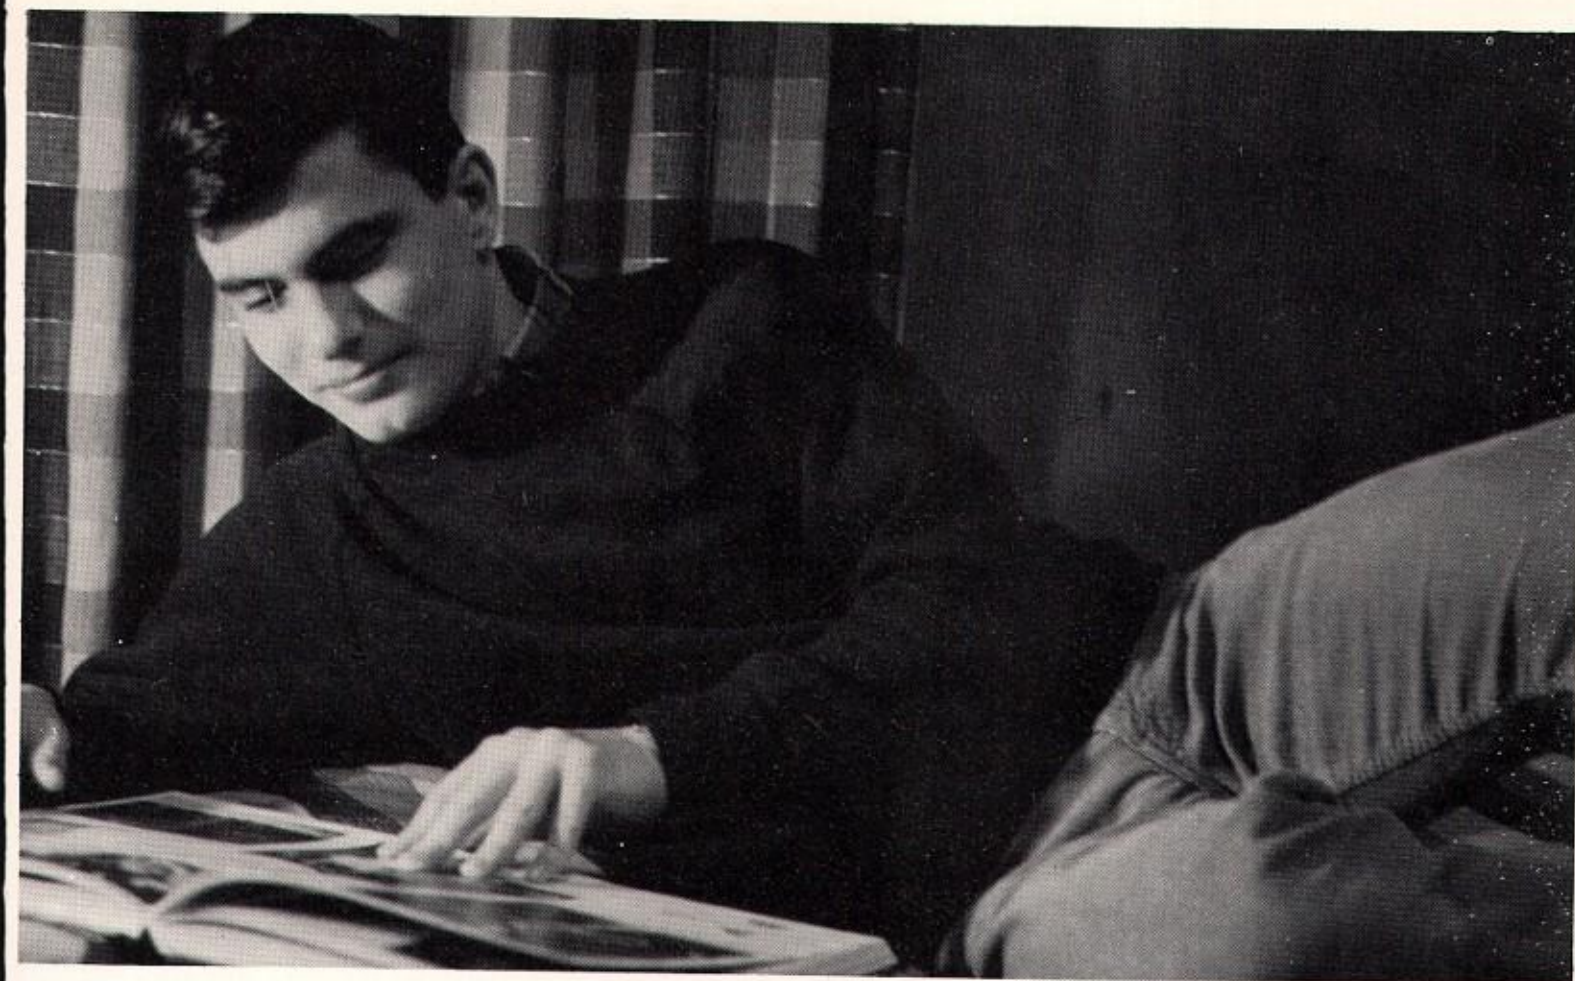

Ready with her skates, Eileen leaves for an evening out with some friends.

Along with his Student Council work, Mark also has been interested in art. Here, he adds finishing touches to a sculpture.

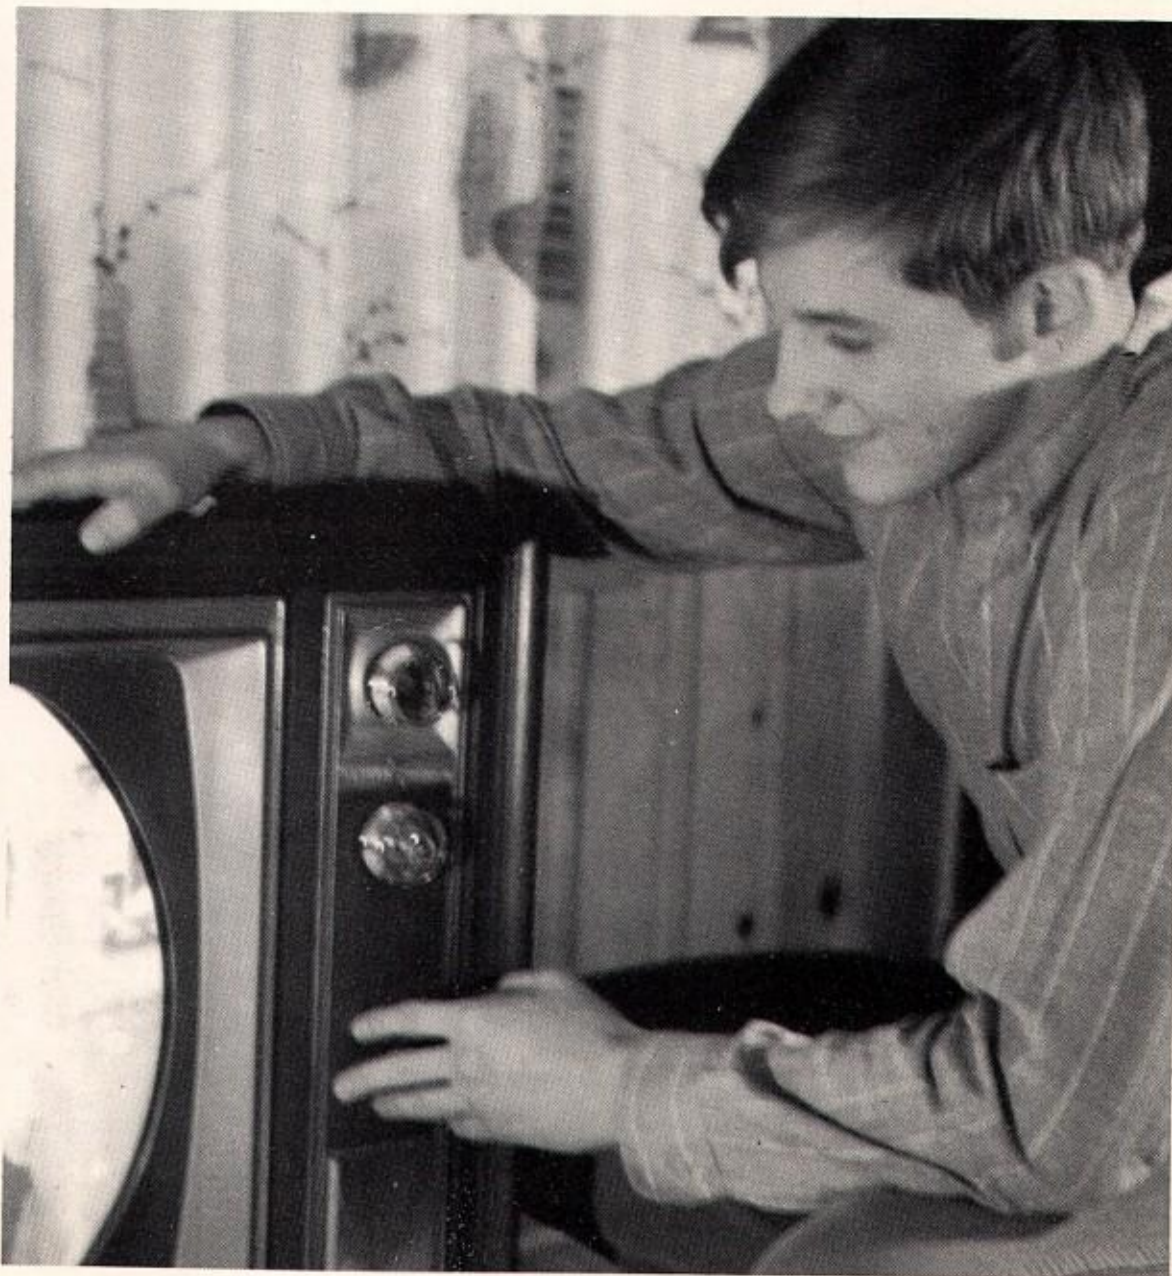

Steve points out to Dave some Chilean techniques of guitar playing Looking through past yearbooks often gives Dave ideas for West's Alpha Omega.

When he's not playing basketball, which isn't too often, John takes time out to watch television.

Yearbook deadlines being met, Barb relaxes and listens to some of her favorite records.

Being president of an organization such as NHS requires much time and planning by phone for Scott.

Before a game, Diane takes a minute to fix the letter on her cheerleading sweater.

With music being a favorite interest, Gail keeps in tune at home as well as in school.

Outstanding Seniors Represent Ideal Qualities of Youth

Chosen on the basis of academic achievement, leadership, and participation in school activities, these twelve seniors represent three per cent of the Class of 1967.

Gail Honiotes, elected secretary of A Cappella Choir and Treble Choir, was also a member of Madrigals and Student Council. She appeared in the operetta, West Side Story. Gail was also first runner up in the Miss Alpha Omega contest.

Athlete Chuck McLurkin was a great asset to West's football and track teams. Chuck was also a part of the upper quarter for all four years.

Mark Furlane's list of achievements included senior class president, a member of NHS, and a valuable part of West's football and wrestling teams.

Cheerleading, vice president of Student Council, NHS, Lettermen's Sweetheart, freshman court attendant, and second runner up in the Miss Alpha Omega contest are listed as Diane Heinlen's many contributions.

Scott Baskin, an active member in speech presentations, was elected president of NHS.

Barb Myers, a cheerleader for three years, was a member of the yearbook staff and A Cappella Choir for two years. Barb, a member of NHS, was elected Miss Alpha Omega for 1966-67.

Mark and Chuck reminisce over past Tiger football games, of which they were both very much a part.

Joliet West Kiwanis West Award winners included Nancy Meyer, Pat Kosmerl, and Dave Humphreys.

Scholars Receive Awards

Students maintaining the highest scholastic average of each class, plus fine character and citizenship merited the Kiwanis West award. One boy and girl from each class were selected for this honor.

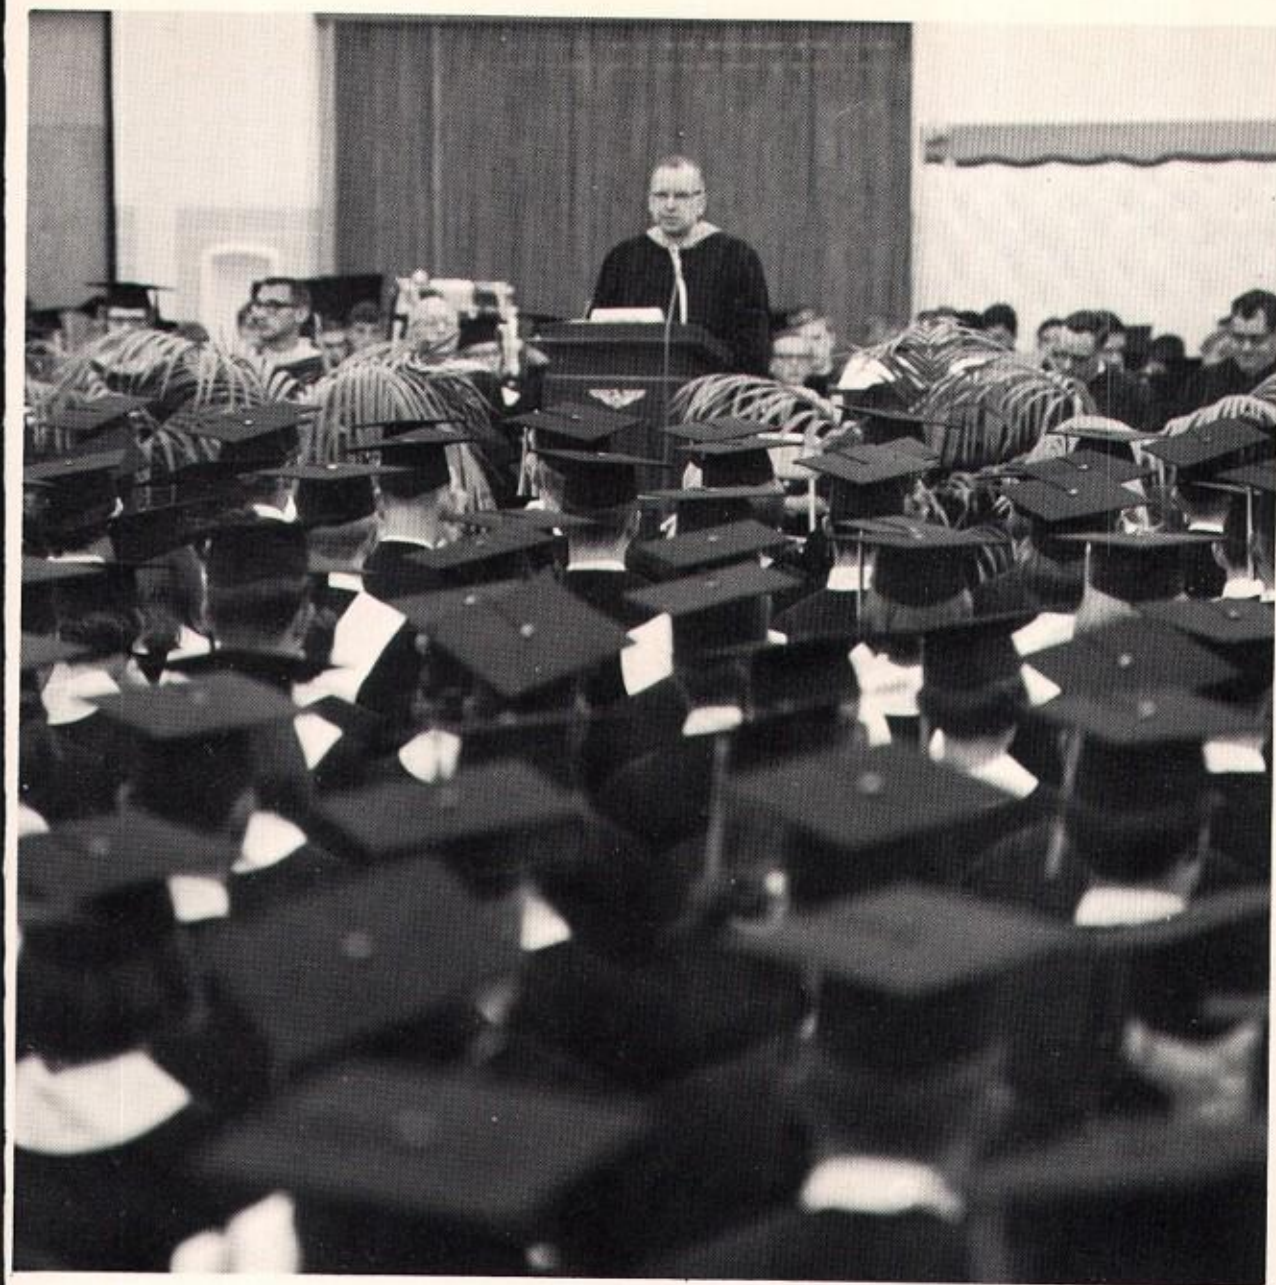

Graduates who scored favorably on the National Merit Scholarship test received Certificates of Commendation. One senior from West, Mike Jamieson, was chosen as a semi-finalist for this highly coveted scholarship.

Mike Jamieson (left) received the Kiwanis West award as a junior and also was a National Merit semi-finalist. Pat Shuler received the Kiwanis West award as a freshman and was awarded a Certificate of Commendation.

Other graduates who received Certificates of Commendation from the National Merit test included Anita Venzara, Judy Smith, Suzanne Ross, and Lee Letcher. Not pictured: Joyce Bristow.

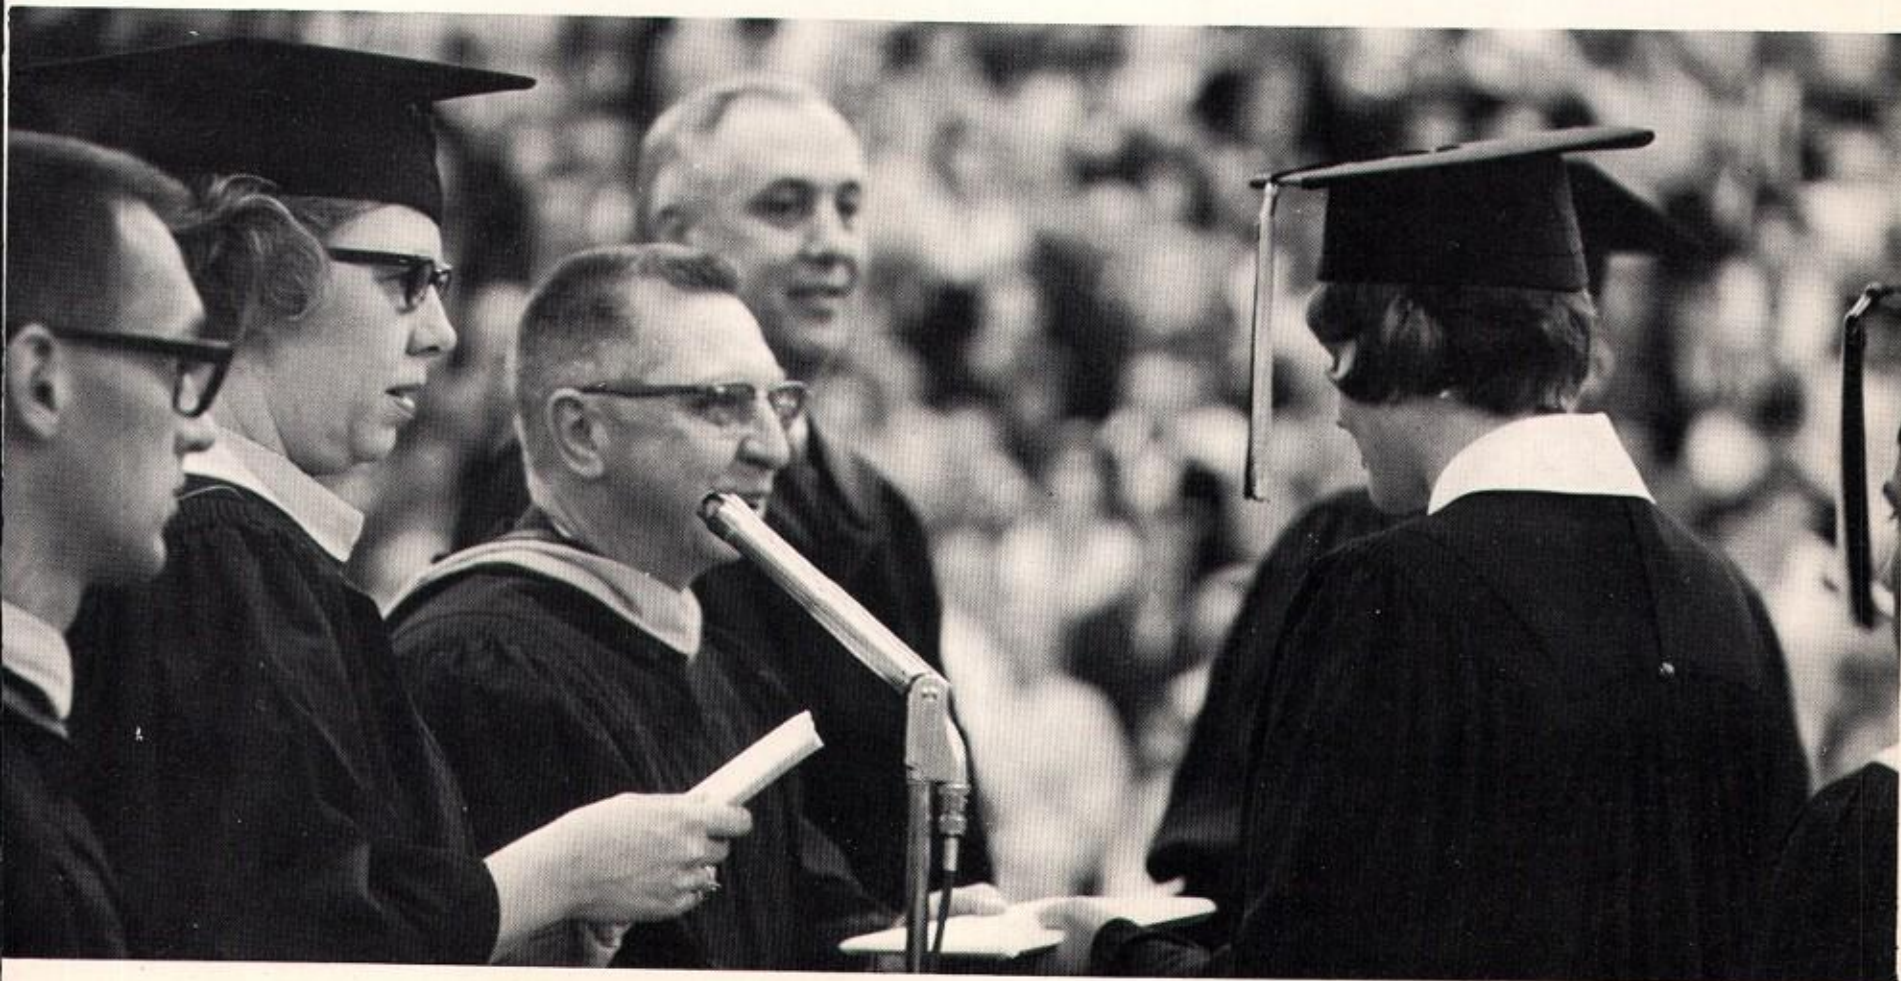

Peering over a sea of caps and tassels, Mr. Stallman, West's principal, makes a final address to the graduates.

Waiting to receive her diploma, a senior silently relives past highschool experiences.

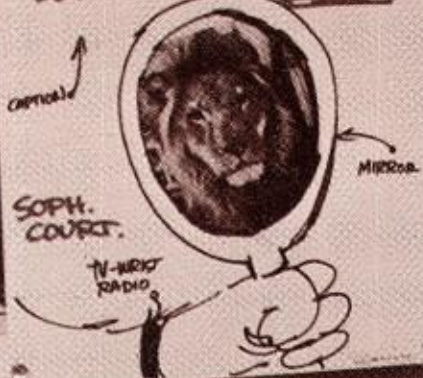

Finally, the most important part of commencement exercises arrives. School administrators proudly present to the graduates the long awaited diplomas.

Entering a new and challenging environment, high school freshmen found themselves face to face with uncertainty and confusion. Some seniors realized the freshmen's disadvantage and offered a helping hand while other seniors jokingly added to the confusion of these students. Steve Koivula, Dale Smith, Larry Pederson, and Joe Fondriest, typical senior boys, help to bewilder Dave Rothlisberger, one of West's newcomers.

West's academic program provided opportunity for all students. Courses in science and shop as well as many other fields challenged students for individual achievement. Library facilities aided preparation of term papers and review for final exams. Terrariums added new life to the school scene.

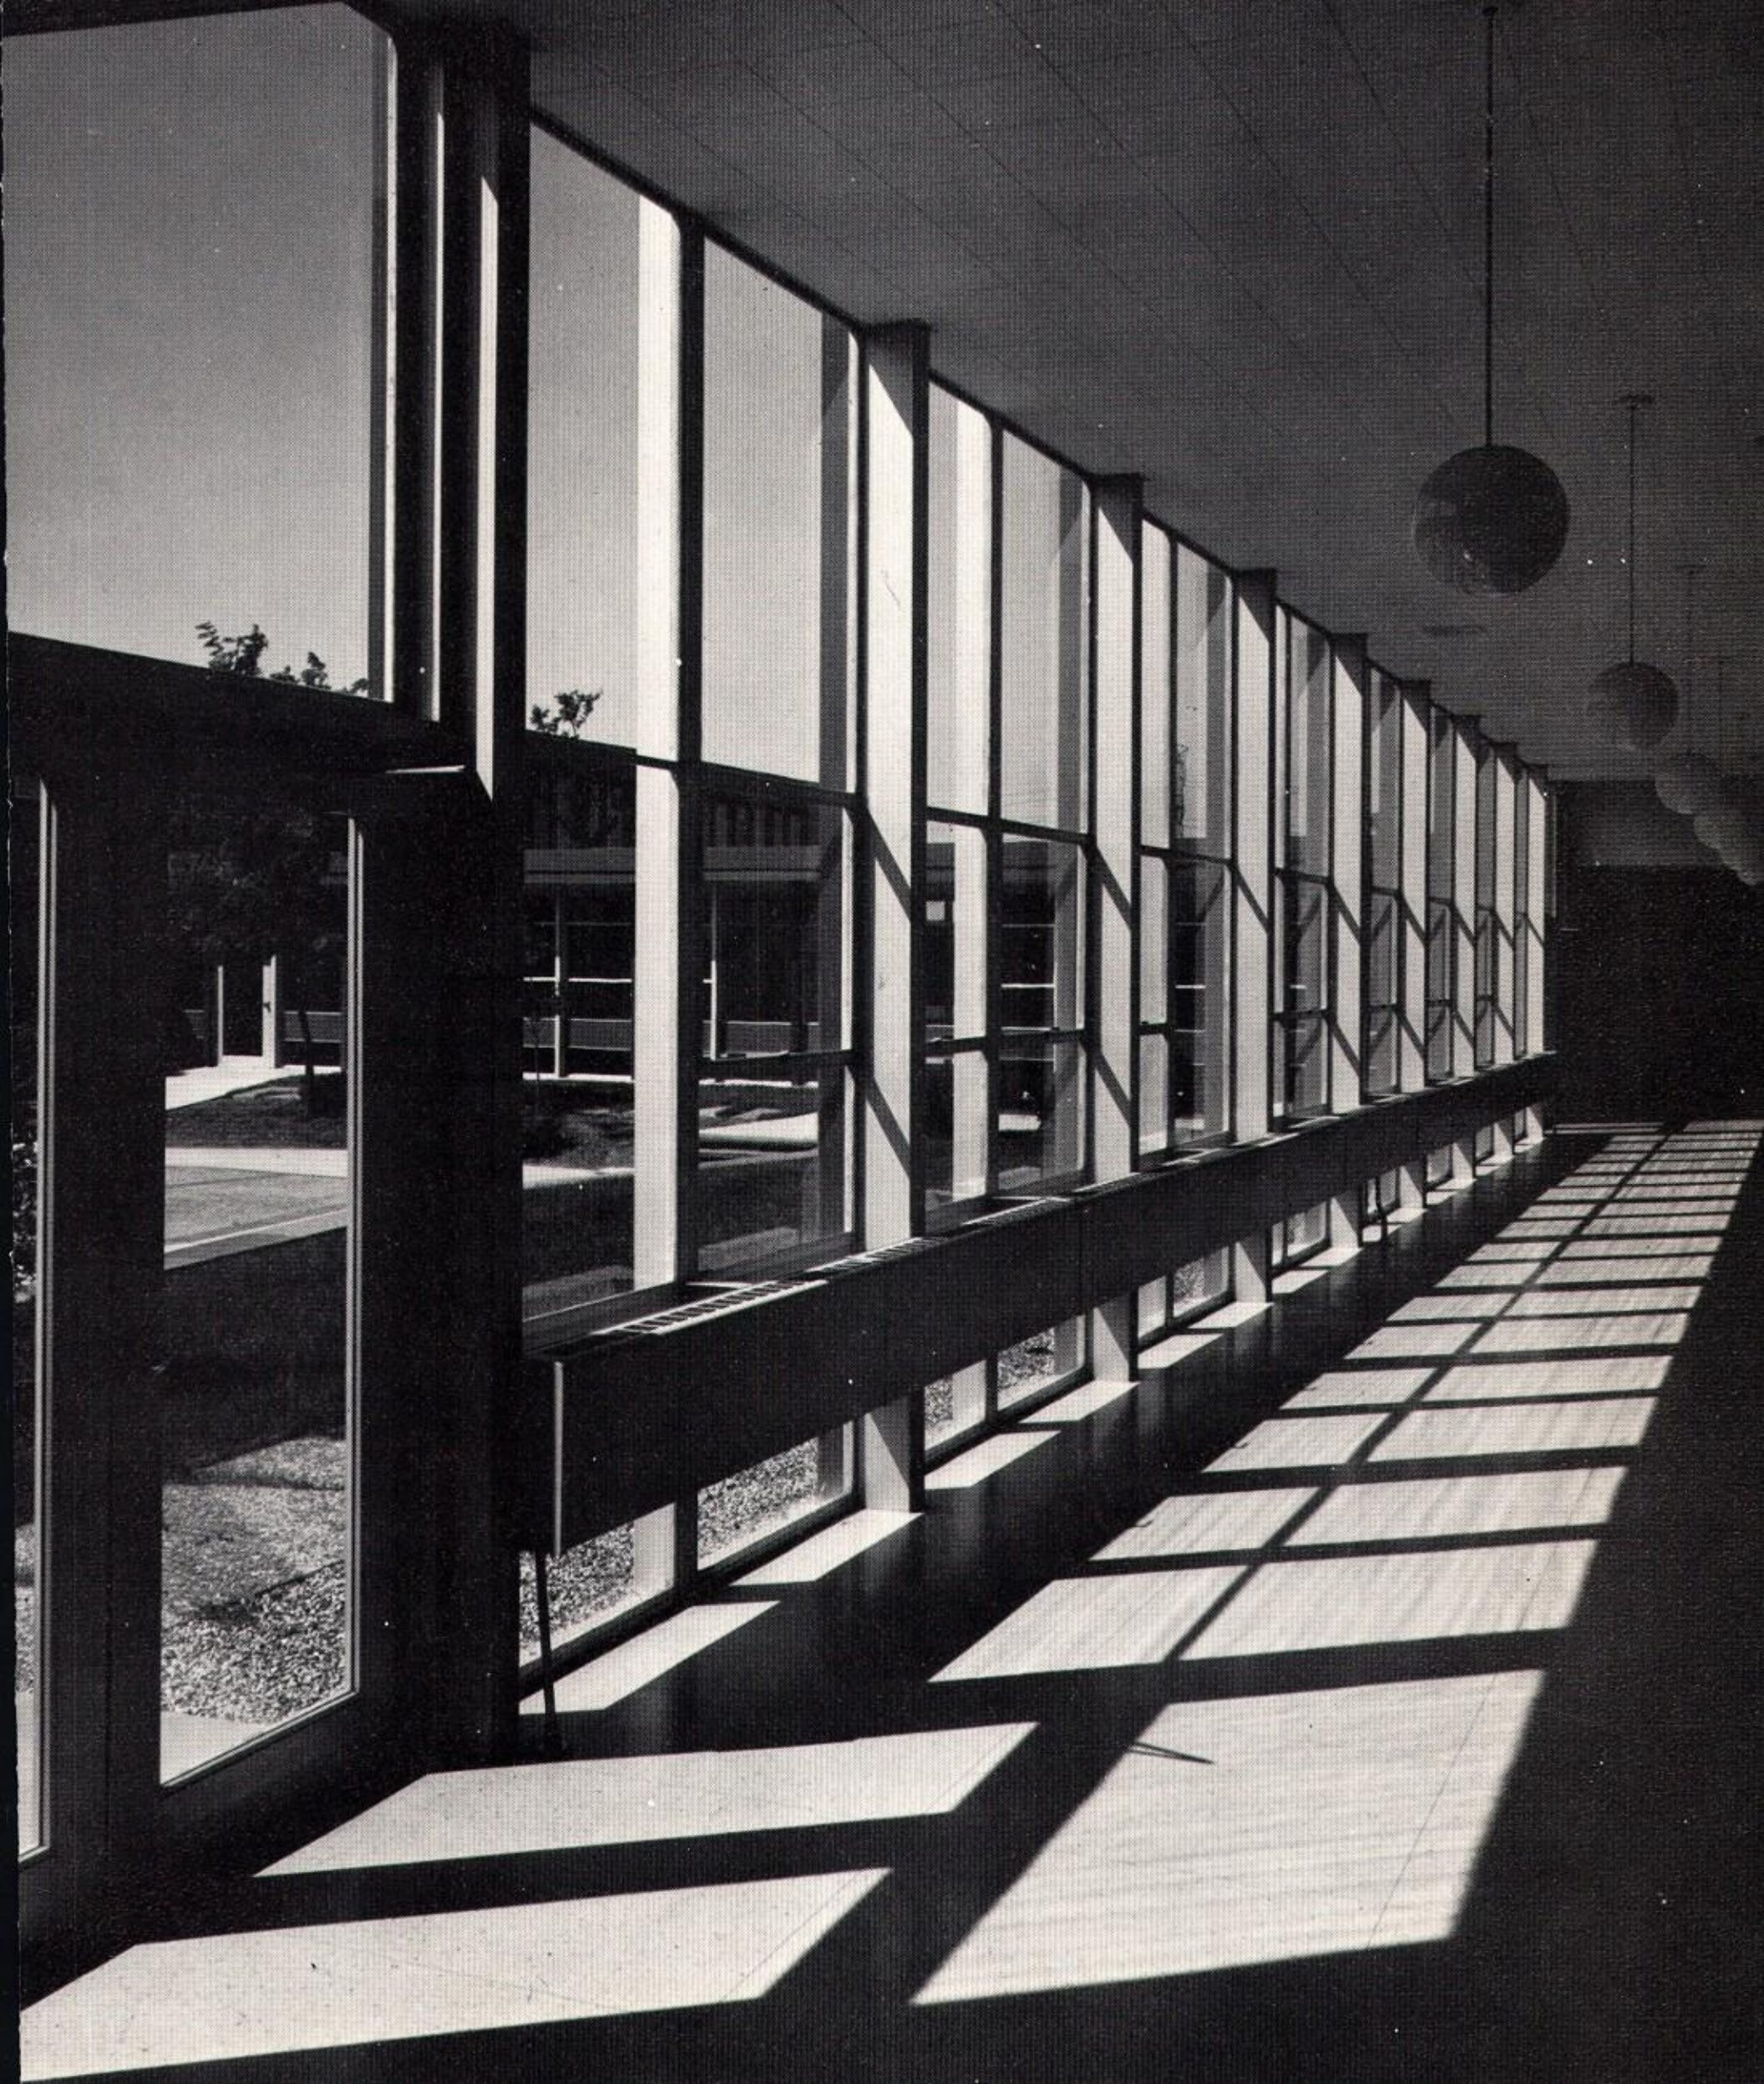

Extracurricular activities completed student life at school. Music and drama at West represented the field of fine arts. Productions of Cyrano de Bergerac, The Diary of Anne Frank, and West Side Story were presented after many hours of rehearsal. Enthusiasm abounded during the homecoming assemblies. Athletes and cheerleaders did their part during competition as spectators anxiously yelled for the Tigers.

As graduation and vacation approached, students anticipated the end of school. This was the last walk in West's corridors and the last lunch at West for the seniors. Then halls, void of students, stood silently in shadows and summer sunlight.

Chuck
It been nice
Having your help in your class. I had are better than me luck at the track this summer and in College
Mike Bender

Chuck,
To a great scholar and football general rest of luck in future And have a Iowa woman
hot Iowa beer alone.

Bill
Odenthal

Chuck,
we had grand time going one on one in football. It was great playing together on the football team. Have fun this summer and watch out for the 32. Good luck at Central Iowa. It would have been fun if I was going. Good luck you need it with your brain. Jim Stoges

Church,
So were finally
getting out of this hole.
It's really been a great through
Football Whistling and Track
Good Luck in Iowa
Wt. B

Chuck
too bad you aren't as smart as me, but you did all right on Health — Good Luck
wherever you'll go
after this hole.
Frank Leck

[illegible]

Chuck,

Even at William & Mary
I'll never forget our homeroom
& your reading the announcements.
You a fine lad Chuck, and I wish you the best of luck at whatever you do.

Lee '67

Dear Chuck -

It's been great being in Hop's office with you this semester. You're the nicest football player I know. Good luck next year at Peleja^(sp?) - & come see me cause it isn't far from Des Moines. Thanks for all the help in Chem - I couldn't have made it without you.
I hope we see each other after graduation.
Best of everything -
Jan Hamilton

Charlie:

Speaking of feminine boys - oops sorry about that. It has been quite interesting in ye-olde science-office this semester. We probably won't see each other after grad
so Goodbye, & good luck

auf Wiedersehen,

Steve K. King
P.S. Had, yer guess

Chuck a just announcement
Reader. I've been to these post being with you
Dear, Remember & love
Best of luck
Long Barret, Jr.

Chere Charles,
never forget the fun we've had these past 2 years
in the French & Health.
Best of luck always - especially in college - to a real nice guy & best friend.

Love,
Annie
P.S. How's your father?
